

EXCHANGETTE

By ANNE FORDHAM

Mrs. Hoskins: "Give your definition for home, Claire."
Claire: "Home is where part of the family waits for the car until the others get through with it."

Senior: "You ought to take chloroform."
Sophomore: "Yeh, who teaches it?"

Jack: "Where did you get that black eye?"
Buddy: "I went to a dance and was struck by the beauty of the place."

Ladies, to this advice give head—in controlling men
If at first you don't succeed
Then cry, cry, and cry again.

Mary: "I wonder if Joe Le Bauer loves me?"
Ann: "Of course he does, why should he make you an exception?"

Policeman: "Didn't you hear me call you to stop?"
Joe Kurly: "I didn't know it was you, I thought it was someone I'd run over."

Little boy: "Daddy, will you give me a quarter if I tell you what the milkman said to Mother?"
Daddy: "O. K." handing him the quarter."
Little boy: "How many quarts today, mam?"

He: "What would I have to give you for a little kiss?"
She: "Chloroform."

Dickie: "What would you say if I threw you a kiss?"
Nancy: "I'd say you were the laziest boy I've ever seen."

Grey: "Do you know what the definition for a hamburger is?"
Martha: "No, what?"
Grey: "A steak that didn't pass its physical."

Distressed student: "If teacher doesn't take back what she said today, I am going to leave this place forever."

Listener: "What did she say to you?"
Distressed student: "She told me to leave this place and never come back."
—Wrong Thinker.

Bob: "I got a real kick out of kissing my girl last night."
Dick: "Any more than usual."
Bob: "Yes, her father caught me."

If love is blind
And lovers can't see
Then why in the heck
Doesn't someone love me?
—Leaksville High School News

"Mary, do you think that I should marry someone who can take a joke?"
"That's the only kind you'll get, Bill."

Policeman: "Didn't you hear me call you to stop?"
Louise: "I didn't know it was you. I thought it was someone I had run over."
—Overheard.

Library Association Meets In Salisbury

The annual convention of the North Carolina High School Library Association was held in Salisbury on April 4-5. Representing Greensboro High School were Miss Herring, Anne Button, and Martha Jordan, who is the President of the Library Club at G. H. S.

Delegates from about 55 high schools in the state were at the convention. At the Friday afternoon session, Mrs. Mary P. Douglas, supervisor of school libraries in Raleigh, was the main speaker. A banquet and dance on Friday night highlighted the convention. After a final session the convention adjourned Saturday afternoon.

Made up of student library assistants, this Association was organized in 1947. Miss Herring was one of the librarians in the state who helped in the organization. The purpose of the association is to arouse interest in the study of librarianship as a profession.
