Page High School Offers Many Extras to Students

When some of us students at Senior gather together, one of the main topics of our discussions seems to be the new Walter Hines Page High School. It seems that many of us wonder if this school is conducted much like our own or on an entirely different basis. Her are some of the answers to our curiosities.

Service Clubs

Page High, like GHS, has several school-sponsored clubs. Those in existence now are the Key Club, Junior Civitan Club, and the Junior Optimist Club. Rusty Taylor, sophomore, is serving as the present president of the Key Club. The Junior Civitans have elected Marc Harris, sophomore, as their president, and the Junior Optimists have chosen Ronnie Jordan, senior, to head their activities for the coming year.

Newspaper

PAGES FROM PAGE is the school newspaper, and an annual has begun its operations. However, a name has not yet been selected for the annual, Susan Noah, senior, is the present editor of the newspaper, while the yearbook has not established its staff.

Page students have a 55 minute lunch period, and they are allowed to leave the campus for lunch, if they have the ever-popular lunch permits. Smoking is also permitted in a designated area.

510 Enrollment

Of 510 students, 320 are sophomores, 199 are juniors, and 71 are graduating seniors. Some of the students, when interviewed, express feelings of dislike as far as the new school is concerned. One sophomore girl and boy remarked, "We don't like the classes and we also miss those who were in junior high with us and are now juniors and seniors over at Greensboro High School." Two junior girls said "This school offers many more opportunities in all subjects and activities than were available at Senior." One boy, a senior, feels that the student body is too small and wishes it were larger so that he would have the opportunity to meet more and more students.

Senior High Enrollment Takes Dip This Year

Greensboro Senior High School opened the term with 1744 students enrolled, a decrease of 179 from the previous year.

The decline, the first since 1948, is due to the opening of Walter Hines Page High School in Greensboro. Page has enrolled 510 students, sophomore graduates of Aycock and Proximity Junior High Schools, and junior and senior transfers from Senior High.

Graduates of Central, Gillespie Park, Kiser, and Lindley Junior High Schools continue to be assigned to GHS.

Boys at Senior High number 849, and girls number 895. There are 520 seniors, 534 juniors, and 680 sophomores. Seniors are in 17 home rooms; juniors, in 16; and sophomores, in 22.

About 72 transfer students entered Senior High for the 1958-59 term. They came from Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Maryland, West Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and California.

The decrease from last year's near-2000 enrollment has resulted in a noticeable lessening of traffic congestion and crowded conditions at Senior High, a

School To Crown Homecoming Queen

GHS's 1958 Homecoming Queen, selected by the student body in balloting Wednesday, September 24, from a Homecoming Court of 21 girls, will be crowned at half-time tonight to reign over the Homecoming Game festivities.

The identity of the queen is to be kept secret until the actual announcement by Senior Class president, David Liner. The girls themselves will not be aware which one is queen.

Team Chooses Court

Each senior member of the varsity team was eligible to nominate one senior girl to the Homecoming Court. The student body elected the queen from that Court. In previous years the Homecoming Queen has been selected at large by the football squad.

In the night's activities the Court and their escorts will be presented, then the runner-up will be announced and presented with a bouquet, and the queen announced and crowned. The Court will leave the field in convertibles.

Court Listed

The members of the Homecoming Court, their sponsors and escorts are Jane Bundy, sponsored by Bill Swofford, escorted by Jimmy Harris; Susan Caviness, sponsored by Bill Hinshaw, escorted by Hal Greeson; Mary Wallace Clement, sponsored by Bill Evans, escorted by Tootie Blair;

The post-game open house will be conducted in honor of the football squad and Homecoming Court.

Susan Caviness Named Chambers "Miss Flame"

The Greensboro Chamber of Commerce's new Miss Flame is Susan Caviness, a senior. She was chosen Sunday afternoon, September 21, at 4:30 p.m. over runners-up Pat Hutchins and Sandra Sharpe, both seniors. She will help promote the city's Fire Prevention Program with personal appearances, which begin September 22.

September 16, ten girls were asked by the Greensboro Fire Department to participate in the Miss Flame Contest. Each contestant was required to make a two min-

Council Corner

By Jerry Robertson

Your Student Council has been working for the past two weeks on sophomore elections and the annual Homecoming ceremonies, both of which occur about the same time this year.

Robin Farr, chairman of Homecoming, and her committee have devised a new and different program for the September 26 spectacular half-time show. Details concerning the new plan are given in the High Life article about Homecoming.

Lunch-time recreation was begun Wednesday, September 17, in the Girls' Gym. There are ping-pong tables and a jukebox provided. If there are any suggestions for new games to improve the lunch-time recreational facilities, your council would appreciate it if the suggestions would be turned in to Mrs. Newman in room 305.

There have been several requests for lunch-time study halls. They cannot be set up yet because of lack of space.
