

Many Senior Social Clubs Plan For Holiday Parties

The BELLETTs had a dance with the "Deep Purple" theme at the Bur-Mil Club in the last part of November. All members invited dates. The new members of the club are Helen Allen, Elayne Battle, Dottie Bell, Jeanine Haase, Joy Brown, Katherine Ozment, Pat Garrett, Judyth Leslie, Becky Ozment, Betty Wiles, Linda Barham, Pat Heath, Nancy Jo Thompson and Susan DeVeney.

The LSP's were glad to have Martha Wilkins and Wanda Slade, former members, at a club meeting during the Thanksgiving holidays. Plans for the LSP-DDT dance include Jimmy Perkins' Band, and a breakfast at the home of Helen White. The dance will be at the Greensboro Country Club. Last Wednesday two Woman College students came to the meeting to discuss a sociology project.

The RAINBOWS had a formal initiation last Monday night for their new members. The girls are having a semi-formal dance December 22, from 9 to 12 p. m. It will be at the Shrine Club and the Desert Knights will play.

For their Christmas project the WST Club has decided to be industrious and make Christmas cookies and candles to sell. Anyone having a Christmas party should place his orders with Phyllis Steed for homemade mints ($1 a pound).

The SLC's had a party at the Plantation Club Saturday night, December 10. Marie Cardwell had a breakfast at her home following the party. Tonight, Angela Butt is having a slumber party at her home for the members.

The ESA's are having a progressive dinner December 22. The appetizer will be served at the home of Betty Adams; the salad at the home of Ginger Bass; Libby and Emma Garvin are having the main course; and Jona Atcheson is serving the dessert. The members and their dates will continue the party by dancing at Randy Burnett's. The girls participated in the Tuberculosis Double-Barred Cross Sale, Saturday, December 10.

The GWT's are having a progressive dinner party of four courses on Thursday, December 22. After the dinner the club members and their dates are having a party at the Guilford Dairy Club House. The girls participated in the TB Seal Drive on Saturday. This Christmas, the club is planning to help a needy family.

LES SOEURS are in charge of the flowers this month in the front hall. The girls had a Plantation Party Friday night December 10 for club members and their dates. Afterwards, Nancy Brothers, a new member, had a slumber party. These girls also participated in the TB Drive. New Year's Eve the girls are planning their annual progressive dinner party.

Get With It, Buddy! Four Weeks To Exams

Are you a Paul-Put-It-Off? Do you study only two of the six weeks? If so, here is a list of eight ways to improve your study habits. Go down the list, checking the suggestions mentally until you find the loophole in your study habits. To tell if this is being done mentally, it's when you smell the wood burning.

- Do you:
1. Average at least 45 minutes study on each lesson each day.
Answer: Man, do you realize that is almost four hours! You must not have. Between 4 p. m. and 10 p. m. there are only six hours, and of course it takes over two hours just to lead a normal life. In the afternoons you must get your exercise (jitterbugging) and nourishment (food). Of course there must be time for supper, and then you must read the paper to keep abreast of the current events—in the life of Lil' Abner. There are always club meetings, concerts, plays, and other functions to attend. Then of course you do study. It's not your fault that you are not perfect yet; it takes time.
 2. Go to the library for extra information?
Answer: You bet! You'd be surprised at the information you can pick up in that joint! Why the other day Jonie said that—Oh darn that censor. You will have to find out later.
 3. Set yourself a time limit to prepare each part of the homework?
Answer: This you are very conscientious about. You set a limit and stick to it. If the homework isn't finished in 20 minutes, just quit.
 4. Turn off TV and the radio and concentrate when you study?
Answer: To listen to some people talk, you'd think they didn't know that the radio and television were educational. You watch "Science Fiction" for biology; "The Old Rebel" for American history; and "Cur's Caravan" for music. Concentrate? Thought that was a kind of orange juice. "Oh, well, that's what you get for thinking."

Center of the activity of the "monkey-jungle" is Kathleen Satterfield supporting the flying swan, Shelba Creed. Some other stunts being accomplished by the girls are shoulder stands, head stands, hand stands, and the group pyramid. What next? Maybe Gabe's girls will appear on the Sealtest Big Top next Saturday!

WHIRLIE WIMMIN'

By Mary Jane Seawell

Tumbling is taking up three days a week for the phys. ed'ers. This is proving to be a lot of fun for the girl athletes, although the results are obvious to many of the girls. But, I guess not being able to walk when you get out of bed the morning after tumbling the day before is just a part of the fun. Some fun!

Some of the stunts being accomplished (or attempted) by the classes are the box, head stand, head and shoulder stand, back angle, modified angle, and just plain angle.

On Tuesdays and Thursdays basketball practice is held in the girls' gym. The participants have formed three teams and are now engaging in intra-murals. The first team has Joy Brown as the captain with Brenda Ammons, Janice Black, Ashton Edwards, Billie Jessup, Barbara Clifton, Shirley Capps, and Susan Martens as its members.

Composing the second team is Ada Lou Johnson, Bobbie Tice, Pat Gilley, Mary Leonard, Gloria Jones, and Jerry Mann with Vickie Stewart heading them.

Martha Yates, Kathleen Satterfield, Ann Bolding, Lynn Rankin, Shelba Creed, Prissy Wyrick, and Barbara Monnett make up another team. Cynthia Burley serves as captain for this group.

This year's Sophomore Class has many outstanding athletes, and they look very promising for GHS. Prissy Wyrick, who plays forward in basketball, is one of the outstanding players this year. She attended Lindley Junior High School and received the superlative for the "best girl athlete" and was also awarded the trophy for being the best athlete.

Her favorite sport is tennis. She has participated in all after school sports this year, even though she doesn't take physical education. With Judy Fitzjohn of Charlotte as her partner, she won the North Carolina State Girls' championship in tennis.

Prissy weighs 112 pounds and is five feet, four inches tall. Along with her other activities, she also finds time to enjoy ping-pong.

A new student this year, Ann Bolding, is proving herself with great success. She is from Charleston, South Carolina and attended Chicora High School before coming to Greensboro.

Her position in basketball is guard, and she has phys. ed. first period. She engages in all sports but enjoys basketball most of all with softball as her second choice.

Her weight is 115 pounds, and her height is 5 feet, 6 inches. Ann likes our school very much, and she says she has met many wonderful people here.

Another of the most outstanding athletes in the sophomore class is Brenda Ammons. She plays forward in basketball and is making a very great success of her efforts this year.

Brenda takes part in all sports, but finds basketball to be the most enjoyable. She hails from Aycock Junior High School, and when she graduated she was "tagged" the most athletic girl. While she went there, she also won the Field Day Trophy.

She weighs 140 pounds, and her height is 6 feet, 2 inches.

So far the basketball teams are shaping up well, and it looks as if we'll have a big year in girls' basketball.
