

Greensboro Senior High Welcomes 18 New Teachers For '55-'57 Year

Mrs. Barrett Mr. Bondanella

Miss Craven Miss Griffin

Mrs. Hillman Miss Hunter

Mrs. Lambert Mrs. Ledford

Senior's faculty has undergone a change for the 1956-57 school year, for approximately one-fourth of the teachers are new to Senior. Even though the faculty has increased in actuality by only two, there are a total of 18 new teachers. Last year Senior welcomed only 10. In the number this year there are just three males among 15 females.

Miss Meredith Mrs. Oliver

Miss Osborne Mrs. Parker

The Science Department received the largest number of new staff members with four, and the Math Department came next with three.

Mrs. Proctor Mr. Sharrer

The English and Commercial Departments both have two new teachers. There is one new teacher for each the Bible, Language, Library, Home Economics, Music, Physical Education, and Art Departments.

Mrs. Stanton Miss White

New Science Department teachers are Milton Sharrer, Miss Notie Vay White of Statesville, Sam Whitely from Greensboro, and Miss Patsy Craver from Lexington.

Mr. Whiteley Miss Wood

Assigned to the English Department are Miss Carolyn Hunter of Raleigh, and Mrs. Evelyn Stanton from Guilford College, and to the Commercial Department are Frank Bondanella and Miss Jean Wood.

Sophomore Elections Scheduled For Oct. 2

Elections of Sophomore Class officers will be conducted Tuesday, October 2, and the run-off will take place the following day, according to James Spence, Senior Class president, who is also election chairman.

The deadline for the registering of all aspirants will be Tuesday, September 25. A record number of sophomores are expected to seek an office, since the present Sophomore Class is the largest in the history of GHS. Registering will take place Monday, October 1. Sophomores seeking an office will be presented to their fellow classmates at an assembly Thursday, September 27.

James reminds sophomores that only those who register will be eligible to vote. He urges that all students exercise their vote and thereby select a slate of officers capable of living up to Senior High standards.

Mrs. Nellie Blackburn, dean of students, is the adviser to the Sophomore Class.

The Math Department welcomes Mrs. Helen A. Proctor, Mrs. Margy Ledford, of Guilford College, and Mrs. Jeannie Parker from Greensboro.

Mrs. Norma Barrett of Albemarle is the new Bible teacher; Mrs. Lucille Hillman, the Family Life instructor, Miss Alice Griffin of Williamston, art teacher, and Mrs. Eleanor Lambert is teaching Physical Education.

Joining the Language Department is Miss Marion Osborne of Greensboro. Mrs. Jeanne Meredith is teaching in the Music Department and Mrs. Lucy Oliver is the new assistant librarian.

Gym Classes Attract 155 From GHS Female Ranks

Approximately 155 GHS girls have enrolled in gym classes for the school year of 1956-57. The classes will play outdoor sports until cold weather comes.

During the first week of school the girls played softball but have now changed to speedball. Mrs. Eleanor C. Lambert, new physical education teacher, has requested that "any girl who is interested

Camille Merriman Heads Playmasters Organization

Camille Merriman, senior, was elected president of the Playmasters, Senior High's dramatic organization, at its annual election Wednesday afternoon, September 12.

Other officers chosen then are Marie White, vice-president; Polly Young, secretary; and Joe Matherly, treasurer. Present members besides the officers include Valinda Beall, Judie Bittinger, Frances Blake, Ann Darnell, Frank Dennis, Dianne Hill, Ruth Hunt, and Lee Pickard. A point system in the making will determine which participants of the dramatic classes are eligible for membership in Playmasters this year.

Tryouts began last week for "Pride and Prejudice," their first production of the year to be presented November 8. It is a three-act comedy adapted by Jane Kendall from the novel by Jane Austen. The cast is composed of five men and 11 women. Committee chairmen will be selected later.
