New Track To Help In Coming Campaigns

Senior's track team looks forward to a good season next year, as it ends this one, fifth in the state. Lou Glascock paved the way for Greensboro by equaling one record and breaking another in the high and low hurdles. The cinder squad finished third in the Western AAA and second in the sectional meet. Better days are coming in Coach Glenn's point of view.

"If the new track is finished by next year, it will improve the team 100 per cent," states Coach Glenn. "Running on the grass around the football field slows the boys down about two seconds," he added. "The Greater Greensboro Junior Relays will also be a big help in interesting boys in track and in developing them," concluded Mr. Glenn.

In 1957, the track team looks toward the state title with a purpose. Coming back to aid the team are a multitude of veterans from this year's team. Dashmen returning are Larry Rogers, Bobby Brown, and Lofus Neese. Brown and Neese also are broad-jumpers, and at the present time are jumping 19 and 20 feet, which is good for high school talent. Boyce Crothers will be returning to follow in Lou Glascock's footsteps in the hurdles. The 440 will be sought by Bob Grant and Dave Holt. Bob also does the high jump. Johnny Davis may be back for the 440 next year, if his nervous stomach disorder is corrected. According to Coach Glenn, he would have been the probable state winner of the 440. The mile will be kept under control by Chuck Wrye and Baxter Smith while Burt Wilder figures to be lord of the shotput and discs.

Add all these ingredients, and you come out with the GHS track team. Watch out for the track boys in the Western AAA next year.

Mitchell Attends Meeting Of N. C. French Teachers

Miss Estelle Mitchell, French teacher, attended the spring meeting of the N. C. Chapter of the American Association of Teachers of French at Duke University May 4, 5.

For the Friday evening session, the French Department presented the annual French play at Page Auditorium. This year they gave the three-act play "La Cuisine des Anges," which had a Broadway run in English under the title, "My Tree Angles" and a cinema run under the title, "We're No Angels." # M. Yates Wins Trophy Baseballers Finish Fourth; Infielders Key To Future

Martha Yates was awarded the girls' athletic Alumnae trophy on May 17 at Awards Day on the basis of her leadership, sportsmanship, and skill in sports.

She was selected to receive this by her fellow athletes. Any girl who had participated in at least one sport could vote.

Vickie Stewart, Cynthia Burley, and Martha Yates also received athletic pins for acquiring 800 points. They received points for participating in sports.

Greensboro's team defeated the Children's Home in Winston-Salem in softball. Senior's team was composed of Pat Gilley, Cynthia Burley, Billie Jessup, Vickie Stewart, Bobbie Tice, Barbara Marshall, Kathleen Satterfield, Janice Black, Martha Yates, and Helen Euliss.

Miss Margie Gabriel, girls' athletic coach, is giving up her position here at GHS and is going to teach physical education at Terry Parker High School in Jacksonville, Florida.

Five girls have been selected as new members of the Girls' Athletic Council. They are Prissy Wyrick, Lillian Lovings, Brenda Ammons, Janice Black, and Billie Black, and Billie Jessup. The old members honored the new ones at a picnic at Camp Martha Love on Friday, May 17.

Gobel To Star In Movie At Local Theatre Soon

BY BETTY ROSE

School days, school days,
Dear old golden rule days.
Scody hody do da day
They're almost over hoo-ray!

Yea, man, and everybody who is anybody is going to celebrate by taking in television comic George Gobel's first movie "The Birds and the Bees" in the air-conditioned comfort of the CAROLINA THEATRE any time on Sunday, Monday, or Tuesday.

In this picture starring also Mitzi Gaynor, George Gobel is a millionaire hot dog king's bashful son whose main interest in life is snake hunting. On his way home from one of his trips to the Congo he meets Mitzi Gaynor. What he doesn't know is that Mitzi, her father, and brother are card sharks, and he's their target for the trip. This scheme to fleece him hits a snag, however, when Mitzi falls for his shy and naive manner.

"Forbidden Planet," MGM's first science fiction drama in CinemaScope and color, will be the attraction at the CAROLINA THEATRE Wednesday through Saturday.

A story of suspenseful adventure on a remote planet in 2200 AD, the picture casts Walter Pidgeon as a fugitive from Earth, who has also absorbed all the scientific knowledge of the ages. The learning thus acquired turns against him and threatens to destroy his daughter, and the crew of a space ship which has been sent to rescue them.—Ad.

Wilson "Woody" Carruthers, ace pitcher, provided one of the few bright spots of the Whirlie baseball campaign.

Carruthers garnered five of the team's wins. He won his first two outings in fine fashion, winning the first one over Cranbrook, Michigan. On his next trip to the hill he fired a brilliant no-hitter at Charlotte Central.

Errors cost the Whirlies several key games but most of those can be attributed to relative inexperience of boys at important positions. We can be assured, however, that these will be cut down in the '57 campaign, because the entire infield plus adequate reserves will return.

Several boys displayed power at the plate. Owen Johnson was probably the most consistent of the Whirlie batters as he swatted several home runs and triples. First baseman Bill Mock provided the long ball, although not proficiently.

Looking ahead to next year, it will be a veteran aggregation with approximately seven regulars returning.

At first base Bill Mock, a two-year veteran who is adequate on defense and sometimes potent at bat, will return to the initial sack. Spencer Gaylord and Benny Abernathy divide the chores at second base. Both will be on hand for next year's team. Hitting seems to be the weak point of the two, as both field well.

Earl Shelton will return to the shortstop post. He came through offensively as well as defensively this year. Backing him up is Steve Shlosser who handled the shortstopping chores well when inserted into Coach Julian Smith's lineup.

If he stays physically well, Benny McKee will be the third baseman on next year's club. Benny had trouble with his ankle, and because of that, a void was often left at the hot corner.

In the outfield Paul Sams and Jay Brame will be the only ones missing when the bell rings to start next year's season. Harold Wrenn, the centerfielder who had scholastic troubles, will return to patrol the outer gardens. Bill Godfrey, a hard-hitting left-hander will again be in the right field. Ernie Pruitt who started the year as the right-fielder probably rates the nod at the other outfield post.

Behind the plate, Owen Johnson has the situation well in hand. He hits well and has a good arm. J. C. Rainey backs him up with "mitt and mask."

On the mound will probably be the only place where graduation will hurt. Wilson Carruthers will be gone, but fireballer Larry Gill appears ready to fill the gap. As for a good second line pitcher, stylish left-hander Larry Crayton is a nominal choice. Another pitcher with definite promise is Linwood Oates.

Summing up, the Whirlies will definitely have a veteran ball club next year. They should give anybody in the Western AAA circuit a rough time.

Kiwanis Club Presents DE'er With Loving Cup

Betty Rae Stanford has been chosen as the first winner of a loving cup which is to be presented to her by the Gate City Kiwanis Club for being outstanding member of the Distributive Education Club.

This award is to be given each year to the senior D.E'er who has contributed most to the club activities. The selection was based on participation in all phases of the activities and co-operation with fellow members. The person receiving the award must be very dependable.

The presentation will be made at a dinner meeting to which Betty and Mrs. Margaret Hadden, D.E. co-ordinator, will attend together.
