

The office workers who help Mrs. Martha Hunter with general office work are (seated, left to right) Mickey Pickett, Mrs. Hunter, Theresa Freeman, Ann Wrenn; (standing) Sarah Warren, Evelyn Dermates, Merle Cates, Ruth Knight, Gene Calhoun, Betty Jo Benfield, Rita Bumgarner, Elaine Darnell, Barbara Braxton, and Martha Walker.

... 'BOUT THE YOUTH HOUSE ...

"Gee, I've been waiting thirty five minutes already!" Sound familiar? Yes, we all know that was the only too typical and woeful cry of damsel of the Youth Center waiting on her date to take him to the Spinster's Hop, an annual Youth Center affair.

To those who didn't go, we say you really missed the best time in the years of the Youth Center (well one of the best anyway). The girls asked for the dates, made corsages, picked up their dates (this included waiting at least fifteen minutes, opening doors for them,

Faculty Personalities

By Merle Cates

Interviewing Miss Dorothy Scott was indeed a pleasant experience.

Miss Scott, former faculty member here at G. H. S., returned this spring semester to continue her teaching of typing and shorthand. During her absence from G. H. S., Miss Scott held the office of assistant treasurer of the "Southern Convention of Congregational Christian Churches," at Elon College.

The young, petite and thoroughly charming Miss Scott graduated from G. H. S. several years ago and graduated from W. C. U. N. C. also. She was head of the commercial Dept. here at G. H. S. from 1945-1948.

When asked to characterize the average G. H. S.'er, Miss Scott thought a minute and said, "I think the G. H. S. students are tops. I especially think the girls are most attractive and I like the short hair lengths." Miss Scott herself has the new hair style.

At the end of our interview Miss Scott added that she was looking forward to this spring semester with great expectation.

Incidentally, she is the sister of Joan Scott, member of our Senior class.

taking their coats and paying all expenses for the night). Great break for the boys don't you think?

Dot Wulff's date, Bob Murray, even went so far as to have Dot carry him piggy back down the stairs.

A typical corsage left behind by some male was very nice (for a rabbit, that is). It was a conglomeration of radishes, cranberries, lettuce leaves and something orange. Some corsages were even composed of cigarettes. It's a cinch they weren't left behind.

The dance also climaxed a day of voting for the 1950-1951 Youth Council members. They are as follows: President, Bob Murray, Vice-President, Jack Ogburn, Secretary, Martha Vann Link, Joe Freeman, and Councilmen, Anne Wrenn, Lane McGregor, Clint Legette, Sally Boron, Bob Stewart, and Mickey Chamblee.

So far the only Youth Center Dance planned for the near future is the "Sweetheart Ball," sponsored by the Junior Woman's Club for February 14. But of course we are all looking forward to the Vaughn Monroe dance to be held at the Sport's Arena February 17. Youth Center members will be admitted for $1.50, a saving of $1.00. A personal interview with Vaughn Monroe is being planned for the Youth Center during his appearance in Greensboro.

That's all for now but remember the weekly Youth Center program to be in charge of the G. W. I. club. See you there.

Class Work Begun By GHS Dramatists

The two new classes in Dramatics find themselves facing a busy semester. The outline of work shows that the forty-six members will not only be "acting out" dramas, but they must learn make-up, scenery painting, and to act as electricians. However, before they may put any of these things to use, they must learn the use of the voice and learn to breathe and to walk correctly.

The classes started with a story telling hour, featuring stories for children, including "Little Red Riding Hood" and "Three Little Pigs." Also coming into their own for dramatic effort were Edgar Allen Poe's short stories, creating an atmosphere of horrors in Room 307!

Tate Cleaners

Cleaning At Its Best

Call for and deliver

871 S. Elm St. Phone 3-0458

FRESH MEATS and GROCERIES

Burke's Grocery

1304 Battleground Ave.

AA Steaks
Fresh Fruits

Come in and choose from our large selections

Phone 3-4129

THE OTHER SIDE of the DESK

By Miss Mildred C. Herring, Librarian

EDITOR'S NOTE: If High Life is to mirror Life at Senior High, it must reflect ALL Life—both student and faculty. We present, therefore, another in a series of articles by members of the faculty.

Many people wonder what librarians do—you may be in that group—and some days I, too, wonder when I try to think back over what I have done. There really are very few dull minutes in high school libraries; however, some phases of the work are more interesting than others. Frankly, I detest any job that takes me away from helping those girls and boys who want to read. I love books, and I honestly feel sorry for that large group that does not like to read anything. "Time killers" and "page turners" often make me wish I were engaged in any type of work other than being a high school librarian.

"Term paper time" is here again, and soon the eight sections of Senior English classes will be wearing those worried expressions—that is, some of them will. Believe it or not, there have been seniors who attended Senior High School who said they really enjoyed writing their term papers. After you have settled on your subject, seniors, the task is not half bad. I can truthfully say that I do not mind helping seniors in locating information for their term papers. Each year I actually feel that I know the seniors better after we have worked together. They see the librarian in a different light—not as someone who tries to keep them from wasting their time, but as a person who is interested in helping them with one of the biggest tasks of the senior year. Many students express their appreciation for assistance given to them; others take it as a matter of course, but librarians have one trait that is usually attributed to elephants—they never forget the kind words of appreciation.

Another interesting part of my work which I would not miss for anything is my contacts with the student library staff. These girls and boys are very fine to work with, and they render an invaluable service in the library. When graduation time comes around, I find myself wondering if others can be found to replace those who are graduating. Every fall new library as-istants are found, and I get attached to the new group just as I did to their predecessors. This proves conclusively that the supply of fine girls and boys never runs out. When this is no longer true, I wish to sever my connections with high school libraries, for then there will be no incentive to keep on working.

Browne Announces New Scholarships

Miss Lucille Browne, Diversified Occupations coordinator, has announced that there are many of the university and college scholarship applications which are nearing deadlines to be mailed. The deadline for some has passed, but there are many whose time limit has not expired. There are several good scholarships available, Miss Browne stated.

Miss Browne also has information concerning loans and self-help at the colleges. Also, catalogues and other information is available through her office. She said that if she has no information on scholarships from a student's college choice, she will be happy to get this information for him.

New Scholarships Listed

The following colleges have recently sent scholarship information to the school. (This list does not include any previously mentioned in homeroom bulletins or published in High Life): Lehigh University, Greensboro College, Westminster College, University of North Carolina, Shenandoah College and Conservatory of Music, Wesleyan College, and Colgate University.

Kester Furniture Co.

for Quality Furniture

313 South Greene St.

Opposite Carolina Theater

Phone 3-4573

GREENSBORO Drug Company

C. M. FORDHAM - DEWEY FARRELL

230 W. Market Dial 6147

The Lotus Restaurant

105 South Greene Street GREENSBORO, N. C.

Chinese and American Dishes

Orders to Carry Out

MASSEY'S FROZEN CUSTARD

SEVERAL DIFFERENT FLAVORS

418 North Eugene Street

RAINCOATS

Water-Repelled

Fordham's CLEANERS

1900 Spring Garden St.

Phone 3-7588

BEN WOODS RESTAURANT

The Home of Delicious STEAKS

208 Commerce Place

Schiffman's

LEADING JEWELERS

EST. 1893