

"They're forever blowing bubbles" and in English class, to make matters worse. These select members of a Senior class typify exactly what the ideal student should not be, even though their antics were a part of a program centering around the ideal class.

Bubble Gum Chewers Pop Like Ideal English Pupils

"Ker-flooy!" Where in the world — or more appropriately — where in this high school can such a sound be heard? Of course, that sound could only belong to the popping of a bubble gum-produced bubble. And that bubble could only belong to an ideal senior English student. The standards of excellence — attained by chewing — haven't as yet been accepted; but this particular method was the object of experimentation in a senior English class. The identity of the teacher will remain anonymous, at her request.

How did this system happen to be used in a certain seventh period English class? The story goes that first semester the class elected officers with Donna Oliver serving as president; Faye Fuquay, vice president and Becky Walters, secretary. The duties of these officers consisted mainly of planning programs for the enjoyment and education of the class. Well, brain storms whipped through the minds of these planners, and they hit upon the idea of depicting the "ideal class." Naturally, "ideal" was a misnomer, for the class was to be anything but perfection.

Amidst the cracking and popping of bubble gum, various members of the class, introduced by Donna, presented attempted satirical examples of the material taken up second semester. Bob Guffey, Jimmy Edwards, Bunny Marshall, and Barbara Riddle had the major responsibilities of the satires.

Still chewing, four members of the class, Kay Kuykendall, Nestus Gurley, Ginger Bass, and Giles Sheffield debated on questions concerning Samuel Johnson and his biographers. The debate brought to a close one day of having an "ideal class." Without expressing a biased opinion, it is safe to assume that teachers do not desire such a group of juveniles in their classrooms.

School Physics Students Compete In State Contest

Two weeks ago, on April 13, approximately 65 Greensboro High School physics students took the state physics exam here at Senior.

Stanley Johnson, physics teacher, sent the 13 best papers to the extension division of the university's physics department. The state winner will receive a $150 scholarship.

All Senior High physics students took this exam and 13 papers were selected as the best. The exam concerned mainly mechanics and heat. The students whose papers were selected are Jerry Danford, Henry Flynt, Barry Frahm, Bob Herford, Howard Hinshaw, Mike Powell, Edmund Schenck, Neil Benson, Kent Carter, John Gardner, Dan McConnell, Grady Phillips, and Dave Bescherer.

The state winner will be announced by the physics department of the University of North Carolina.

Class Officers Release Pre-grad Activities

Activities for the pre-graduation week for seniors have been released by Senior Class officers. Friday, May 25, Seniors will begin the day with the presentation of the annual Class Day program. At noon the traditional luncheon will take place. Following an afternoon swimming party at the Lindley Park Pool, the activities for the day will be culminated by the Junior-Senior Prom in the gymnasium. Baccalaureate services will be in the First Presbyterian Church Sunday night, May 27. Final examinations for seniors begin Monday, May 28, and continue through Wednesday. Graduation exercises will take place in the stadium the night of Friday, June 1.

Girl Sportsters Take Play Trophy Awards

Saturday, April 21, the Senior girl athletes attended the annual "triple A" high school play day in High Point where they won the girls' sports trophy for 1957, which High Point has won for the last five years.

In the tennis singles Prissy Wyrick came in second for GHS. Burlington won this tournament. Lynn Rankin and Prissy Wyrick defeated all teams in the tennis doubles to rack up the score for Senior.

Joy Brown represented the home team in horseshoes. She was defeated by Charlotte Central and High Point, but still placed as third. Prissy Wyrick, sophomore, was the softball throwing champion.

Lynn Rankin and Ann Bolding were the 50 yard dash contestants from here. High Point placed first in this event. High Point was also in the number one position in the 5 yard dash, but Vivkie Stewart and Cynthia Burley, Greensboro, were third.

The volleyball team from here was composed of Martha Yates, Vicki Stewart, Lynn Rankin, Brenda Ammons, Cynthia Burley, Shelba Creed, Kathleen Satterfield, Carolyn Hinshaw, Pat Gilley, and Bobbie Tice. They won third place. Charlotte Central placed first and Durham second.

Greensboro's softball team won all three of the games they played. The members of this group were Martha Yates, Vickie Stewart, Lillian Lovings, Cynthia Burley, Brenda Ammons, Kathleen Satterfield, Billie Jessup, Pat Gilley, Janice Black, Dawn Jacobs, Dot Stone, and Joy Brown.

Softball Team For Girls Practicing For Competition

Softball is now the big event with the girl athletes around GHS. The girls who are interested in this sport have already signed up and begun practice. Whether the team wins or loses is a question for the future, but one thing is for sure; there is an ample number of players and substitutes. After the nine first string players are on the field, another team plus seven players will be seated on the bench.

The Children's Home in Winston-Salem and teams from Burlington and High Point are the groups that must be faced in softball. The team practices its skill on Monday and Wednesday. Since a building is being erected in the outfield of the playing field that has been used in the past, the girls have moved to the back of the boys' gym.

A team with four pitchers should be able to retire the opponent team to the field with ease. Joy Brown, Petitesa Klenos, Martha Yates, and Billie Jessup have indicated that pitching is their choice position.

First base is going to be covered by Ann Bolding, Lynn Rankin, Elaine Kithas, Dawn Jacobs, and Brenda Ammons.

The position that Carol Hinshaw, Carol Wyrick, Kathleen Satterfield, and Brenda Marshall wish to challenge is second base.

Lillian Lovings seems to have third base all to herself. She was the only one to put that as her first choice.

Prissy Wyrick and Cynthia Burley will have to battle it out for short stop.

Bobbie Tice, Vickie Stewart, Janice Black, Dot Stone, and Pat Garrett all want to play behind the catcher's mask.

Sue Kimel will be available where she is needed, as she didn't specify a particular position. The outfield will be covered by Shelba Creed, Ada Lou Johnson, and Helen Euliss.

JCL Club Observes Latin Week In School

Latin Week, April 23-27, was celebrated at GHS by the Junior Classical League in honor of the birth of Rome, April 21, 753 B.C.

Committees from the Latin Club placed posters throughout the school arranged bulletin boards, and copied appropriate Latin mottoes in the English, history, Spanish, French, math, and science rooms. In the library, the committee decorated the bulletin board with timely quotations from Cicero. In the main hall, the Lord's Prayer and the pledge to the flag were written in Latin.

Those serving on the committees for Latin Week were Bonnie Sikes, Add Penfield, Harry Smith, Linda Pultz, Prissy Wyrick, Mary Jane Higgins, Anne Baldwin, Pat Ellis, Paul Tobin, Linda Harrison, Jean Medearis, Meyressa Hughes, Angelyn Stokes, and Camille Wimberly. David Craig, club president, was in charge.
