

The Way I See It

BY BOOTSE O'BRIANT

Girls—at last you have a chance to play football! Well, of a sort—it's actually hallball, a new game for girls, and it's great fun!

Hallball is played with a junior size, rubber football by two teams of 14 players each. Each team consists of an offensive and a defensive platoon of seven players. The object of the game is for the offensive platoon to score a touchdown by passing into the opponents' end zone, while the defensive platoon attempts to prevent a score by intercepting or breaking up passes. As in boys football, a score may also be made by a safety.

The game was originated on the Woman's College campus by Miss Ellen Griffin of the Physical Education Department. It's fun to watch and the girls love to play it!

Cynthia Hughes, second period phys ed student, decided during one of the first classes that the girls should have some warm-up exercises to keep them from getting too tired. As a result she was putting them through the paces with a "hup-two-three-four" until Miss Gabriel caught her.

Look in on one of Miss Gabriel's classes and see a game of hallball. You'll enjoy it!

Gym Conversation: During one of the hotter days, when everyone was taking a breather, the conversation in the gym turned to the Youth Center situation. Several people were concerned about open houses after the basketball games. It was suggested that maybe the girls' gym could be cleaned up a bit and decorated and that ping-pong tables and other recreational facilities could be placed in the old boys' gym. These could be used during the lunch periods as well as for open houses. Also proposed was a sock hop in the new gym. Sounds like a couple of pretty good ideas!

Art Dept. Forms Les Artists Club

Les Artistes is the name of the new club organized by the second year art students of the Senior High Art Department who met for the first time Wednesday night, September 8, at the Greensboro Community Center.

Bi-monthly meetings have been scheduled by the new president, Eleanor Pearman. Other officers are Beth Allred, vice-president; Dottie Sherrill, secretary; John Lund, treasurer; Bill Holderness, program chairman; and Sandra Carruthers and Nancy Robertson, social co-chairmen.

Sponsor for the group is Mrs. Jeanette MacArthur, GHS art teacher. The purpose of the club is to stimulate interest in art and to present to the members programs that will be enjoyable and worthwhile.

Senior Council Meets; Sets Election Schedule For Sophomore Class

At the first meeting of the Student Council on September 7 in the conference room of the library the schedule for sophomore elections was decided upon.

On Monday, October 4, candidates for offices will be presented along with their campaign managers and boosters. Candidates for council will also be presented at this time. October 5 will be spent for registration, and the actual voting will begin on October 6.

All candidates must procure an application blank from a council member or from room 206, and these blanks must be returned to room 206 or a council member not later than September 24. Information required on the application blanks pertains to offices held before.

In order to be eligible for election a student must have retained an average of 80 for the preceding semester. Also, there must be no record of a failure for the preceding semester.

There will be eight council representatives elected on the basis of one representative for every 75 students.

Youth Center Disbands

For the first time in seven years Senior High students start back to school lacking the facilities of a Youth Center.

This summer funds supplied for the upkeep of "the Loft" were discontinued by the Greensboro Community Chest, forcing the Center to disband operation. Although the $5 membership fee covered part of the operations, it had to be supplemented by funds from the Chest.

Brokie Lineweaver, president of the Youth Council, and members of the Council held meetings, an open forum, and were on television during the summer in an effort to keep it open; but in August it was definitely established that there would be no financial support. However, the Chest did say that any effort to get a new Youth Center would get their moral backing.

Brokie announced in a junior-senior assembly held on Wednesday, September 8, that since the lease ran until December, "The Loft" would hold open houses after the five home football games. Tickets for these open houses are 25 cents a piece and can be bought only at Senior High. Acting as temporary director for the after-game activities is Mr. William D. Caffrey, principal of McIver School. The open house tonight is being sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

GHS Cheerleaders Chosen; Boone To Direct Cheering

New Majorettes Selected, Clark Picked As Leader

Head majorette for GHS will be Juliana Clark, who was recently chosen by the eight other majorettes.

The new majorettes are Maxie Callisher, Betty Kernodle, Agnes Tate, Harriet Wells and Helen White. They were selected by Band Director Herbert Hazelman and last year's majorettes.

Maxie, a majorette at Lindley for a year, has never taken any lessons. She is a member of the L.S.P. Club. Maxie loves to eat and likes sports. Her hobby is dancing. After graduation she plans to enter pharmaceutical work.

A Centralite, Harriet plays the flute in the band. She was a majorette at her alma mater for a year and has never taken any lessons. She is a member of the G.W.I. Club. Helen comes from Central where she was a majorette for one year. She has taken piano lessons and plays the cello in the orchestra. After graduation she plans to study to be a missionary nurse.

Being a majorette at Lindley for two years and having taken lessons for two years has placed Betty on the strutting squad. Besides being in the band, she has taken piano for four years. After graduation she plans a career at a laboratory technician.

Due to the twin bands, there will be two drum majors this year. They will be Charles Woods and John Gardiner. The senior majorettes are Pat Leary, Mary Alala and Juliana Clark. Carol Horley is the only junior member of the squad.

new Youth Center to be built in the next year or two. It would be situated near the new public swimming pool and financed by the City Council.

"Give me a G!" yelled Mary Ann Boone, GHS's new head cheerleader at the Greensboro-Raleigh football game last Friday night.

This energetic little redhead was a cheerleader for her sophomore and junior year and is now leading the school spirit at GHS.

Five new cheerleaders were selected September 8 to be on the squad. Here is some information that might help the students to know their new cheerleaders better.

Other members on the cheerleading squad are Marsha Kreiger, Anne Pearce, Margie Boren, Lila Malone, Susan Hege, and Fran Welch. As Carol Sue Riddle and Eleanor Pearman have part-time schedules, they will be alternate cheerleaders.

Miss Margie Gabriel is adviser to the group. She, along with Jimmy Jordan and Jimmy Powell, a member of last year's squad, Miss Louise Smith, and two women from Woman's College Physical Education Department were Judges in the elimination.

CHILD DEVELOPMENT Students are studying the child at play and will soon start observing and participating in the Senior Cooperative Kindergarten now at the Caesar Cone School. Mrs. P. J. Love, the kindergarten teacher, reports a full school of 27 children from all sections of the city.
