

Demetriou Wins Contest; Hill Takes Second Place

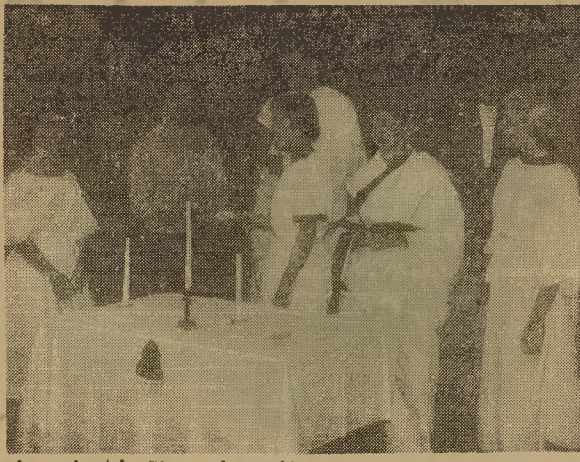

Frances Demetriou, sophomore, was the first place winner in the annual "I Speak For Democracy Contest," which took place November 1 at the Guilford County Courthouse.

Second place went to Diane Hill, senior, while the third place winner was Judie Bittinger, also a senior.

Frances has been in this country for only six years. She lived in her native country of Greece during the war, and her speech dealt mainly with the differences between her life in Greece and the life she now enjoys in a democracy. She takes speech and is an honor roll student.

There were 23 participants in this year's contest, 18 of the contestants representing Senior High School. Other students represented Stokesdale, Guilford, and Curry High Schools.

The first place winner received a $50 Savings Bond. The second and third place winners received respectively a $25 gift certificate to Ellis Stone and a True Tone radio.

Approximately 70 members of the first and second year Latin class were received into the Junior Classical League during its formal initiation service October 30.

City School Students Get Off For Half Day

Students of all the Greensboro Public Schools will be dismissed today at 12 o'clock as the industrialists of Greensboro visit the schools in observation of Industry-Education Day.

This day highlights the American Education Week which is being observed November 11-17. This morning businessmen have been touring the public schools; at 12:15 they will eat lunch with the teachers and principals in the school cafeteria. Senior High will have 22 guests present.

After lunch the teachers will tour various plants and industries in Greensboro. Burlington Industries Weaving Plant, Sears Roebuck Wholesale House, P. Lorillard, and the Burlington Industries' office are on the list for GHS teachers to tour.

Also an observation of American Education Week was the Industry-Education banquet for Greensboro teachers, this year at the Plantation Supper Club Monday, November 5, at 6:30 p. m.

The speaker at the banquet was Dr. William H. Alexander, pastor of the First Christian Church of Oklahoma City.

The general theme for the week is "Schools for a Strong America," with daily topics being assigned for classroom discussions and for use by press and radio.

"Lust For Life" To Play At Victory November 22

BY ANGIE DAVIS

Playing at the VICTORY THEATRE the next two weeks are two wonderful shows — "Frisky," a comedy starring Gina Lollobrigida, and "Lust For Life," the story of the painter Van Gogh, which is making its Carolinas premiere.

"Frisky," showing Nov. 18-21, is the story of a beautiful Italian girl who lives in Sagliena, a romantic little village on the outskirts of Rome.

Quick-tempered and lovely Frisky (Gina Lollobrigida) has incensed the jealous village maidens because she not only captured the heart of Stelluti (Roberto Risso), a handsome lieutenant in the Italian State Police, but has also won the sympathies of his commanding officer, the Marshal (Vittorio De Sica), whose "sweet tooth" for pretty young ladies has not been affected by his graying temples.

Starting the next day for an extended engagement is a movie making its first showing in the Carolinas, "Lust For Life". In this picture the anguish, passion and struggle toward a dedicated goal in the career of Vincent Van Gogh are brought to life in gripping cinema terms by Kirk Douglas.

See you at the town's best movie!—Ad.

Whirlies To Be Honored At Rotary Club Meeting

GHS's Western AAA Conference champion Whirlie team will be guests of honor at a meeting of the Rotary Club, Monday, November 19.

The meeting, which is in the form of a luncheon, is an annual Rotary Club courtesy to the Whirlie football team and will this year take place at the O. Henry Hotel.

Attending will be all the members of the football squad plus the Senior High School coaches. Newspaper sports writers, radio and television sportscasters have also been extended invitations. Coach Bob Jamleson will introduce each member of the team to the group.

The theme of the program will be "Thanksgiving."

SINK ELECTED STATE FTA SECRETARY; 80 NEW MEMBERS INDUCTED TO CLUB

Peggy Sink, junior, was elected secretary of the Future Teachers of America at its statewide convention in Chapel Hill, Saturday, November 3.

Greensboro's Benjamin Lee Smith Club had a major part in the morning session's programs by presenting a 30-minute model FTA meeting entitled "FTA in Action." All the Greensboro girls participating, and Jerry Mann, president of the local organization, presided. Included in this program was a panel discussion on teaching, moderated by Miss Mوزelle Causey, adviser to the group who accompanied the girls to Chapel Hill. Taking part on the panel were Diana Evans, Patsy Martin, Judy Lea, Denny Broadhurst, Lou Ellen Richey, and Peggy Sink.

Sink Nominated

Denny Broadhurst made the nominating speech for Peggy at the morning business meeting, and Peggy replied with an acceptance speech. Posters and banners were displayed for the campaign, and the girls distributed campaign cards to the delegates from other cities. Peggy won a vast majority in the afternoon election over three other candidates running for secretary.

New Members Inducted

Eighty new members were inducted into FTA membership Tuesday when a 5:30 dinner meeting was held at the Mayfair Cafeteria. Miss Helen Wells, state FTA field worker, was guest speaker. WHIRLIGIG pictures were taken at 6 p. m. that evening. For the 110 FTA members this year, dues are 50 cents per person.

D. O. Office Classes Study Use Of Phone

Diversified Occupations Office Practice classes, under the supervision of Mrs. Kathryn McEntire, co-ordinator, have recently been studying telephoning, with the aid of two specially-designed telephones.

These phones have been loaned to the D. O. students by the Southern Bell Telephone Company. Two people who are using the phone are sent into separate rooms, making the effect the same as in actual telephoning. An extensive study of long-distance, local, business, and social telephoning has proven to be very valuable to these students who are already in various businesses.

A tape recorder, which was donated to the classes by Piedmont Associated Industries, is being used to record conversations, in order that the students may hear their own voices over the phone.

The classes took a guided tour through the Southern Bell Telephone Company in order to gain a better understanding of telephoning in the business world of today.
