

Queen of May To Reign Over Spring Festivities

Girls, (and any interested males) what is that elusive charm, that most of us spend all of our lives constantly seeking, which merits popularity, swooning males, and beauty crowns? Well, most of us, unfortunately, will never succeed in our quest; but there are those among us who have. Any careful questioning on our part will not wrest the secret from them, however, for they will modestly assure you that they do not possess it at all! For any persistent hopefuls the best possible sources are Anne Wrenn, our lovely May Queen, Lane McGregor, our charming Senior Attendant, Dottie Crews, the radiant Junior Attendant, and petite Becky Schweistris, the pretty Sophomore Attendant.

These Senior High beauties definitely do not fall into the category of "beauty without brains," nor do they prove the popular assertion that "beauty is only skin-deep." These four lovelies have and are contributing their talents and services in all fields.

Wrenn Wins

When Anne Wrenn reigns as our Queen of the May it will be a fitting climax to an active high school career. The brown haired miss has served on the Student Council, both as secretary of the school and council representative, is a D. D. T., received Mariner honors, is president of Torchlight, sings a lovely soprano in the choir, and has been her class maid of honor in the May Court for the past two years!

Lane McGregor, who is our popular Veep, has adorned every chapel program with her warm voice and gracious personality. The Senior Maid of Honor served in the Student Council as a representative before she was elected to the high office of vice-president. Her other numerous activities include singing in the choir, serving actively in the Mariner Scouts, and enjoying social life with the D. D. T.'s. Lanie was voted by students and faculty to be the D. A. R. representative just recently, and participated in the Girls' State. Her brunette beauty was displayed in the May Court of her sophomore and junior years also.

Dottie Crews, the "blond bombshell" of the Junior Class was the Queen's attendant in her sophomore class.

Junior Classic League Meets in High Point

On Saturday, April 26, a statewide Junior Classic League Convention is to be held in the Senior High School auditorium of High Point, N. C. from 10:00 A. M. to 5:00 P. M.

This convention is held to celebrate the conclusion of Latin Week, which is commemorated annually in honor of the founding of Rome, April 21, 753 B. C. Two delegates from each school in the state are invited to attend, including any interested Latin students. The delegation fee is $1.00. Mrs. Madin, the faculty member who teaches Latin, plans to attend the convention along with the two delegates.

Mrs. Vew Walden, the state chairman, announces that the various delegates will be asked to make a report on the activities of their Latin class. Lunch will be served to the convention attendants at noon in the school cafeteria.

Because of the extremely full schedule of Greensboro Senior High School, it is impossible for the Latin students to celebrate Latin Week any way other than by class discussions. Other schools who are able to devote more time to Latin Week have class projects, present skits, and use assembly programs for their week's activities.

The students who are planning to attend the convention from our school are as follows: Betty Brooks, Amanda McConnell, Richard Smith, Ed Fisher, Barbara Wyrick, Joyce Owen, Jean Robbins, Mary Anne Hill, Jo Anne Hobbs, Anne Vaden, Mary Ellen Kaelin, Bill Herford, Barbara Jamieson, Marilyn Newman, Frances Stafford, Barbara Massey, Nancy Jo Smith, and Kitten Barringer.

more class. Once again she was voted into the enviable position this year. Dottie, whose vivacious personality captures everybody's admiration, served as council representative during her first year at Senior. She is a member of the D. D. T.'s, and is a skillful tennis player.

Noted Newcomer

Last, but not least, is Becky Schweistris, the sophomores' choice for their honor attendant. Becky also has served on the Student Council and has recently been re-elected to serve next year. Although a comparative newcomer, her soft brown eyes and hair are fast becoming a Senior High standout. It is already evident that in her high school career she will take a place of leadership.

These four girls will be supplemented by other beauties when the great day arrives. They, too, are a credit to our G. H. S. With the promise of such a beautiful spectacle, who could possibly afford to miss our lovely May Day?

Chancellor Robert House Gives Banquet Address

Approximately 300 students, their employers, and special guests attended the Ninth Annual Bosses' Banquet Tuesday evening, April 8, at 7:30. The annual event, sponsored by the students of the part-time co-operative program, was staged in the Masonic Temple.

Highlight of the traditional affair for Diversified Occupations and Distributive Education classes was an address by Chancellor Robert B. House of the University of North Carolina. Using "Resources" as the theme of his after-dinner speech, Chancellor House emphasized the importance of the development of talents and ability.

The renowned author, editor, and educator urged both students and employers to provide a time in each day for a relaxing activity. His years of experience as an educator have led him to believe that love and enthusiasm are necessary for a happy life. The genial speaker and mouth-harpist concluded his after-dinner speech with a reminder of the need for worship of a Supreme Being.

Emcees for Evening

The entertaining program was planned and presented by students of the part-time co-operative program. Keenan Neece and Gene Frederick acted as mistress and master of ceremonies.

Louise Clark sang the invocation, "Hear Me, Lord," by Youse. After the meal was served, Joanna Smith and Betty Welborn began the theme of Springtime with a piano duet of "Easter Parade." Sarah Perkins extended greetings to the employers of D. O.-D. E. students. Representing the bosses, Mary D. Grant, Director of Libraries of the Greensboro City Schools, responded to this welcome.

In the fashionable costume of the 1920's Sylvia Shore performed the Charleston for the guests. Introductions of bosses, students, co-ordinators, and special guests representing industry, education, commerce, and civic clubs of Greensboro followed.

Spring Songsters

"Tell Me Why" was the musical question asked by Louise Clark, to the varied entertainment Larry Russell added the favorite, "On the Road to Mandalay."

Chancellor Robert B. House, main speaker at the annual affair, addressed the guests following an introduction by Martha Moore.

Guests were welcomed at the door by a hostess committee of representatives of D. O. trades, D. O. office practices, and D. E.

Boosters Honored

According to tradition the students of the part-time co-operative program, with assistance from D. O.-D. E. co-ordinators, planned the banquet. This event is designed to honor employers and other persons who lend their interest and support to the program.

Final plans were made by a student planning committee formed by the following presiding officers of D. O.-D. E. classes: Larry Russell, J. D. Phillips, Carolyn Royal, Becky Phipps, D. O. Bob Goldberg, and Jaynelle Martin Ritter, D. E.

Students of Miss Browne's, Mr. Jones', and Mrs. Hodden's classes cooperated in working out the details for the Spring event.

Senior Class Is Preparing For Trip to Washington

Annually the seniors take a trip to Washington, our nation's capital. There was some controversy this year over the question of whether or not to go, but despite the inflated prices and other difficulties, they are going. Plans have already been made to stay at the Hamilton Hotel. There will be three students assigned to each room. All arrangements have been made, and they are to leave Thursday, May 1, by bus from the Sears Roebuck parking lot at 6:00 A. M., and to return at 10:00 P. M. the following Sunday night.

The first rest stop will be in South Hill, Virginia about 9 o'clock. From there they will continue, stopping for lunch in Richmond, to Mount Vernon, the residence of George Washington. After visiting Mount Vernon they will tour the National Airport, arriving in the District around 6 o'clock that night. After dinner and entertainment, students will return to the Hamilton Hotel where they are to stay, by 12 midnight.

On Friday the seniors will visit the Bureau of Printing and Engraving, where they will see the various processes concerned in making paper currency and postage stamps. After visiting the Supreme Court they will make a tour of our nation's Capitol building. There they will see many famous paintings and statues of former presidents and celebrities. Following this they will proceed to the famed Library of Congress. In the afternoon tours will be taken through the Smithsonian Institute and the Mellon Art Gallery. After dinner the students will be given a choice of seeing the Cleveland-Washington baseball game or going to the Glen Echo Amusement Park, one of the largest recreation parks in this country. The curfew is set for midnight.

Saturday morning they will go to the Washington Monument, the Jefferson memorial, which is built in memory of Thomas Jefferson, and the Lincoln Memorial, which is built in memory of Abraham Lincoln. From there they will visit Arlington, the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, and the home of Robert E. Lee. If the "New" White House is finished and opened to the public by that time, they will go there. Then, before lunch, they will visit the National Cathedral, the largest non-denominational cathedral. At 1:30 they will have lunch and until 7:00 there will be no specific things planned, the afternoon being free. That night they will have dinner at 7:00 and will attend a movie afterwards, being back in their rooms by 12:00 o'clock.

Sunday morning, May 4, at 6:30 the buses will leave for home. Plans have been made to stop at the Endless Caverns, where they may see the stalagmite and stalactite formations in the underground caves. At 12:30 they will have lunch and will again get on the road towards home. The last two stops will be Natural Bridge and Roanoke, Virginia, putting the group in Greensboro around 10 o'clock Sunday night.

Fire Drill Is Termed Successful by 'Chief'

The fire drill held Thursday, April 3, at 10:55 A. M. was a record breaker for Greensboro Senior High School. The buildings were completely cleared of the 1,325 students in two minutes and fifteen seconds. According to Bill Jackson, fire chief, there was no running, talking, or anything to ruin the drill, except for one group of students stationed too close to the cafeteria building.

Another official fire drill is being planned for next week with five firemen observing.

In the near future the Kiwanis Club, the Central Fire Station, and the city schools are going to participate in a city wide Clean Up Campaign.

Mr. G. H. Stubbins, a member of the Central Fire Station, will act as head of the campaign, while Greensboro Senior High will be the head of all the city schools.

The object of the campaign is to check all schools and homes for hazards, such as faulty wires, oil cloths, lighted cigarettes tossed carelessly aside, and the like.
