Thompson, Whiteside Compete With UNC Scholarship Finalists

Charles Thompson and Tommy Whiteside, seniors, have been selected as two of the forty finalists for the Morehead Scholarship Competition.

The scholarship appropriates $1250 yearly, beginning in 1960, but the figure is subject to change any year. Any winner who does not choose to attend the University of North Carolina, has to forfeit the scholarship.

Tommy has served the school in many capacities, including serving as president of the sophomore class of 1958-59, and president of the band, as well as president of Senior High this year.

He is an active member of Guilford Park Presbyterian Church, and plans to major in religion and eventually become a missionary. His favorite extra-curricular activities are hunting and fishing.

What was Tommy's first reaction when he learned he was a Morehead finalist? "My mother told me when I walked in the door," he laughed. "I don't know."

Charles, who has been home room president for three years, is now serving as vice-president of Torchlight Honor Society, vice-president of Key Club, and president of the Spanish Honor Society. He has just finished serving as Chairman of Honor Code Day Committee.

Quill And Scroll Screens Works For HOMESPUN

Quill and Scroll, according to adviser Mrs. Jean Newman, is still screening manuscripts for HOMESPUN.

Manuscripts may be submitted in room 305 by any GHS student.

HOMESPUN is an all-school publication, containing poetry or prose writings submitted by students and approved by Quill and Scroll.

Linda Scher, sophomore; Ann Barham, junior; and Grace Penny, junior, were inducted into Quill and Scroll on Monday, January 23.

Mrs. Thompson informed her son, also, and Charles commented with a grin, "I thought it was a good deal," when questioned about his first reaction.

He enjoys tennis, reading, and "smoking my pipe." Charles wants to be a professor of philosophy so that he will also have the opportunity to write.

Tommy and Charles have applied to the University of North Carolina, Duke University, Davidson, which they visited Wednesday, January 25, and Harvard, which is their preference.

Out of fifteen applicants from this district, five boys were chosen. Mr. John Motley Morehead will make the final decision concerning the number of boys to receive his scholarship.

Fred Wedler, 1959 Senior High graduate is now studying at UNC on such a scholarship which he won two years ago.

Medical Club Members Plan State Hospital Visit

Seven members of the Medical Club visited the North Carolina Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill February 10.

Students making the trip which was sponsored by the Greensboro Heart Association, are Mary Frances Lund, Bob Buchanan, and Dave Meyer, seniors, and Martha McMakin, Sandra Parker, Joyce Weinrich, and Sammy Pegram, juniors.

Jo Ann Knight, Betti McNairy, and Camilla Walters, juniors were alternates.

In Chapel Hill the seven who went viewed the latest machines and heard of the latest developments in medical research. They met with eight students interested in medical careers from Winston-Salem.

At the January 30 evening meeting of the organization, Dr. George T. Wolfe, a Greensboro physician, told the club members of his duties as a family doctor and of the satisfaction he derives from his work.

Forty-Nine Pupils Make Special Honor Roll List

Forty-nine students place their names on the special honor roll list for the last six weeks grading period of the first semester.

In the senior class from homeroom 7, Jeannie Anderson claims special honors. Room 103 boasts Sandra Boyles, Judy Brady, and Bob Buchanan, while room 206 claims only one special honor roll student, Wayne Daniel.

From room 17 come Joel Drinkard, Mary Kay Duncan, and Adele Freedman. Room H.E. 202 boasts Celeste Frontis, Twink Gaskins, Don Grimes, and Irene Gulleddge, and from homeroom M202 are Jess MacFarland, and Bill McNairy.

Honor Society Inducts 14 Seniors, 7 Juniors

Members of the Torchlight National Honor Society inducted 14 seniors and 7 juniors at the semi-annual induction ceremony February 14.

Seniors inducted were Suzanne Anderson, Patsy Boone, Judy Brady, Bob Buchanan, Joel Drinkard, Gene Eagle, and Harriett Eiler. The remaining seniors inducted are Adele Freedman, Cherrie Miller, John Monroe, Lois Moser, Dale Neese, Caralee Pruitt, and Tommy Sloan.

The seven juniors inducted were Barbara Barney, Pete Bondanella, Cecie Boren, Sherry Kellett, Libby McComb, Sherrill Newnam, and Carol Sheets.

Short speeches were made on the four qualities considered for induction: scholarship, leadership, service, and character. Don Grimes, senior, spoke on scholarship; Bill McNairy, senior, spoke on leadership; Virginia Harmon, senior, spoke on service; and Sandra Boyles, senior, spoke on character.

Pam Pfaff, president of Torchlight, presided over the program, and Sam Garren, senior, gave the devotions.

Mrs. Mary Madlin and Miss Sara Mims are the advisers for Torchlight. Mrs. Madlin accepted the students into Torchlight.

A previous activity of Torchlight was its annual midwinter party for the new members tapped in the fall at the home of Irene Gulleddge.

Speech Contest Features United Nations Subject

"Resolved: That the United Nations Should Be Significantly Increased" will be the topic of this year's speech contest, according to Miss Mozelle Causey, speech teacher.

This subject is one of many such contests this year to present opportunities to students wishing to try their hand at public speaking. The United Nation's subject will be discussed pro and con.

Greensboro Senior High has been placed in the usual triangle with High Point High School and Winston-Salem Reynolds High School for this first competition.

Both of the other contests deal with a different aspect of the United Nations, and each will pay the winner well. The "High School World Peace Study" is sponsoring competition on the question of "The United Nations and World Peace." The first prize is a three-day trip to the UN.

The Oddfellows organization will sponsor a speech contest on the same subject. The winner will be awarded a two-week trip to the UN and the New England states in June. These two contests will take place at Senior in March.

Knights of Pythias will award a $500 scholarship to the winner of the competition "Changes That I Would Make." In a previous contest sponsored by this group, Senior had a first place national winner, winner of the fourth place in the nation, and two other students who went into the semifinals.

Boys under 16 years of age are invited to participate in a contest sponsored by the Optimist Club having as its subject "Optimism—Ingredient to True Leadership."

Miss Causey has been asked by the club to work with boys from all the different schools. Thirty-seven boys have enlisted her help.

As the semester continues, there will be other speech contests open to high school students. Miss Causey suggests that anyone interested stop by room 106 and check the bulletin board.

For those who would rather write than speak, there are contests available on the subjects of "Employ the Physically Handicapped" and "Opportunities in Agriculture." These two essay competitions will award college scholarships and cash prizes.
