Best Citizens Cited For Grade Period

Citizenship honor roll students have been chosen from the Senior, Junior, and Sophomore classes for the first six weeks grading period of the second semester.

Chosen from the Senior Class were Virginia Ann Redhead, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Redhead of 704 Dover Road; and Bill Greene, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Greene, of 309 North Fremont Drive.

Representing the Junior Class are Martha Jester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Jester, Jr., of 2202 West Market Street; and Johnny Carroll son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Carroll of Route One.

Dava Cashwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Cashwell, residents of 2601 West Market Street; and R. B. Arthur, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Arthur, of 4115 Walker Avenue, have been chosen to represent the Sophomore Class.

Near the end of each six weeks' grading period the homerooms select a boy and a girl to be considered for placement on the citizenship honor roll. From these the faculty chooses a boy and a girl to represent each class.

Trampoline Team Takes Torchlight Talent Show

With a series of high jumps, turns, twists, and flips on the trampoline, Buck Carson and Elliot Hole took first place in the annual Torchlight Talent show held Wednesday morning in the auditorium.

The twisting duo scored over ten other acts in the student competition. Tommy McDonald, accompanied by Pat Gregg, sang "Funny How I've Stopped Loving You" and "It Isn't Fair" to make off with second prize. Master of ceremonies, John Sauvajot, awarded an honorable mention to the Queen's Men, Eddie Robbins, Stewart Cass, Fritz Apple, and Stanley Wilson, for their interpretation of "There Is Nothing Like a Dame." George Bartholomew accompanied the quartet at the piano.

Eddie Simon began the student's program with a piano solo, "The Ritual Fire Dance." A tap ballet featuring Pat Helgeson dancing to the tune of "Glow Worm." She was accompanied by Mary Ann Hill. A trio of Woman's College students, not competing for prizes, offered "Three Little Maids" and "I'm Just Nineteen."

Anderson Enters First Place Plot

Lacy W. Anderson passed another milestone in his writing career. His story, "The Antidote," won first place in the state-wide short story contest conducted by the Greensboro Writers Club.

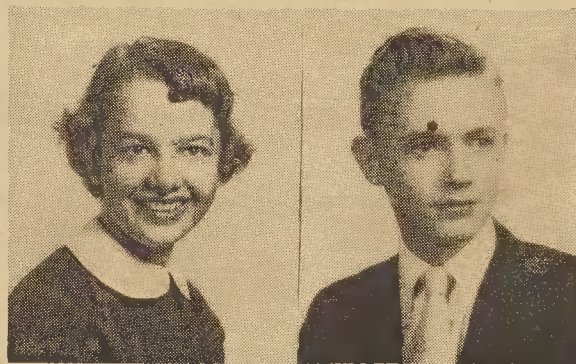

The story deals with a married couple who have no children. They work during the day and raise expensive flowers and fruits as a hobby. They live a very peaceful life until a small ruffian moves in next door. This little demon makes a joke of tearing up their flowers and taking their fruit. They try every way possible to keep him from bothering them — from threats to treats. All of these fail and the wife decides to stay home to take care of their property. The couple then decide to adopt a child. Upon arriving at an orphanage, the first persons that they see are two small boys in an all-out fight. The smaller, a scrappy, red-headed Irish lad, seems to have the best of the quarrel. When they see this, they realize that he is the answer to their problem. He will be the ideal next door.

Mr. Anderson has recently sold a feature article to the magazine, THE STATE, for publication in the near future. The story, "The Story of Daileys Lifeboat — Was It a Libel?" is the first he has sold. This article deals with a story of the seacoast with which he is familiar. It is a follow-up of an article in this month's magazine of the heroic rescue by Captain Dailey of nine shipwrecked men.

Pastors To Deliver Commencement Talks

This year's commencement evening address will be delivered on Thursday, May 28, at 8 o'clock in the Senior High School auditorium. The address will be given by the Reverend Mr. Kenneth Goodson, pastor of the First Methodist Church of High Point.

On the preceding Sunday evening, May 24, at 8 o'clock, Doctor John A. Redhead, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Greensboro, will deliver the Baccalaureate Sermon in his church.

Torchlighters Tested

The annual national high school scholarship exams for members of the National Honor Society were given to five Torchlight members Tuesday, March 24, in the conference room of the library from 8:30 to 10:30 a. m.

Joyce Lee, David Kersey, Ann Hunter, David Heinzmann, and Martha Jordan will represent this school in the national competition. At the same time Tuesday such tests will be given to students all over the United States. In the past Jim Fullton, class of '51, won honorable mention in the contest.

Other Government Posts To Be Announced Today

Climaxing two weeks of campaigning on the part of some 93 candidates and their managers, the student body will carry out its spring election of student government officers today.

Barbara Massey and Kelly Maness, the two candidates for the presidency of the student body, hold top place on the ballots today. Their names were automatically placed on the ballots in the colorful nominating convention Tuesday when home room delegates placed before the assembly names of candidates for each office.

In style similar to that of national conventions, the voting delegates put the names of Stewart Cass and Joyce Steele on the ballot for vice-president of the school. These candidates were backed by Jack King and Don Patterson, respectively.

Seek Secretaryship

The two candidates seeking the position of secretary of the school, Julie Redhead and Susan Hege, were automatically placed on the ballot; the office of treasury, sought by R. B. Arthur and Bob Grant, and the office of traffic chief, for which Pat Price and Bill Turner campaigned, will be filled today.

Class Officers

President of the Senior Class will be selected between Michael Temko and Jimmy Powell, the only candidates for this office; Ralph Bright and Alan Sharpe campaigned for these two nominees.

Those names now on the ballot for vice-president of the Senior Class are Tini Rae Chambers and Anna Huffine. For secretary of the class, Barbara Kennerly and Rose Wharton were elected at Tuesday's convention. George Cox and Jimmy Griggs contend today for the office of treasurer.

Nominees for president of the Junior Class are Jimmy Jordan, managed by Charles Rayle; and Rob Pearce, supported by Bill Mauldin. Seeking the position of vice-president are Sally Durham and Paddy Sue Wall. Running for secretary's post are Rita Boggs and Jane Cheek. Seeking the job of treasurer are Ann Henderson and Charles Woods.

Senior Representatives

Junior Representatives

NCEA Delegates Attend Meetings In Asheville

Among the more than 2,500 school officials now attending the North Carolina Education Association are Miss Mozelle Causey, Mrs. Edna Randolph, Miss Virginia Powell, Miss Lucille Brown and Mr. A. P. Routh.

The N. C. E. A. is a state-wide organization for teachers and administrators. The meeting is an annual affair which is held at Asheville every year. There will be various group meetings, conventions, and election of officers for the various groups.

Dr. Harold G. Shane, Professor of Education at Northwestern University, is scheduled to speak on Thursday evening. Afterwards the Grass Roots Opera Company will present Mozart's comic opera, "School for Lovers." Throughout the convention various state officials will speak.

Kitten Barringer, junior, has been elected "Miss Representative Future Teacher" to represent Senior High School at the State Teachers' Convention.

Kitten is vice president of the Future Teachers of America and a member of the Torchlight Club, the high school honor society. She was elected by the High Life staff as the junior girl who is most active behind the scenes in high school life. A member of the Whirligig staff and of the swimming team, she will now have the opportunity to add the title of "Miss Representative Future Teacher of North Carolina" to her accomplishments if she is selected from among the delegates attending.
