Senior's Library Club Elects New President

Margie Rose, senior, was elected president of the Library Club at a meeting of the staff October 1.

Other officers of the club are Lee Cory, vice-president and Kitty Wagoner, secretary-treasurer. Judy Kellett is state treasurer of the North Carolina High School Library Association to which members of the Senior High library staff belong.

Assistants Give Hour

Members of the library staff of student assistants give one hour every day to the work in the library. The girls handle most of the desk work, which involves charging out books, filing cards, sending overdue notices, and placing books on reserve. The boys handle the audio-visual side of the library service.

All scheduling of equipment, films, slides, etc. is handled by the library staff. Two boys are kept busy each morning from 8 to 8:45 getting the equipment to classrooms.

Other Duties

The boys and girls handle other duties such as shelving books, planning and putting up bulletin boards, and making mark marks.

During National Book Week, November 25-December 1, there will be a display of new books in the conference room of the library. Miss Mildred Herring, head librarian, reports, "Everyone is invited to see these books which will begin circulating after December 1. This year's slogan is, 'It's Always Book Time'."

Senior President, Spence, Chooses Various Activities

James Spence, president of the Senior Class, has had a political career very similar to Abraham Lincoln's.

While at Aycock, James ran for school president, then here at Senior for Sophomore and Junior Class presidents; each time he was defeated. A firm believer in the old adage, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again." James entered the race for Senior Class president and this time emerged victorious. His determination has not gone unnoticed, for he was chosen as the boy "most likely to succeed" by his fellow classmates in the Senior Superlatives.

To be sure, during his career at Senior James was not idle. Serving as home room president during his sophomore year, he also played junior varsity basketball, was in charge of one of the scenes in the sophomore program, and was chosen for the Citizenship Honor Roll.

In his junior year, he moved up to the varsity team in basketball in the position of forward. Voted into the Key Club, James served as delegate to the convention and was a candidate for district governor of North and South Carolina clubs. Last spring he was tapped into Torchlight.

Sports Is Hobby

Considering sports as his hobby, he has played basketball all three years while being at Senior. Also a tennis fan, James won during his junior year the state high school doubles tournament sharing his honor with Doug Orr. James has been on the varsity tennis team for three years.

Chemical engineering has always been his idea as a career, and James intends to attend either State or Georgia Tech. In connection with plans for his career, he is in charge of the chemical engineering and mechanic groups at Careers Day, November 29.

Summer Activities

During the past summer James was a counselor at Camp Carolina near Brevard, N. C. The year before he worked with Coach Jamieson in the Sports Camp conducted here at GHS.

James is a member of the First Baptist Church and is secretary of his Sunday School class.

Writing Contest Open To All GHS Students

January 14, 1957, is the deadline for submission of material for the Good High School Writing Contest sponsored by the North Carolina Teachers' Association's Composition Committee and Editorial Board.

All juniors and seniors are eligible to enter some piece of writing which they have done since January 16, 1956. There is no special subject, but students are urged to write about something within the realm of their own experience. The entry, which must be under 700 words, may not be a play, research paper, or straight news report. Any other type of prose, separate paragraphs, or poetry over 12 and under 30 lines is acceptable.

The manuscript must be typed, double-spaced on unlined white paper and must have a margin on both sides of the paper.

D. E. Pupils Take Tour Of J. P. Stevens Company

Distributive Education classes under the supervision of Mrs. Margaret G. Hadden, co-ordinator, toured the J. P. Stevens Company, Tuesday, November 13.

The students met at 6:15 p. m. in the Mayfair Cafeteria for a dutch supper. Then they proceeded to the company, where fabrics are made. The supervisors of the mill showed the D. E. students several rooms such as the weaving room. Mrs. Hadden's classes watched nylon, orlon, and dacron being combined. They also watched the various processes through which the yarn goes on its trip through the mill.
