Service Club Council Undergoes Big Snafu

GHS's four service clubs have been indulging recently in a little good-natured feuding within the Inter-Service Club Council.

Last year some folks from the Key Club, Los Condes, Junior Civitans, and Junior Civinettes got together and decided it would be a good idea to form a council to co-ordinate their projects. A constitution was drawn up and duly approved, requiring that the clubs file their projects with the council (not to be confused with the Inter-Social Club Council) and providing a penalty for a club that duplicated another's project.

A few weeks ago, the Junior Civitans were fined five dollars for undertaking a project which had been previously decided upon as a joint venture for all the clubs.

Later the Key Club started a campaign that is usually conducted by Los Condes. In retaliation the Los Condes facetiously filed for permission to publish the student directory which has been the Key Club's major project for the last ten years.

Remarkd one observer, "If things get much more confused, you'll have Los Condes boys out hoisting the Civitan victory flags, Charlie Garren inside the Los Condes Whirlie Bird suit, and a Civinette presiding at the next Key Club meeting."

Members Of Key Club Continue Many Projects

Key Club members are helping pay the hospital expenses of Roger Hobbs along with the other service clubs of GHS.

During the football season, the Key Club took underprivileged children to our home football games.

The Key Club has provided a school directory and a football brochure to all students so far this year and they are now getting ready to put out a basketball brochure which will contain information about all the players and some pictures of the team.

"And It Came To Pass"

Seniors Present Christmas Pageant To Students For Today's Assembly

Greensboro Senior High School's Senior Class presented "The Christmas Story" to the members of the student body today.

The play was under the direction of Mrs. Nellie Blackburn, dean of students. Miss Maunida Wales, Spanish teacher, and Miss Ida Belle Moore, head of the Math Department assisted Mrs. Blackburn.

Rehearsals for the play got under way several weeks ago. Since then rehearsals have been conducted regularly, committees set up, and settings painted.

Scene one of "The Christmas Story" was Mary in Nazareth. Mary was portrayed by Jane Thompson.

Scene two, The Annunciation, included Mary and the Angel Gabriel played by Sue Snow. Appearing in the next scene, Leaving Home, were Mary; Joseph, Bill Hinshaw; Mary's Mother, Angie Davis; soldiers, Ed Newman and Jim McCarthy; and the women and child at the well. The women were Judy Williams, Kathryn Martus, Virginia Thomas, Mary Ellen Honeycutt, and Kay Edwards. Jill Williams was the child.

No Room At The Inn was the fourth scene which included Mary and Joseph; the Inn Keeper, Gerald Albert; the Inn Keeper's Wife, Nancy Williams; a beggar, Bill Rood; the rich man, Ted Sturm; and his servant, Chick Aydelette, as well as the women on the street who were Martha Spence, Kay Glidewell, and Sandra Coe. The two soldiers were in this scene as were two other men, played by Pen Waldron and Sonny Apple.

Scene five was Shepherds Abiding in which Bill Pemberton, Mackie Stout, Sto Fox, and Bobby Whittington appeared as the shepherds and Terry Stout appeared as the little shepherd. The angels in the scene were Sue Snow, Carolyn Lyday, Linda Sue Cates, Deanna Daktor, Phyllis Hodges, Pam Kasey, Margaret Lester, Dottie Sherrill as well as Joan Tew, Sandra Tolley, Ann Holmes, Robin Farr, Mary Win Corcoran, Jane Bundy, Carolyn Key, Pat Smith, Genie Sykes, Martha DeVane, Martha Jordan, Pat Pringle, and Bobbie Loverin.

In A Manger, scene six, had Mary Joseph; two small angels,

Susan Davis and Patricia Allred; and the shepherds.

Scene seven, The Wise Men, included Neil Jennings, David Patrick, and Donnie Elliott. The next scene was Herod and The Wise Men. Bill Evans was King Herod, Tommy Steed, his servant; Sonny Apple, the chief priest; and Penn Waldron and Don Brame, scribes; and the wise men.

The Wise Men Find Christ, the next scene, included all those in scene six plus the wise men.

The program ended with The Fulfillment.

The readers were Carolyn Marks, Sandra Sharpe, and Danny Hurst.

GHS Clubs Plan Drive To Aid Roger Hobbs

Service clubs and other Senior High organizations have volunteered to participate in a drive to raise funds for the benefit of Roger Hobbs, star half-back of the 1956 GHS football squad, who has been bed-ridden with a serious illness for most of the past two years.

The clubs will work in a joint sales campaign after the Christmas holidays.

Penny Taliaferro, junior, and Robin Farr, senior, are heading the project.

Student body president Jerry Robertson has taken charge of arranging a benefit musical performance to be conducted sometime in January, possibly at Aycock Auditorium.

Robin and Penny are also contacting adult groups in the city. A post office box to which individual contributions can be sent will be secured.

The present Whirlie team declined its annual Rotary Club luncheon two weeks ago, asking that the amount usually spent be sent to Roger.

According to a GREENSBORO RECORD article, Roger appreciates receiving cards. His address is 1612 North Benbow Road or Wesley Long Hospital.

Open Houses Doomed!

It is with deep regret that I must announce that the very successful Open Houses that have been held at West Market Street Methodist Church are in danger of being closed due to the misconduct of a few individuals. It is my hope that this attempt to improve the city's recreation will not fall by the way-side as some other attempts have because of the vandalistic conducts of those few.

Kay Smith.

Student Council Sponsors New School Spirit Week

GHS student council members are sponsoring a new project: a week set aside for school spirit, including an election of a Mr. and Miss School Spirit representative from each class.

Lila Wolff, chairman, and her committee members, Ellen Fields, head cheerleader, Sheila Sapero, chairman of the youth recreation committee, and Randy Blackwell, representing the student body, have arranged several projects to increase school spirit during the week of December 14-19. School Spirit Week is observed not only to create a greater increase in attendance at the athletic events, but greater attention toward the Honor Code and other events that are directly connected with the school.

The slogan for School Spirit Week was "A school with no spirit is like eggnog with no kick!" A dummy was hung under the clock in effigy of Lynchburg High School which said "Lynch Lynchburg!" The week was begun by Sheila Sapero with a devotional and was ended by Roger Durham with a final speech on Friday.
