Whiteside Heads Sophomores

GHS sophomores went to the polls Wednesday, October 1, and picked Tommy Whiteside to head their class for the 1958-59 school year.

Tommy, a member of the Jayvee football squad and former officer of Kiser Junior High, defeated Rodolph Gibbs, the only other candidate for class president.

The other sophomore officers will be Dennis Saunders, vice-president; Ann Winchester, secretary; and Sam Garren, treasurer.

The Sophomore Class enrollment permits nine student council representatives and nine Youth Recreation Council members.

Youth Recreation Members

Youth Recreation Council members will be Jeannie Anderson, Martha McKee, Ann Starr Minton, Suzanne Mock, Linda Pearman, Becky Rountree, Lewanna Stewart, Betty Welch, and Diana Wellons.

Defeated in the Wednesday balloting were Rodolph Gibbs, president; Charles Thompson, vice-president; Nancy Helton, secretary; and Jean Schaffer, treasurer. Student Council: Sandra Boyles, Jimmy Bullock, Jeanne Burwell, Becky Byerly, Karen Gill, Sheila Johnson, Dale Keller, Peggy King, Dale Mauldin. Youth Recreation Council: Sue Foster, Suzanne Kiser, Brenda Lentz, Pat Newton, Kathryn Pledger, Tam Slade, James Team, and Judy Watson.

Homeroom Primaries

The sophomores voted in home room primaries, Monday, September 29, to narrow down the candidates for major offices to two each, and the candidates for representative offices to 18. Before homeroom primaries seven candidates had announced for vice-president, three for secretary, five for treasurer, 28 for Student Council, and 29 for Youth Recreation Council.

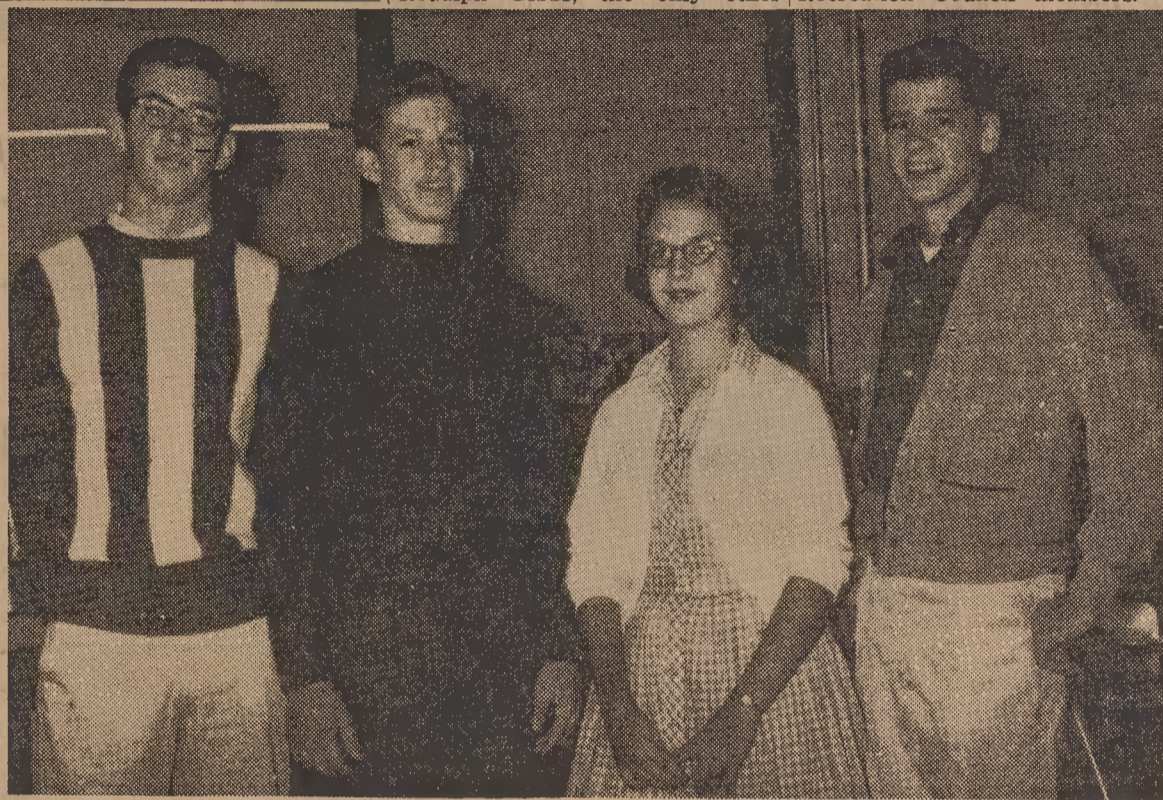

All sophomores voted in the home room primaries but only those who registered voted in the final ballot.

Vice-presidential candidates eliminated Monday were Mary Bradley, Gloria Griffin, Bobby Morphis, Lois Moser, and Dale Neese. Sue Allbright was eliminated from the secretary's race, and Nancy Lynn Hammond, Sharon Parrish, and Betsy Pickard, were dropped as candidates for treasurer.

Losing Out

Losing out Monday for Student Council representatives were Ann Brimm, Sharon Eldridge, Adele Freedman, Jimmy Horsman, Alice Hubner, Holly Kowall, Boyd Perry, Pam Pfaff, Jo Jane Pitt, and Shirley Truitt.

Dropped from the Youth Recreation Council ballot were Johnny Baker, Gary Brittenham, Joan Clark, Harriett Eiler, Kathleen Greer, Joanne Oliver, Marie Roberson, Becky Sharpe, Emily Skenes, Sarah Welch, and Sue Wright.

Shown above are the officers elected by the Sophomore Class October 1. They are Tommy Whiteside, president, Dennis Saunders, vice-president; Ann Winchester, secretary, and Sam Garren, treasurer. The sophomores also elected nine Student Council and nine Youth Council representatives.

Quill and Scroll Members Judge Candidates' Writing

Prospective members of Quill and Scroll turned in a sample piece of writing to Mrs. Jean Newman, Wednesday, October 8, as qualifications for membership.

A few changes have been made in the membership rules this year. Any junior or senior was qualified for membership, provided they showed some writing ability, a sincere interest in the club, and presented their name by a certain date. These are the ones now being considered for membership.

The first meeting will be announced. This year's club will strive to improve in writing, and each member will write something to be discussed and criticized at each meeting. Meetings are planned for the second and fourth

The main project of the group is to publish and compile the literary magazine, Homespun. Material will be collected throughout the year until the magazine comes out next spring.

At the end of the year, the club will present awards to several of its members. A $25 scholarship will be given to the best writer and a cup to the most outstanding member.

27 GHS Seniors Compete As Scholarships Semi-Finalists

Twenty-seven seniors from Greensboro High School have been recently named as semifinalists by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

The above students will face a three hours test, the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board to be given December 6 and those repeating high scores will be finalists in the competition. There are approximately 10,000 semifinalists who outscored some 479,000 others in the qualifying test given last April.

Homecoming Queen Is Senior Sheila Sapero

When Senior High students voted September 24, they elected Sheila Sapero to reign as queen over the September 26 Homecoming Game festivities.

The queen's identity was a well-guarded secret until the game.

After the presentation of the 21 girls of the Homecoming Court, the runner-up, Robin Farr, was presented with a bouquet. Then Sheila was announced to be the queen and crowned by Senior Class president Dave Liner.

The Homecoming Queen was selected under the new system devised by the Student Council. Mondays of each month.

Ellen Fields Heading Senior's Cheerleaders

Senior High's 11 cheerleaders, already veterans of five games, are being led this year by Ellen Fields, senior.

Remaining from last year's squad are the seniors Sheila Sapero, Kay Smith, and Paul Harrell, and juniors Penny Taliaferro and Jimmy McGee. The five newly selected cheerleaders are Jenna Ward, senior; Sue Ann Wrenn, Christina Stewart, and juniors; and Jimmy Thompson and Betty Welch, sophomores. These new cheerleaders were picked by judges Mrs. Yvonne Utley, physical education teacher at Page, Miss Pat Basinger, Youth Recreation Adviser; Mrs. Eleanor Lambert, physical education teacher at Senior; and Miss Doris Hutchinson, physical education director in the city schools.

Again this year, Mrs. Lambert is the cheerleaders' adviser.
