

Dr. Redhead To Deliver Graduation Baccalaureate

Dr. John R. Redhead of the First Presbyterian Church of Greensboro will deliver the baccalaureate sermon for Senior High's Class of 1959.

The date set for the baccalaureate services is Sunday, May 31.

Dr. Redhead is a nationally recognized clergyman whose sermons have appeared in several published anthologies, and is himself the author of several books on religious subjects.

The baccalaureate service is being conducted this year at the First Presbyterian Church in accordance with the custom of rotating annually between the city's three largest churches, the First Baptist, Methodist, and Presbyterian Churches.

The annual tea sponsored by the faculty for the graduating seniors has been scheduled for May 20.

Class Day will be observed Thursday, May 28. The Class Day committee, under seniors Angie Davis and Carolyn Marks, is already under way with plans for the observance.

Examinations for the spring semester will begin Friday, May 29.

Commencement exercises are scheduled for Thursday, June 4. No announcement has been made in regard to the commencement speaker.

Senior Girls Selected Chairmen of Class Day

Angie Davis and Carolyn Marks are to act as chairmen of plans for the annual Class Day, announced Mrs. Joann Taylor, chairman of the faculty advisory committee for this production.

Plans are under way for the two hour program. Carolyn and Angie will be in charge of the casting and directing committees, from which numerous committees branch out.

Sue Snow will be chairman of the script committee. Working with her on the composition of Class Day will be Frank Harmon, Jane Gibson, Sandra Coe, Richard Windham, Sue Ellen Barker, Sto Fox, and Sheila Sapero.

The program, as has been the custom in the past years will remain a secret until the actual day of the presentation. In the past the programs have been a satire picturing the school, its teachers and principle, and some of the humorous and other not so humorous things that happen about old GHS.

June Rubin has been chosen to direct the art work on the scenery and props. She will announce her committee at a later date.

In charge of the stage crew will be Maurice Jones, while the program committee will be under the direction of Mackie Stout and Tommy Edwards, vice president and treasurer of the senior class.

There are still many vacancies in committees to be filled and all seniors are requested to sign with Mrs. Taylor in room 304, Mrs. Julia Roe in room 200, Mrs. Frances Wilder in room 102, or Miss Mildred Maddox in room 303. Seniors may also sign with Carolyn Marks or Angie Davis.

The Class Day is a presentation of the Senior Class entirely and all Seniors are urged to contribute their parts to the production of this event in order that it may be the best in the history of the school.

Group Laying Plans For History Society

Plans are under way at GHS for the formation of a history honor society dedicated to stimulating an interest in history and allied subjects.

A steering committee of interested students and faculty members met Friday, February 20, to consider plans of organization.

Bill Hinshaw, senior, is serving as chairman of the steering committee.

The proposals which are being drawn up into a constitution provide that the history group would be limited to students making honor grades in history and evidencing an enthusiasm for discussing and doing research on current affairs.

Other members of the committee are seniors Angie Davis, Martha Jordan, Bob Stanley and Clyde Wilson; juniors Lynn Westmoreland, Henry Poole, and Sue Wade; and Miss Mary Ellen Blackmon, Mrs. Kay Pfaff, and Robert Fredrickson of the faculty.

The constitution will be considered at the next meeting, Sunday, March 1.

DE '59 State Convention Meets At O. Henry Hotel

Fifteenth Annual State Convention of North Carolina Distributive Education Clubs convened at the O'Henry Hotel last Friday and Saturday.

Highlights of the festivities were the annual banquet and dance Friday evening and the various contests between clubs and districts.

Benjie Spears, State Editor and GHS Distributive Education President, ran for the office of President of the State D.E. organization. The speech contest representative from Greensboro was Mary Lee Simpson, who spoke on Professional Salesmanship.

Other contests which took place during the convention covered various phases of D.E. activities. These contests were: Job Interview in which the actual interviews took place in the personnel offices of two of the local stores in Greensboro, Ad Layout and Copywriting, and the contest for the best Club Activities Manual. There were also an Outstanding Student Award and a Club Achievement Award.

Attendance

Attendance to the convention is limited with each club selecting delegates. The GHS representatives were Gerald Long, Barry Cockman, and Patsy Bowman, delegates, and Mike Fulcher, a district officer.

Civinettes Present Check To Library For Records

Pat Hutchins, president of Junior Civinettes, in behalf of the club has presented the Senior High library with $87.50, which will be used to purchase 23 phonograph records, including "Little Women," "The Necklace," "David Copperfield," "Les Miserables," "Tale of Terror," "Ivanhoe," and "Tom Sawyer."

Miss Mildred Herring, librarian, stated that this is the first check given to the library by a service club since she has been at Senior.

There is no budget set up to include the purpose of educational phonograph records, and for that reason the librarians are especially thankful for this donation and any others which may be contributed.

Coach Bob Jamieson talks with part of his Whirlie powerhouse that will face Salisbury tonight in an important conference contest. Shown are starters Stick Wilson, Bob Jamieson Jr., Randy Blackwell, and Larry Hudson. The Whirlies are almost a sure bet for the State AAA tournament starting March 11.

Council Corner

By Jerry Robertson

Why go to school? Is it to hear the latest gossip, gals, or to race around the campus in that hot car, fellows? Think about the real reason—to make ourselves ready to take the responsibilities as good citizens of tomorrow. How do we do this? We do it by taking advantage of everything offered by the school to better ourselves. Let's not pass up our last opportunities for free education.

"Some students . . . are like wheelbarrows . . . no good unless pushed; . . . are like canoes . . . need to be paddled; . . . are like kites . . . if you don't keep a string on them they fly away; . . . are like footballs . . . you can't tell which way they will bounce next; . . . are like neon lights . . . off as much as they are on; . . . are like trailers . . . have to be pulled to get them to move."
