

Senior Has Eight New Teachers

New Teachers To Assume Duties in Various Subjects

The students and faculty of GHS welcome the new teachers. These instructors are Mr. Martin, shop; Miss Matthews, typing; Mr. Glenn, assistant football coach and history; Mrs. Reynolds, history; Mrs. Haskins, home economics; and Mrs. Randolph, Bible. To help the students get acquainted with their new teachers, here is a brief sketch of each one.

Martin Graduate of N. C. State

Mr. Martin, our new shop instructor, hails from Hampton, Va. He went to N. C. State College at Raleigh, where he majored in Industrial Education and acquired a B.S. degree. He also was an apprentice for the sheet metal trade at Newport News, Va. During the war Mr. Martin served two years on an aircraft carrier.

Miss Matthews, who is teaching typing in Room 27, is originally from Pilot Mountain. She went to Woman's College here and majored in Business Education. She later taught commercial subjects in Mt. Airy for three years. Miss Matthews obtained her master's degree in June at the University of Tennessee. She majored in Business Education and did part-time teaching there.

Glenn Veteran of World War II

The assistant football coach, Mr. Lody Glenn, is also teaching history. He went to Elon College for two years and to Guilford College for three years. During the war, he served overseas as a lieutenant in the Marines. He obtained his master's degree at Carolina. Lody was classified as an instructor at Chapel Hill and served

Faculty Meetings Listed for Year

There will be four professional meetings during the 1951-52 school year for the Greensboro Public Schools faculty. The first meeting, Tuesday, September 4, held at Central School, was an organizational one.

Three additional meetings will occur October 1, 1951, at Brooks School; January 7, 1951, at Irving Park School; and March 10, 1952, at Gillespie School. Topics for discussion will be announced at a later date.

Other meetings offer opportunities for professional growth, such as those directed by department heads. Specific plans will be laid later.

On October 9, 1951, High Point will be host to the North Carolina Education Association Northwestern District. However, dates and place of the state meeting have not been disclosed.

D.O. Class Officers Chosen

The annual election of D.O. (trades) class officers was held last week for the second and third period classes. Officers for the second period class are: president, Larry Russell; vice-president, Gladys Varner; secretary and treasurer, Jean Barriks. The third period officers are: president, Tharon Brady; vice-president, J. D. Phillips; secretary and treasurer, Joanne Stephenson.

as coach at Aycock and Lindley Junior High Schools.

Mrs. Reynolds, now teaching history here at G. H. S., is originally from Oxford, N. C. She went to East Carolina College where she majored in history and math. She later did some teaching at Rocky Mount and Roanoke Rapids. Mrs. Reynolds enjoys Greensboro and Senior High School very much and says she can hardly wait for the football games to start.

Pierce Native of Greensboro

Mrs. Pierce, the new teacher in Room 1, is teaching biology. She went to Greensboro College where she majored in science and math. She is originally from Greensboro but has been away for the past four years teaching in Macon, Ga., and Carrboro.

Miss Harrill, the pretty young teacher in Room 25, came to us from Bostic, N. C. She went to Queens College in Charlotte, where she took a commercial course and did her practice teaching. She taught two years in Belmont, N. C., and did secretarial work in a church in Charlotte. Miss Harrill says G. H. S. is a grand school and she is certainly enjoying her work with both students and faculty.

Haskins From Salisbury

Mrs. Haskins, teaching Home Economics at G. H. S. this year, is from Spruce Pine, N. C. She went to W. C. U. N. C. and majored in Home Economics. Mrs. Haskins came here about a month ago from Salisbury where she taught at Boyden High School.

Mrs. Randolph came here from Concord, N. C., about a year ago. She studied at Blue Mountain College in Mississippi, and at the Baptist Seminary in Louisville, Ky., where she majored in English and religious education. She has taught in Concord and Bluefield, W. Va., and was the director of Christian Education at Grace Methodist Church here. Many of the students remember Mrs. Randolph from her talk here on "Boy-Girl" relationships at the Social Standards Day Activities last year. Mrs. Randolph's husband, who served in the Army during the war, was killed in the Battle of the Bulge.
