

Climb Off Your See-Saw!

There are some third graders at GHS!

No, they are not eight years old; they haven't come from Brooks to have lunch at Senior; as a matter of fact, these "children" are GHS students who act like children only part of the time—at lunch.

You don't have to be a detective to discover who they are. They can easily be spotted at the tray counter every day. They are the ones who break in the lunch line in order to get their lunch first with complete disregard for other students' rights.

For a week or two, some members of the traffic squad were placed in the cafeteria to see that no one broke into the lunch line. No one broke in line, and the line moved faster than it has since school started.

But why should these measures be necessary? Shouldn't high school students be mature enough to realize that breaking in line is a childish act? Do students at GHS really have to be regimented and kept under strict surveillance? Unfortunately, the answer seems to be yes; yes, at least until some members of the GHS student body decide now is the time to grow up.

A Good Example --- Mr. Ben L. Smith

Each person, in striving to reach his highest goals, should try to help, to enrich, to better, to somehow influence the lives of those whom he meets. Since each of us must have some goal, some high purpose to follow, let us all try to become citizens who would ever imitate the example of Mr. Ben L. Smith.

Mr. Smith's constant dedication to the furthering of education in both our city and in North Carolina will serve as an ever-present reminder of the great tasks and rewards given to those people who choose teaching as a career. With a bright word and a cheerful smile for all whom he met, Mr. Smith soon found many friends after moving to Greensboro; it was this positive outlook upon life that helped sustain him through many difficult moments in his life.

Winston Churchill once said: "Never was so much owed by so many to so few." Truly, Mr. Smith was one of the few, and we are the many who shall continually benefit from and remember his outstanding life and services.

Barbara Barney

IT'S CHILDISH TO BREAK IN LINE!

J. BELL

Hall Tales

Edited By Terry Jones

To help you start the new semester off right, so that you'll at least be a vertical being come next cram time, here are some helpful hints:

1. Bring the teacher newspaper clippings dealing with his subject and demonstrate fiery interest. If you can't find items dealing with his subject, bring any clipping at random. He thinks everything deals with his subject.
2. Look alert. Take notes eagerly. If you look at your watch, don't stare at it unbelievably and shake it.
3. Nod frequently and murmur "How true." To you this seems exaggerating but to him, it's quite objective.
4. Sit in front, near him. (Applies only if you intend to stay awake.)
5. Laugh at his jokes; you can tell. If he looks up and smiles expectantly, he has told a joke, believe it or not.
6. Ask for outside reading. You don't have to read it. Just ask.
7. If you must sleep, arrange to be awakened at the end of the period. It creates an unfavorable impression if the rest of the class has left and you sit there alone, dozing.
8. Be sure the book you read during class looks like a book from the course. If you do math in biology and biology in math, match the books for size and color.
9. Ask any questions you think he cannot answer. Conversely, avoid announcing that you have found the answer to the question he couldn't answer, and in your younger brother's second grade reader.

Adapted from the Daily Tarheel University of North Carolina

WHAT IS A KISS?

It is a noun because it is common and proper.

It is a pronoun because she stands for it.

It is a conjunction because it joins together.

It is a verb because it may be active.

It is a preposition because it has an object.

It is an infinitive because it needs no explanation.

It is an adverb because it tells how much he loves her.

Warning to all clock-watchers: time passes, but will you.

Thirty days has September,

SOUND OFF

Dear Students,

As head cheerleader and chairman of the school spirit committee, I would like to thank each and every one of you for all the fine support you have shown the cheerleaders as well as the team. I sincerely hope this will last throughout the school year.

Thank you,
Georgianna Sartin
Head Cheerleader

P.S. Please remember that the Alma Mater is to be sung after every game—victory or defeat, home or away.

April, June, and no wonder!
All the rest have Peanut Butter
Except for my grandmother!
She has a little red unicycle
And a peg leg which she uses
To poke the heads out of dill pickles.

Mr. Morgan: What is the most outstanding product that chemistry has given to the world?
Guy Phillips: Blondes!

DEDICATIONS—
They Can't Take That Away From Me
Abdul Nasser

I've Grown Accustomed To His Face
Mrs. Boris Karloff

Anything You Can Do I Can Do Better
Jerry Lewis

I Get Along Without You Very Well
Dean Martin

I'm Just Wild About Harry
Bess

I've Got You Under My Skin
Dr. Jonas Salk

There's A Small Hotel
Conrad Hilton

We may find this sign on the drive in back of school some morning: Drive Carefully—There's a Shortage of Teachers!

SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

Harry Radford looking for a horse to pull his stranded Model A off Westover Terrace . . . Sophomores, the Vocational Building is now Brooks School . . . Sandra Lisk is getting a new car . . . Cousins of the week—Are Sam and Delores West really related? They'll never tell . . . Linda Williams, do you lose your locker very often? . . . Earl Wald, when are you going to stop bringing your clarinet to the football games? . . . Bill Black explaining to a teacher that no one wrote the books he was using for a book report . . . Mike Ingber begging the HIGH LIFE staff for one page of sports without ads . . . Dick Tontz keeping his second period French class in hysterics . . . I heard Bo Green is planning to become a nurse—don't you think he would make a good one? . . . saying "But, Mr. Morton, you look so disgusted with me. Should I finish my answer?" . . . A locker in the main hall sprouting trees, moss, and mushrooms . . . Jim Perry complaining of a sore shoulder wonder how he got it? . . . Sandra Neal and Sammy Pegram yelling down the hall, "Doesn't anyone want to play bridge Saturday night?" . . . Carroll Lee Williams finally learned the Twist—almost . . . Attention all "Fools Folly Bridge" riders—there is a fine of three hundred dollars or sixty days in jail for trespassing . . . Beware, and that means you all.

Happy Birthday, Seniors

By Ray Kutos

Seniors at GHS owe a special vote of thanks to Mr. A. P. Routh for compiling the list of seniors having birthdays during the school year. Today we pay our respects to the birthday babes born in the past two weeks (oops—that doesn't sound right). The following are the celebrities: Charles Simpson—September 25, James Phillips—September 26, Judy Andrews—September 27, Janice Eargle—September 29, Beverly Wilkinson—September 30, Joan Baber, Ronald Lashley, and Rodney Hutchins—October 1, Lucy O'Brien—October 3, Allen Friberg—October 4, Olivia Grzazah (many pardons for this horrible slaughter, but I could not read the list.) — October 4; Steve Butler—October 5; Charme Newby—October 5, Lesa Hamlin — October 6.

To all these honored ones, HAPPY BIRTHDAY! All seniors having birthdays before September 25 will be named in a later edition.

HIGH LIFE

Published Semi-Monthly by the Students of Greensboro Senior High School Greensboro, N. C.

Founded by the Class of 1921

Revived by the Spring Journalism Class of 1937

Entered as second-class matter March 30, 1940, at the Post Office at Greensboro, N. C., under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Editor Kaye Riley
Managing Editor Bob Lutz
News Editor Linda Lael
Feature Editor Ann Barham
Sports Editor Mike Ingber

Copy Editor Carolyn Butner
Advertising Director Susan Dixey
News Staff Jane Gibson
Joan McNairy, Arthur Eisenband
Feature Staff Terry Jones
Patsy Allison, Sammy Pegram
Sports Staff DeEtte Schwartz
Skip Bostick
Carolyn Butner

Copy Desk Elaine Boyle
Terry Jones, Beverly Wilkinson
Advertising Staff Anne Vincent
Carroll Lee Williams

Photographers Doug Goode
Jon Barton
Business Manager Sandy Friedman
Typist Jean Bernheim
Adviser Miss Carolyn Holt
Financial Adviser Mr. A. P. Routh

Plan your week so you can attend all for our home games and many of the out of town contests.

Now what can each class do? Sophomores—get out and sell those pencils. We know you are a vital, important part of GHS, so prove it. You can make just as much money for your class project as any other class, so do it. At the games, you should make just as much noise and show just as much enthusiasm as anybody else, so show it. Set a good example for your "elders" to imitate.

Juniors—take an active part in all school activities. Having had a year's experience at GHS, you should know how much our school depends on people to do the many jobs necessary to keep a school in top-working condition. Be helpful—Be considerate—Have fun!

Seniors,—coming up soon is our big project, the Christmas pageant. There are many, many jobs for each and every one of us to do. Listen to the news you'll soon be hearing about "The Other Wiseman" and enter into the work of this project. This is our last wonderful year at GHS. Let's make it the very best ever!

I am proud to be a student at GHS. We have a great school, so let's show and tell other folks just how grand it is.

See you and hear you at the game!
Chip Crumley