

Six Members Of School Key Club Attend Convention In Columbia

Six members of the Greensboro Senior High Key Club attended a Key Club convention in Columbia, South Carolina Friday, March 25 until Sunday, March 27. Along with the Greensboro Key Clubbers were five Curry members and Mr. Ed Howell, Curry Key Club adviser and his son. The delegation left Greensboro at 10:40 a. m. on Friday, March 25 on an Eastern Airlines Talcon. The group stopped over in Charlotte to shop and then flew directly to Columbia. They were immediately assigned rooms in the Wake Hampton Hotel, the site of the convention proceedings.

Attending from Senior were Louis Glascock, John Jester, David Wible, Don DeSanto, Doug Albright, and Manley Dodson. Curry representatives were Sam Yow, Ed Graves, Russell Liday, Greg Hart, and Mike Cude.

General sessions were held that

Friday afternoon, Friday evening and again Saturday.

Manley Dodson campaigned for district treasurer, but was eliminated in the third ballot.

A banquet and dance took place Saturday night. All visiting Key Club members were furnished dates by the Columbia High School sororities.

At 5:40 Sunday afternoon the Greensboro group left Columbia and headed back for Greensboro. A stop-over in Charlotte was accompanied by a steak dinner in the airport restaurant for the boys. His treat was accredited to Mr. Lee Foster, immediate past president of the Greensboro Kiwanis Club. The group arrived in Greensboro at 9:40 Sunday night. Their transportation was paid for by the Kiwanis Club in Greensboro. This group was the only entire delegation which traveled first class. The total air time was one hour 50 minutes each way.

Future Teacher Club Has Eight At Brooks

During their study hall periods, several members of the Future Teachers of America Club are helping at Brooks School getting experience with a large group of children in order to see if they would like to become regular teachers in the future.

Some of the girls helping are Pat Leary, Judy Hester, Martha Holley, Juliana Clark, Martha Wilkins, Madeline Holley, Ann Harris, and Judy Johns.

"They are a very lovely group of girls, who do what they can to help," reports the principal of Brooks School.

The Future Teachers of America is a club made up of all the students of Senior High who are interested in becoming teachers. The work at the school is just one of the many ways in which the girls are trained to carry on the work of the teachers.

French Group To Meet On Campus On April 16

Saturday, April 16, the North Carolina Chapter of the American Association of French Teachers will meet at Greensboro High School.

The vice-president, Dr. Muriel Tomlinson of Guilford College, will be in charge of the program. Other officers include president, Dr. William N. Felt of Woman's College, and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Marguerite Austin Perry of Eastern Carolina College.

The pedagogical program of the morning will be broken at 10:30 by a coffee hour given by Mrs. Jessie Gorrell and Miss Estelle Mitchell of Greensboro High School. At 1 o'clock the group will assemble at the Christian Congregational Church for a luncheon and business session.

This organization alternates its semi-annual meetings among the various high schools and colleges of the state. The fall meeting took place at the University of North Carolina.

JCL Hears Reports Of State's Convention

Junior Classical League members met in room 6 Wednesday, March 23, to hear reports of four committees which met at the State Convention which took place in Chapel Hill on March 18. Reports were given by members who attended the initiation, program-project, finance, and nomination committees. An informal discussion was held to evaluate the convention as a whole.

A highlight of the meeting was the presentation made by Carolyn Sikes, president, of a sterling silver J.C.L. key to Paddy Sue Wall in honor of her services to the state and local chapter.

The meeting closed with the singing of "Gaudemus Igitur."

Odyniec, Saleeby Obtain Grants From Elks Club

Joanne Saleeby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Saleeby and Norman Odyniec, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony B. Odyniec, were presented $50 bonds on March 29 as winners of the scholarship contest sponsored by the Greensboro Elks Club, number 602.

The winning entries have been sent to the State Elks Association for consideration in the state-wide contest, offering two $500 prizes. National awards are $1,000 for the winning boy and girl.

Joanne is a member of the Presbyterian Church of the Covenant where she keeps the nursery during services.

Last summer she was one of eight North Carolina youths who won a trip to New York with an essay. She is a member of the Future Teachers of America, Bible Club, Junior Classical League and library staff and is an honor roll student.

Norman is president of the Newman Club, church organization for teenagers, and a member of the Key Club. For two years Norman has been a member of the varsity football team at Senior High. He attends Our Lady of Grace Roman Catholic Church. He was a member of the Greensboro Youth Council before it ceased operations and a member of the Hi-Y Club.

IN THE RECENT SCIENCE Fair held at Women's College, several students from Senior High entered projects. Two people won blue ribbons. They were Peggy Lennon, a sophomore, and David Thomas, a senior. Peggy's entry was an exhibition of bacterial growth, while a mass test-tube drier wis submitted by David.

Mitchell's Homeroom Holds Honor Record

Maybe most of the brains are passed out at the beginning of the alphabet, but whether this is true or not, one would certainly get that impression from the fact that Miss Mitchell's homeroom 317, consisting of members of the Senior Class whose last name begins with A and down through Bo-, has consecutively won the honor plaque each six weeks of this school year.

This is the third year Miss Mitchell has had the same students, except for a few changes in her home room, since she has been class adviser to the students of this home room in their sophomore, junior and now senior year.

Some of the students making regular honor roll in room 317 would have made special honor roll if they had been taking four major subjects. Four majors is a requirement for special honor roll students.

Don't get the idea that the reason so many of these students are on the honor roll is that they are taking crisp courses. Of course, if higher mathematics such as college algebra, solid geometry, and Algebra 4, not to mention various languages, chemistry and physics are considered easy, then this might be so. These students are tackling the hardest subjects offered at GHS's and yet many of them consistently make honor roll.

Most of the students in this home room have many extra curricular activities that require a great deal of their time. In home room 317 there are five members of Torchlight, students who have been or are on the Student Council, three first string football players, and others who fill high positions at GHS. Several times, the best citizen of the entire Senior Class has been selected from this home room.

Senior, Sophomore Plays Receive Superior Rating

"Opening Night" and "The Storm", the sophomore and senior plays which received a superior rating at the district meet, were presented Thursday, March 31 at 8 p. m. in the Senior High auditorium.

"Opening Night," the sophomore play, which was a comedy dramatized by Roland Fernand, tells the story of Cornelia Otis Skinner on her opening night of a new play. Dramatic students in the cast were Camille Merriman, Peyton Neal, Anne Darnell, Marie White, Judie Bittinger, Frances Blake, Ruth Hunt, Pollyanne Young, Lois Martin, Elizabeth Antrim, and Helen Payne.

The senior play, titled "The Storm", was a serious drama. Included in the cast were Paddy Sue Wall, Rachel Walker, Ann Dumaresq, Hugh Price, and Richard Johnson.

Both plays received superior rating at the district meet at Woman's College, and the honor to present their plays at the state meet, which will take place in Chapel Hill during the week of April 15. This was the first time a sophomore group has won this honor.

Miss Mozelle Causey, the director and coach of the plays, and her student teacher from Greensboro College, Miss Nancy Halton, will chaperone the members of both casts plus a crew of make-up people and technical workers when they go to Chapel Hill.
