

The Purpose of High Life Is To Get and preserve the history of our school.

Hold individuals together under high standards.

Separate the worthwhile from the worthless and promote the highest interest of students, teachers, and school.

Hit The Deck!

A long, urgent bell, a sudden shuffling of feet and desks, a hurried walk towards the door, crouching by the lockers, and then—a deafening silence. Those words describe conditions in Senior High School at approximately 9:45 a. m., Wednesday, April 27, the date of the first Civil Defense drill at this high school.

Behind the general good conduct that was exhibited during the drill there was hard work, and a medal should be given to those who were able to make this student body realize the seriousness that lay behind that long bell. To the leaders of the program go this paper's congratulations and thanks.

The drill was not a tremendous thing in itself, but it was a start toward the full preparedness that we should have. Too many people would rather ignore the shadow in which we live, but today is not a time for blissful ignorance. It is reassuring to think that there are at least 1600 people in Greensboro who have faced reality and it is even more reassuring to know that there are leaders at school who will not let us slide along totally unable to face what someday might be grim reality.

A Cloud Of Dust And A Hearty . . .

Heigh-ho jalopy! There they go again—the little boys with the new toys! Yes, there are those silly little boys from Senior High enjoying their daily sport of Let's Raise a Lot of Dust. It's played like this: the little fellows wait impatiently in classes for three or four hours. Then a starting bell resounds and the competition is on. They scramble to their cars, step on the backfire distributor, and in a minute they're invisible. It seems that approximately two minutes after that first bell, a veil of dust descends upon the boys; a few seconds later there is naught to be seen but some dusty little toy cars. The observers who have been quick enough to don their dust-preventing goggles in time for the game have stated that, "Little boys must play, but they should find a sport that is more considerate of their galleries."

MERCI BEAUCOUP

No, it can't be! No broken bottles in the parking lot! No debris, no junk, no general disorder!

It is true, though. In only one day our tires have felt the difference. These tires should send their grateful thanks along with their owner's to the members of the Student Council. Rake and shovel in hand they attacked the parking lot and left it in a more parking shape. For making that area of trees and holes a little safer all parkers of cars are thankful. More thank you's are in order. The May Day was a success, as usual, but this year it seems that more work than ever was put into it. It is not an easy job to get a group of students together to practice, practice, practice. Yet the advisers to the celebration of May Day achieved just that, and the work they must have put into it as clearly exhibited. Being a teacher is a full time job, but when it comes to getting together a May Day it must seem time and a half.

Belated as these thanks may be, we would still like to render them to all members of the Key Club. All too often clubs going under the heading of service organizations slip into purely social activities, but the Key Club has consistently done things for the school other than throwing parties. In particular we are grateful for the large, framed copies of the honor code which were placed in each room by the Club. They should do much to keep us reminded of the importance of the code.

CLUBLICITY

By Anne Pearce

DDT

During 1955-56 Janie Walters will act as President of the DDT's. Ann Rountree has been chosen vice-president; Becky Walters, secretary; Caroline Sikes, treasurer; and Michael Gardner, social chairman. These officers were elected at the April 27 meeting.

Les Soeurs

Jackie Mabie has been elected president of the Les Soeurs Club. Lisa Anderson was elected vice-president with Diana Harmon, treasurer; and Mary Ellen Sharpe, secretary. The "sisters" are making plans for their annual beach trip in August.

WST

Officers of the WST Club for next year were elected April 19. Lou Spence will serve the club as president with Helen Sharpe, vice-president; Patsy Ray, secretary; Sue Spence, treasurer; Bobbie Tice, devotion chairman; Betty Smith, publicity chairman; and Sydna Hall, project chairman.

BSC

The BSC Club is planning a Plantation Party for May 6. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Williams will chaperon. The club is also planning a beach trip to Ocean Drive, South Carolina, the first week after school is out.

SIGNETS

For their May project the girls are collecting small bottles with screw-tops which they will take to the Cerebral Palsy School. The instructors there will punch a small hole in the top of the bottle for the children to stick their paint brushes through without spilling the paint. The Club is also discussing plans for next year.

ESA

Betty Adams has recently been chosen to head the ESA's next year. To aid her in the club's leadership will be the following officers, Emma Garvin, vice-president; Kay Kuykendall, secretary; Patsy Dunn, treasurer and Randy Burnett club representative.

Last Saturday the girls had a tea at the home of Randy Burnett for rising sophomores from the junior high schools.

Hall Tales

By Alma Swinson

Well, now that the seniors are back from Washington, GHS is normal again and graduation is the next big thing on the schedule . . . I won't predict the weather, for the last time I predicted sunshine, it snowed.

Here's a couple of dillies to start this mess goin'.
Dilly. Dilly.

Seriously (?) though, the news is out that Mr. Luttrell is manufacturing love potent in the chemistry lab and selling it to the faculty . . . it really works doesn't it?

HAVE YOU NOTICED . . .
How slowly the weeks pass?
That Lawrence McCranie is really a snow-man?
How the juniors "show'off" those new rings?

Miss Mims: "What's a metaphor, 'A place for cows to graze.'"

The Sun is hot
The water's cool
Yet all of us
Must slave in school.

(I honestly, don't know what I'd do without these bits of poetic beauty.)

We heard that Bob Covert had a tough time keeping his class ring . . . Pat was determined, wasn't she . . . ?

Claude Ward: "What happened to your hand?"
Buddy Watkins: "I was down town getting some cigarettes and some clumsy idiot stepped on my hand."

. . . and then there's the time that

"lover-boy" Younce walked up to a girl and said, "I'm writing a phone book and I'd like to include your number."

Just in case some of you sophomores are wondering about the glassy-stare in seniors' eyes, it's "graduationitis" . . .

One last bit of humor (?) . . .
Do you know why the little ghost was sad? Because he lost his "ghoul" friend. That's all brother . . . see ya.

Counsel From the Council

Margie Boren, chairman of the Senior Prom committee has announced that Jimmy Perkins' Band has been engaged to play at the dance, which is planned for May 27 from 9 to 12 o'clock in the Senior High Gymnasium.

The theme of the prom will be "Now is the Hour" and a figure will be presented by the Senior Class officers, home room presidents, and council representatives. Sophomores, juniors, and seniors are invited to attend.

There has also been some mention of a Junior High Day this spring. The purpose of this occasion would be to give the rising sophomores a chance to become acquainted with Senior High School.

Principals of the junior high schools are to be contacted and notified of the tentative date of May 24 or 25.

May 6 is the date which has been set for installation of officers and dedications of the Honor Code plaques.
