

Junior Engineers' Plan 'Science Day' Program

Members of the Junior Engineers' Club will sponsor and participate in an assembly program of scientific nature for the student body Tuesday, February 5.

The Program

The program will consist of projects built by the students themselves. Each student will explain his own project and how it works.

This is a new innovation for Senior High but is not the first such exposition for the Junior Engineers. Channel 4 of UNC is scheduled to telecast the Science Fair which will happen in the latter part of March. A series of programs on this station will also be given later on by the Junior Engineers.

Participants

Participants on Science Day will tour the Western Electric Laboratory in Winston-Salem February 6. The projects and those participating in the assembly are listed below:

- Science Album—Elizabeth Antrim.
- Atomics to Satellites—Janet Coble, Terry Yarborough
- Energy Transformation — Jim Savers
- Jumping Helex—Sarah Ann Cox
- Electron Pump—Bill Wray
- Dance of Molecules—Jerry Kenyon
- Miracles of Sound—Riley Brown
- Conductivity—Dorothy Mattox
- Electro Chemistry—Jeanine Van Kerckhove, Meyressa Hughes
- Canned Electricity—Max Snoderly, Buddy Rives
- Mr. Wizard—Rufus Russell
- Electro—Chemical Series—David Craig, Jane McLennan.

The Science Day program is under the direction of M. W. Sharer, Chemistry teacher, and consists of only a selected group of students.

Clubs Again In High Gear After Holiday Whirl

The Line-Up! Who did it? Who should be the leader of this gang but Sally Bruce, president of the GWI Club? Other officers are Judy Schaffer, vice-president; Harriet Wells, secretary; Kathryn Polk, treasurer; and Ann Butler, publicity chairman.

You may remember seeing last fall a group of girls in black-tail coats, black bermudas, top hats, and canes. They can be identified as new members of the club. Seniors were Kay Shaffer and Ruth Hunt; Prissy Wryick, junior; and Sudie Davis, Jane Golden, Judie Turner, Robin Farr, Ann West, Patsy Phillips, and Berkeley Hornaday, sophomores. An honorary member from Salem is Page Bradham.

The girls' adviser is Mrs. Cullen French, and they have just ordered pins, which will be dark green and silver.

They have participated in all drives and try to have a minimum of five projects a year.

Their activities this year have included a fish fry at Thanksgiving, a football wiener roast followed by an open house October 26, and a progressive dinner during the Christmas holidays.

The club members are planning their annual dance with the Les Souers.

They also are making indefinite plans for a beach trip the second week-end in May, and they plan to make a whole week of it in the summer.

VENETTES
Thursday, December 20, the VENETTES met at Merry Wrye's home for a caroling party. A Plantation party, December 22, highlighted the girls' Christmas activities.

WST
The night after Christmas, the WST Club members attended a dance given by Linda Williams at Vicks Clubhouse. The girls are planning a slumber party after the Widwinters Dance January 23. Although a definite date has not been set, plans are being made for their Plantation party sometime in February.

LSP
December 27 was a big day for the members of the LSP Club. After their dance "Mistletoe Mist," at Sedgefield Manor with the DDT's, the girls had a breakfast at Susan Brook's home and later joined at the home of Helen White for a slumber party. A progressive dinner party is planned for February 2.

Junior Red Cross Girls Buy Gifts For Veterans

Girls in the Greensboro Senior High School Chapter of the American Junior Red Cross participated in their first major project of the year Saturday, January 12.

The organization purchased for the Greensboro Chapter House approximately 200 gifts for men who are recuperating in various Veterans Hospitals. One hundred and fifty of these were bingo prizes and included such things as key chains, puzzles, and toothpaste. The other 50 were birthday gifts and included socks, books, shaving cream, and photo frames. In order to make these gifts more personal the girls wrapped each gift as attractively as possible.

Rachel Jessup and Angelyn Stokes, juniors, and Carole Newton, Ann Wheeler, and Helen White, seniors, served as members of a central planning committee. Margie Rose, senior, is president of the GHS chapter of the Red Cross.

Victory Now Features 'Tea and Sympathy'

By Angie Davis

The next two weeks of this month are predicted to be exciting and pleasurable ones at the VICTORY THEATRE. Four delightful shows will be playing which you should not miss.

Today and tomorrow, "Tea and Sympathy," starring Deborah Kerr and John Kerr, will be shown.

"The Proud and the Beautiful," a French drama and love story, will begin January 20 and continue through the 23. It stars Michele Morgan and Gerald Philippe, two French performers.

January 24 through 26, June Alyson will head a cast of wonderful stars in a rollicking comedy, "The Opposite Sex."

Coming January 27 is a spine-tingling movie, "Julie." Doris Day takes a tensely dramatic role, for the man to whom she is married (Louis Jourdan) is bent on her murder. The police are not convinced of her peril until almost too late.—Ad.
