

DAILY DOUBLES

By Mary Wheeler

Looks as if these Daily Doubles have heeded Shloyme's example of "How Not To Study For Exams." At least it appears that they have gotten an early start—on their lessons, of course.

Mr. X, a junior, who played on the junior varsity football team this past season, attends the First Moravian Church. He was a member of the Honor Society at Gillespie Junior High before coming to Senior. This 5 foot, 11 inch boy has brown eyes and dark brown hair. Mr. X is also a junior marshal and can usually be found with Larry Gill.

Miss X, a junior who hails from Aycock Junior High, attends the Mount Pisgah Methodist Church. During her senior year at Aycock, she was a member of the Honor Society there. Last year she was in the Y-Teens and this year is a member of the Advanced Glee Club. Miss X, who is 5 feet, 6 inches tall with hazel eyes and dark brown hair, is seen usually with Nancy Beam.

Our Daily Doubles must get along wonderfully together; they agreed on almost every question asked them, such as chicken being the favorite food of both, while their favorite song is "Only You." They have been going steady since August 20, 1955 and can usually be seen together in the front hall of the Main Building here at Senior.

"Our most amusing incident is really more disastrous than amusing," says Miss X, "but, one day we had been to town and had to ride the bus over to Mr. X's house before leaving for a Moravian Youth Rally in Winston-Salem. It was pouring rain and by the time we arrived at his house, we were both soaked to the skin. I had no other clothes with me to change into, so Mr. X's mother made me give her my wet clothes in exchange for some dry ones, so she could dry mine before we left for the Rally."

You'll find their names in a popular ad.

Katzengrammar Kids Lead Garrett's English Classes

Mrs. Margaret Garrett's first period sophomore English class has a most extraordinary session once a month. During this session The Katzengrammar Kids meet under the leadership of their officers George Murphy, president; Peggy Sink, vice-president; and Angelyn Stokes, secretary.

The idea of the club was presented to the group by Mrs. Garrett. During one particular Friday meeting, famous authors were portrayed by the students to be identified by the audience. The portrayal of the authors were brought out in puzzles, skits, character sketches, and pantomimes. Longfellow, Stevenson, Twain, and numerous other authors well-known to all were recognized by the watchers.

The topic of the November meeting was "Our School System, Past and Present." The program, organized by Peggy Sink, included a panel discussion and two skits. The two major items the panel discussed were the wide variety of opportunities offered to students of GHS and the school spirit of this year. The skit pictured the differences in present-day schools and the ones in the days of the one-room schoolhouse.

Several members presented the Christmas program which included reading Christmas poems and stories. The class participated in a Christmas quiz and carol singing. Rumors of a student-written play are floating around and one can never tell what The Katzengrammar Kids will pull out of their hats next.

Nat. Honor Groups To Offer New Grants

Scholarships and cash awards are being offered to senior members of the National Honor Society throughout the United States who plan to enter college in September of 1956.

Approximately $17,500 has been set aside for scholarships and cash awards open to senior National Honor Society members.

Because of the recognized shortage of teachers during the next ten years, and the need to interest qualified seniors to consider teaching as a profession, 12 Grollier-Americana Teacher Education Scholarships of $500 each are being offered to senior members of the National Honor Society who plan to enter the teaching profession.

There is also a National Honor Society scholarship of $500 annually for three years being offered and 65 other scholarships and cash awards which total $10,000 to be awarded during 1956.

All interested Torchlight seniors will have an opportunity to register for the scholarships and the cash awards around January 15, 1956.

G-30's and Rainbows Active Around GHS

Crepe paper "Whirlie Wigglers" were made for the Charlotte-Greensboro basketball game by the G-30 and ESA Club members. The paper "wigglers" were of many different colors, and they were given free to all Greensboro fans who attended the contest. Future plans are being made by the two clubs to boost school spirit at the Whirlie ball games.

Exemplification of Rainbow will be January 24 in Burlington where the Greensboro girls will initiate the Burlington girls, after six months can receive their charter provided they meet the standards.

Dr. Shearin To Speak At Science Club Meeting Thursday, January 17

Paul E. Shearin, head of the Physics Department at Chapel Hill, will speak at Senior High's Science Club meeting on Tuesday, January 17, at 3:30 in the school auditorium.

Dr. Shearin, who has done work in atomic energy at Oak Ridge, Tennessee, will talk to the group about atomic energy and atomic bombs.

Meetings of the Science Club are held every two weeks on the second and fourth Tuesdays; anyone who is interested may attend.

Miss Helen Turlington, club adviser, stated that of the approximately 30 club members, sophomores make up the greatest number, with juniors and seniors following, respectively.

A committee has been appointed for the purpose of drawing up a club constitution; when this is completed, officers will be elected.
