

Whirlies Depend Upon Offensive Power For Victory

'JER'S JOTTINGS'

BY FARBER

Though the clouds rained trouble down last week under the name of Gastonia, the Whirlies should still be commended for their bang-up performance against the on-rushing Bulldogs two games ago. A favored Charlotte squad was dumped by the Whirlwinds 19-14 in a game that left many hearts pounding like Gene Krupas drums. For those of us who made the journey to N. C.'s big town, it was a terrific feeling to see our home team ground out the hard fought-for victory. But only after the first quarter did Greensboro fans sit hardily in their seats. The Wildcats clawed their way to a touchdown in the opening minutes of the contest, thus gaining an early lead, and leaving Whirlie loyalists to sit and wonder if the trek was worth it . . . Well, Glascock and crew saw to it that it was . . . and we'd go twice as far to see it again. Incidentally, the spirit shown by the slightly more than six busses of Greensboro High students was the best . . . and the most since the season opened . . . !

RAINS REIGN

When the lightning upzipped the sky and let the water fall during halftime of the Gastonia game last Friday night, there were approximately 28 loyal followers cheering for the Gate City crew. And, that 28 was 15 more than the visiting Greenies had waving them on. From the press box, which also, turned into a water hole, you could see about the stadium specks somewhat resembling the remaining remnants of a dying anthill. You could see the programs washing themselves from the top of the stadium to the row of seats closest to the playing field. A few even took the tide and sailed straight to the fifty-yard line . . .

The battle of the "Sexes" relinquishes its priority to a Battle of the Carolinas which will take place in our own GREENSBORO SENIOR HIGH stadium tomorrow at 8 p. m. One corner features the froshman team from UNC and the other a fresh bunch of boys from University South Carolina. Both groups bring with them some outstanding pigskinners, which all in all adds up to a fine day of football . . . Why not attend the tilt—after all, for two halves you can't go wrong . . . See any Key Club member for ducats.

Whirlie Troubles

"Pete" Freeman, the Whirlwind grizzer with a waiter's typical smile, relates the story of his romance at the beaches early this summer. "Met one gal—her eyes were weak, breath was strong, and was so buckteethed, she was the only girl I ever knew who could seal a letter after it was already in the mailbox" . . . Well, Freeman, the ole' adviser says you'd better stick to the forward pass . . . Dwight Witty, Coach Glenn's wrestling hopeful and also one of Coach "Big" Bob's footballers, says the summer holidays ruined him. "Played the pin ball machines so much that I got a muscle-bound thumb." Witty Witty . . . From the Hill comes the slogan, "Watch out for school children—especially if they're driving." But Waxy Wible really hit the nail squarely on the thumb with his potent description of Charlie "My nose guard" Whedbee: "Charlie has that Cosmopolitan-looking face—just like the United Nations—everything is there but just can't seem to get together" . . . Ah, Whedbee, get a patent on that one . . . Well, such are the woes and foes of your footballers, stoogents,—now come to see them in action!!! Go Whirlies!

ANDERSON

Continued From Page One

replace the dangerous candles that have been previously used for the tappings.

Another project of the organization will be the annual talent show which takes place in the spring.

Coach Jamieson's Whirlwinds, finding it hard to move the ball with consistency, have shown to date a bulwarkish defense. With a record of one win, one tie, and two losses, the Whirlies are looking forward to a "comeback" tonight when they face the Asheville Maroons.

Featured above are the Greensboro eleven who will be the probable starters against Asheville. They are: Bill Lewey, right end; Jack Weaver, right tackle; Jake Giles, right guard; and Charlie Whedbee, center. Richard Cates, Ronnie Parks, and Jim Murphy make up the left side of the Whirlie forward wall.

The backfield consists of: Don Rothrock at quarterback; and Louis Glascock, right half. Lou is responsible for two Whirlie touchdowns. Larry Rogers, left half; and Jim Geiger in the fullback slot. Geiger second six points against the Charlotte eleven.

WHIRLIES BATTLE ASHEVILLE TONIGHT SEEKING A TWO-TWO-ONE RECORD

Asheville's highly rated Maroons expose their unbeaten record to the Gate City Whirlies tonight in the third conference game for the visiting club and second for the local eleven.

Mentioned as one of the pre-season favorites along with Gastonia and Salisbury, the mountaineers have already posted an impressive 3-0 conference warning to fellow AAA aggregations. The latest Asheville triumph was against Winston Reynolds by a score of 14-13.

Coach Floyd Wody's boys, who presented little opposition to the rampaging Whirlies last year, have developed into a club which spectators nominate for possible state honors this year. Meanwhile, the Gastonia club which floored hopes for a second conference victory last week in the flooded Senior High Stadium, lengthened its winning streak in overall play to four. Salisbury, the other outfit mentioned as a championship contender, got into the conference act for the first time last week with a 13-0 victory over the apparently ill-fated Charlotte Wildcats.

Action tonight will center around three important conference clashes. Winston-Salem Reynolds travels to Salisbury; Gastonia challenges Charlotte Central on home-ground; and Lexington engages High Point at High Point.

"SPORTSOLOGY"

By FARBER

Last year, in order to try and add a little spice to the sports page, I (the Carolinian) added my infamous prediction sheet, which several people just couldn't seem to digest properly . . . Well, this year I was induced to take a few pills to help cure some of the indigestion. The two pills are Jimmy Martin and Dick Robinson, and they form the perfect cure. No more of my so-called brainwashing of GHS students in the way and patters of Chapel Hill will occur—yet to this day I believe Notre Dame could have been dumped.

ROBINSON

UNC

Duke

Maryland

Charlotte Cats

WHIRLIES by 7 points

FARBER

UNC vs. Georgia who else

Duke vs. Will. and Mary
Ditto

Maryland vs. Wake Forest
Turps by a rout

Gastonia vs. Charlotte
Greenies'll do it

WHIRLIES vs. Asheville
GHS 33-Asheville 6

MARTIN

unanimous

I'll buy that

Dick's kidding

Charlotte

that grabs me

This covers Saturday's Big Four Action. State sits this one out . . . The general consensus elsewhere is: Michigan over Army, Ohio State over Illinois, Notre Dame to rout Miami, Navy to capsize Pittsburgh, South Carolina over Furman, Oklahoma to nose by the Texans, and the Washington Skins will make it the number two win.