Student Council Works Require Varied Talents

What important event is eagerly anticipated by all incoming sophomores? What annual spring affair is greeted enthusiastically by all G. H. S. students? What vital school organization is run solely by the students themselves? Why, the Student Council and its exciting elections, of course! The most colorful student activity during the school year is the thrilling convention with waving banners, blaring brass bands, earnest speeches, and humorous campaign surprises. All ambitious sophomores hopefully await the campaign results after running in the sophomore election held very shortly after they begin their high school careers. The Greensboro High School Student Council, composed of less than 30 members, is such an important organization here at our school that it affects every individual student. Why? Because it embodies the very principal that our constitution is founded on. That vital factor is representative government. Another very outstanding feature of our student council is that it gives high school age boys and girls a chance to actually participate in conventions, primaries, voting, and serving as a representative of their fellow students.

The members of the student council include president of the student body, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, squad chief, class presidents, and one representative for every 75 students from each class. There is also one faculty advisor who attends each meeting who is selected by the student council members. The council members are elected for the term of one year.

Weekly Meetings

The students meet every Tuesday at 7th period. The members arrange their schedules so that they have 7th period study and will not miss a class. The council has various committees that are assigned their respective duties. The committees for this year are the May Day, Clean-Up, Welfare, Scholarship, Social Standards' Day, and the Election committee. Every member of the council is included in one committee. The upperclassmen are the committee chairmen in most cases. The committee chairman presents a report of the week's progress at each meeting. At present the May Day committee is busily preparing for the annual spring affair. This committee is headed by Beverly Campbell who is assisted by Miss Nicholson of the faculty.

The student council sponsors many other beloved annual affairs such as the mid-term square dance, Christmas Dance, Social Standards Day, and the Spring Prom. The proceeds from the square dance are used to fill up the treasury. Such expenses as acting as host to the student council convention last fall are constantly making demands on the treasury. The student council congress was the biggest project that the council has undertaken this year. This was the first time that Greensboro had acted as host to the congress. Miss McNairy and council members agree that it was a big success.

Students Informed

The student body is kept constantly informed of the council's activities. One chapel program every semester is presented by the council. This consists of, besides the installation of currently elected officers, various committee reports. Each week a council report is prepared by the secretary to be taken to the homerooms by the council members. It is at this time that students are given the opportunity to express their opinions to the council members on a condition that they believe needs correction and other matters that the student wishes to be discussed in

High School Musicians Attend Music Festival

The North Carolina All-State High School Orchestra held its annual clinic in the new Music and Arts Building on the campus of Appalachian State Teachers College in Boone on Friday, and Saturday, February 15 and 16.

Mr. Paul Painter, director of the Music Extension of the University of Illinois and a nationally recog-

Anne Wrenn has recently been elected by the student body to reign as Queen over the May Day festivities in early May. She will be crowned by Bobby Clark, president of the student body. Story and pictures of other attendants will be found on page seven.

Students Hear Four Speakers Accentuate World Brotherhood

Assembly for Tuesday, February 19 was highlighted by a panel of men representing different faiths and belonging to the National Conference of Christians and Jews who discussed the place of brotherhood in our present day world.

The Boys Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Eula Tuttle, began the program by singing "America the Beautiful," immediately after Lane McGregor called the assembly to order. Larry Russell was soloist on one verse of the song.

Aims Listed

Lane introduced the first speaker, Mr. Harry S. Jones. Mr. Jones commented upon the purposes of Brotherhood Week and the aims of the N. C. C. J. Mr. Jones in turn introduced the Catholic representative of the group, Mr. John M. Hennessy of Louisville, Kentucky.

Mr. Hennessy began his dissertation by commenting upon the "beauties" of North Carolina. He stated that kindness was the legal tender with which we purchase our way to Heaven. He declared that the Conference was not out to evangelize, but that it had as its purpose was to show that we all can live harmoniously under the same flag.

Advice Given

The next speaker was Mr. Maurice Weinstein, an attorney and representative of the Jewish faith. Mr. Weinstein, commented that America differed from other countries in that the individual worth instead of his birth was considered. He added that the right to worship as one pleased was guaranteed here in the U. S. A. Weinstein had this bit of advice to the students: that one should not judge a group by one of its members, but that one should consider the individual character of the person and his worth.

The last speaker was Dr. Lovejoy, representing the Protestant faith. By means of several humorous examples Dr. Lovejoy got this point across: we tend to form opinions without the necessary facts. Lovejoy warned the students against being the person who shudders at the strange because he doesn't know it.

After Lovejoy's speech Mr. Routh concluded the program by making various announcements.

Robert B. House To Speak New Members Received By Quill and Scroll

Quill and Scroll, International Honor Society for high school journalists, will feature Chancellor Robert B. House of the University of North Carolina in the March 4 Assembly.

Chancellor House is reputed to be a most entertaining as well as educational speaker, and the group is highly honored to be able to present him at this time. Chancellor House was at one time a teacher here at Senior High School; and at present, he is dean of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honor society, and the Tau Kappa Alpha fraternity. He is the author of "Miss Sue and the Sheriff," as well as the editor of the Public Letters and Papers of Governor Thomas W. Beckett. Mr. House, a resident of Chapel Hill, was featured in "Who's Who in America" and "Who's Who in North Carolina."

The program will conclude with the awarding of pins to new members of the O. Henry chapter of Quill and Scroll. This is strictly an honor group and being taken into the society is the recognition given students for outstanding work in journalism. Members receiving pins are: John Butt, Betty Jane Davis, Dottie Dillard, Patsy Eways, Janet Frederick, Ann Fullton, Pat Gregg, Shay Harris, Mose Kiser, Jr., Dick Ledbetter, Martha Moore, Lois Pond, Carole Stroud, Joyce Strother, Mary Lee Wells, and Bill Whedbee.

Teacher Convalesces After Major Operation

Mrs. Grace Faver, head of the Art Department at Senior High School, is at Wesley Long Hospital recuperating from a major operation undergone on Monday, February 11.

Mrs. Faver, who is especially skilled in crafts, has also done a great deal of work in oil painting as well as in other media. She received her degree from Columbia University and also attended Texas State Teachers College. She has been teaching art at Senior High for five years and in addition to teaching in North Carolina, she has taught in Texas and Georgia. Since living in Greensboro, Mrs. Faver resided at the home of Mrs. W. C. Ashworth at 116 S. Spring Street.

After about two weeks in the hospital, Mrs. Faver plans to go with her sister to California where she will remain during the spring months.

Miss Dacia Lewis, the art teacher who was appointed to replace Mrs. Faver, resigned from her duties as of February 15 to accept a position as a civilian employee in the United States Air Corps. Her duties in this new field will take her to Guam.

The new substitute art teacher, Miss Martivonne Dehoney, is a graduate of Woman's College. She began teaching yesterday.

Corrections

In the February 8th issue there were two mistakes which High Life would like to correct. One of the mistakes was in the article about the male instructors dining at Guilford Clubhouse. The Master of Ceremonies was not Reverend Folger as stated, but the Honorable Mayor Mr. Robert Frazier.

Another error which High Life would like to correct is in the article about the resignation of Mrs. Martha Ellington. The new secretary is not Miss Joan Hansen, but Mrs. Joan Hanson.

P.T.A. Meeting Held In Senior Auditorium

On Thursday, February 21, 1952, a P.T.A. meeting was held at Greensboro Senior High School in the auditorium at 8:00 P.M. Many of the parents of students enrolled in Senior High attended the meeting.

The program began with a short business meeting. Mr. Herman Davis, President of the Parent Teachers Association, presided.

After the business meeting, an address was given by Dr. Franklin H. McNutt, professor at Woman's College of the University of North Carolina.

Following the address, a "Go to school program" was given in which the parents went to school in the place of the students. After getting the schedule of their own son or daughter, the parents went to the specified classes for ten minutes.

This P.T.A. meeting was especially beneficial for the parents in that it enabled them to become better acquainted with their child's new schedule and it also helped them to become acquainted with the teachers.
