

Williamson Forms New Driving Course

Mr. Williamson of the Greensboro Police Department is the driving instructor for this school term. The students are taught to drive in a new Ford, donated by Ingram Motor Co., and a new Chevrolet, donated by Traders Chevrolet Co. These cars will be alternated between Senior High and Dudley High.

There are seven classes a day in which there are four students per class; there is one class before school, five during school and one when the school day closes.

These courses last for a period of seven weeks, in which time the student should become talented enough to secure his driving permit. This class is open to those who desire it and are at least sixteen years of age. Other driving courses will be offered throughout the school year.

Wins First Place

BETTY HUTTON, lovely Paramount star, gave first place to Royal Crown Cola in her taste-test. Testing leading colas in paper cups, Betty Hutton found "R.C. tastes best!" Try it. Say "R.C. for me!" That's the quick way to get a quick-up with a frosty bottle of Royal Crown Cola—best by taste-test!

Journalists Will Attend Chapel Hill Press Meet

The Senior High School High Life Staff is planning to attend the annual North Carolina Scholastic Press Institute to be held in Chapel Hill Friday and Saturday, October 3-4.

The University School of Journalism, the University Extension Division, the Daily Tar Heel and the N. C. Department of Public Instruction are sponsoring the institute. Registration will be held October 3 from 2 until 5 o'clock in the offices of the School of Journalism, Bynum Hall. There will be a get-acquainted session in Gerrard Hall at 5 o'clock with President Gary Williams of Raleigh presiding. A reception for delegates and advisers will follow an address Friday evening.

Saturday morning and afternoon will be devoted to discussions on how to improve high school newspapers and yearbooks. Speakers are being invited from various newspapers of the state, the faculty of the school of journalism, staff members of the University daily newspaper and the yearbook, and from high school advisers and editors.

The Greensboro delegates will be lodged at the Carolina Inn. Delegates from the High Life staff include Martha Jester, Cordelia Goodnight, and Martha Moore. Others attending are Lois Duncan, Don Morrison, Don Williamson, Fred Marshall, Patsy Eways, and Marilyn Neerman.

Daily Doubles

By Joanne Gourley

This well known couple met at the beginning of school last year but didn't start dating until Christmas. They started going steady on February 1, 1952, 8 months ago. Does that ring a bell with anyone? You'll see them at Oakhurst playing miniature golf, at the Youth Center (hooray!) or the movies. She likes hotdogs, and he likes doughnuts and coffee. Their favorite song is "Wish You Were Here."

Do you know them, hmmm?

Skipper: "Carole, why do you want to be a chiropodist?"
Carole: "Oh, I have always been at the foot of my class."

Around World in 90 Days Theme of Faculty Trips

Those few short days of vacation which stretch from May to September are as important to teachers as they are to students. Proof lies in the story of teachers who spent their holidays in extraordinary fashion.

"South of the border, down Mexico way" journeyed Miss Powell, Miss Dorothy McNairy, and her sister, Miss Carolyn McNairy, principal of Irving Park School. By car they traveled approximately four weeks taking in the sights and wonders of the truly deep South.

Guadalajara, the second largest city of Mexico, was their first major stop on the itinerary. From there they motored through the mountainous desert to Mexico City, Cuernavaca, and Acapulco on the coast. However, the equatorial heat soon drove them northward over poorly constructed highways which allowed an average of 180 miles per day.

Watch Film Stars

While tarrying in an elite hotel of Mexico City the three teachers watched movie stars Shelley Winters and her husband, Arturo Guissmann, Cyd Charisse, Tony Martin, and Ricardo Montalban filming a current movie, Sombrero. Later, innocent bystanders as they were, they nevertheless were trapped in a tear gas raid when police attempted to break up a post election riot. Only the gory spectacle of a bull fight marred the trip for the souvenir collectors. Excitement and beauty are abundant in Mexico, according to the seasoned tourists.

Miss Tuttle, spent her summer at Pennsylvania State with Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians. There were representatives from choral groups and musicians from almost every state in the Union, Hawaii, and several foreign countries. Altogether there were over 300 present. They discussed new music and studied the work of professional organizations. Also present was Lara Hoggart, the choral director of the Pennsylvanians.
