School Will Conduct Science Fair In Gymnasium Balcony Next Month

GHS will conduct its third annual Science Fair March 21-22 in the balcony of the boys' gym.

Thursday, March 21, will be the day for setting up projects and judging them. Students will set up their projects during the day and the judges will evaluate the projects that night.

During Friday, March 22, students and the public will be invited to visit the fair. Students probably will tour the fair during the day, and the general public will probably be invited that night.

Engineers to Help

The Junior Engineers Club has volunteered its services to Mrs. Kate Everhart, chairman of the fair. They will likely be in charge of securing guides and will aid in the setting up of the fair. This involves such things as arranging to obtain electric power for all projects requiring it. Also water and gas will have to be transported into the balcony of the gym in some manner.

Los Condes, a Senior High service club, has also offered its services in connection with the fair.

Something which should make this year's fair special is the plans for televising the fair. If things go as planned, the fair will be shown over WUNC-TV, the educational station of the University of North Carolina. Time for the broadcast is tentatively scheduled for 8 to 9 Friday night.

To Borrow Tables

Tables will be secured from various schools and brought to Senior. They will be set up so that there is a row of tables along the wall of the gym balcony, and a row of tables along the railing.

According to the regulations of the North Carolina Science Fairs, projects will have a maximum size of three feet by four feet. All biology and chemistry students are required to enter a project in the fair.

There will be three winners each in the biology and physical science divisions, making a total of six blue-ribbon winners. As of yet, the number of other winners has not been announced.

Below is pictured Torchlight member Allen Thomas as he "taps" two fellow classmen into the honor society. On the left he has asked Wallace Williams, junior to "follow me", and on the right he is waiting to bring Alec Decker, senior, to the stage.

Torchlight Inducts 30 New Members Into Local Chapter In Spring Tapping

Torchlight, GHS chapter of the National Honor Society, conducted its annual spring tapping Wednesday, February 13, in the auditorium, during which time 18 seniors and 12 juniors were inducted.

New members, chosen for their accomplishments along the lines of scholarship, leadership, service, and character, were Joe Bowles, Ann Butler, Larry Brown, and Alec Decker from the Senior Class.

Also from semester eight were Henry Flynt, Al Hattaway, Joe Hensley, Mary Lou Hutton, and Cecil Little. Jane Lynch, Linda Myers, Jane Parkins, and Jim Phillips were among those chosen. Completing the senior list were Katherine Polk, Judy Shallant, Kay Weston, Kay Wood, and Pollyann Young.

Among the 12 juniors to be received into the honor society were Connie Coltrane, Jey Deifell, Sandra Holderness, and Meyressa Hughes. Lynn McGregor, Jean Medearis, Laura Pearce, and Add Penfield were also recognized as inductees. Completing the roll of new members were Peggy Sink, Edgar Sockwell, Wallace Williams, and Prissy Wyrick.

Candlelight Service

The traditional service, conducted in the auditorium by candlelight, was presided over by Jean Ogburn, president. The advanced girls' glee club, accompanied by Nancy Hewett, pianist, and Jan Phillips and Janice Thompson, violinists, provided the music, Ave Maria.

Speeches summarizing the four basic qualities necessary for membership were given by Jane McLennan for scholarship; Rick Aderhold, leadership; Elwood Hartman, service; and Maranell Pear-sall, character.

Now Has 55 Members

Torchlight now has 55 members. To be eligible for the organization one must maintain a 90 average and be elected by his classmates, the faculty, Torchlight members, and a special committee.

The next project for the Torchlight group will be the Torchlight Talent Show to be given March 12. Rick Aderhold is in charge of this program and has a committee of Torchlight members to assist in its preparation.

Last year only 26 new members were inducted in the spring tapping. This time there was an addition of one senior over the 17 chosen last year and three more juniors than before. The juniors inducted in 1956 were Doug Albright, David Craig, Libby Garvin, Buck Hoyle, Nancy Lambeth, Camille Merriman, Jean Ogburn, Karl Ray (who is now attending Indian Springs School for Boys in Alabama), and James Spence.

Parkins Represents GHS At World Affairs Meeting

Jane Parkins, senior, represented GHS in Chapel Hill February 14 at the Seventh Annual Conference on World Affairs arranged by the University of North Carolina Extension Division.

Approximately 350 delegates representing women's organizations, high schools, and student exchange programs throughout the state, were present at the conference which carried out the theme "Toward a World at Peace."

The morning session was opened with a talk about the conference theme by the Honorable Edith Green, member of Congress from Oregon.

After lunch, the group split up into five discussion groups and met again to report on their individual subjects.

Dr. Bernard Boyd, who is a James A. Gray professor of Biblical Literature at the University of North Carolina, closed the session with a talk about "A Moral Foundation for International Politics." Dr. Boyd raised the point that "peace will not come through hatred, but through understanding and love," and he expressed the belief that "nations will cease fighting among themselves when they all face a common enemy, such as a disease powerful enough to require the cooperation of all nations."

Other delegates from Greensboro were Beth Sellers, Bessemer, and Mrs. J. R. Chrismon, Mrs. Augustus Byers, and Mrs. C. B. Culbreth, Greensboro Woman's Club representatives.

May Day Committee Headed By Merriman

Bill O'Brien, Student Council president, has recently appointed Camille Merriman, council member, to serve as chairman of the 1957 May Day committee.

Serving with Camille are Jim Phillips and Susan Brooks, seniors; Wallace Williams, junior; and Carol Eichorn, sophomore. Mrs. Jean Newman, May Day adviser, and Mrs. Eleanor Lambert, dance adviser, are working with the committee members.

The committee will meet again soon to choose the decorations, programs, and props committee chairmen who will come from those seniors who signed the list passed around to the senior home rooms, and also from other council members.

The theme of this year's May Day will be kept secret until the day of the program, but, according to Camille, many more boys will be needed this year. It will also be necessary to select students to lead the dances other than the minuet, to be done by the May Court, and the Maypole Dance, which the girls' physical education classes will do.

The committee of council members will order the flowers for the girls in the May court.

Prissy Wyrick Chosen State Treasurer of JCL

Prissy Wyrick, junior, was elected state treasurer at the sixth State Junior Classical League Convention in Chapel Hill, Saturday, February 9, when over 33 clubs were represented by more than 1200 JCL members. Prissy was the only candidate for treasurer and was unanimously elected.

She is actually the second person from Senior to hold an office in the state convention. Paddy Sue Wall served as vice-president in 1954 and during the following year was elected president.

Prissy is vice-president of the local chapter at Senior and has served as vice-president of her Sophomore and Junior Classes.

Greensboro was represented by 60 Latin students accompanied by Miss Mildred Maddox and Mrs. Mary Madlin, Latin teachers from Senior. Twenty-two students from Aycock were guests at the convention.

Dr. Ullman, a central figure in the American Classical League, which is the parent organization of the National Junior Classical League, was the sponsor of the convention. Dr. Ullman is a resident of North Carolina and father of the North Carolina Junior Classical League. He is also the author of the Latin books which are used at Senior High School.

The convention met in Memorial Hall at the University of North Carolina. Many students present at that convention will attend the National Convention in Colorado this summer.
