Successful Season Ends Soon for Youth Center

With the beach trip May 9th, a mountain trip the 17th and the Junior-Senior Prom the 25th, the Greensboro Youth Center will bring to close a very successful year. As the old year comes to an end, we are beginning to think about a new year with renewed enthusiasm.

I was talking to Norman Dalton, director of the youth center the other day, and he said that big things are in store for the teenagers if they will again support the center as well as they have done in the past years. Why, he told me that due to recent funds, and (the expected 500 new memberships) there is a sufficient amount of money to have a name band during the year. This sounded just wonderful to me, but the cost had me worried. He went on to explain that there would be no additional charges involved. Just think, for a whole year of entertainment at the youth center the price is only $5.00. A name band by itself is usually $2.50 alone.

There are many other activities planned for the new year also. Among them are the rifle leagues, bowling teams, and the ping pong tournaments. It has been suggested that the girls clubs have

Stubbins Announces Clean-up Campaign

According to G. H. Stubbins, Fire Inspector of Greensboro City Schools, a city-wide clean-up week will be promoted May 4 through 11. Elimination of fire hazards will be supervised in Senior High School by Bill Jackson, student fire chief.

On May 7 a parade to publicize and promote the program will be held down town; after this event the Red Cross Chapter House will be painted by representatives of city contractors. This contest will be one of the public interest features of the week.

In cooperation with Bill Jackson, fire chief of GHS, the art department and Mrs. Dehoney will publicize the internural campaign with posters.

The Greensboro Fire Prevention Bureau, Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber of Commerce, and student patrols of all schools will be co-sponsors at the city-wide campaign. Citizens will be asked to cooperate in the destroying of fire hazards in homes, public and private schools.

their meetings at the youth center, and their dances too. I hear the G. W. I. dance at the center was a wonderful success.

Our Youth Center is given $5,000 yearly by the Community Chest. Our citizens give this

Band and Orchestra Merit High Honors

The ratings showed that both the Greensboro Senior High Orchestra and Band came out with the highest attainable rating of superior. The other superior ratings in Class VI along with Greensboro were the High Point orchestra and the Lenior and Waynesville bands.

Other ratings were as follows: Excellent (second rating) Salisbury, Charlotte, Marion, Durham, North Wilkesboro, Statesville, Asheville, Wilmington, Greenville, Appalachian, and Boone. Good (third rating) Mooresville.

The three judges, each band directors of his college and a veteran judge of such events, praised North Carolina's musical progress, saying that the performances "rank well above the average for the nation."

The Aycock Auditorium was the scene of all events except Thursday's piano judging which was heard in the Recital Hall of the Woman's College Music Building. Dr. Rudolph Ganz, composer, and president of Chicago Musical College, was the piano judge.

All the individuals and groups taking part in the contest-festival were winners in district contests held during the past month.
