GHS Band And Choir Perform In Assembly

Greensboro Senior High School's band and choir presented recently a joint assembly to the student body.

The band opened the program with "The Hut of Baba Yaga" and "The Great Gate of Kiev," selections from the Composition "Pictures at an Exhibition."

The choir then joined the band for several selections. First, they played "Alleluia" by Martin Mailman. This was followed by the "Alleluia" by Mr. John Barnes Chance, resident composer for the Ford Foundation.

They closed the program with "Tuerandot" by Puccini and arranged by Mr. Herbert Hazelman. Solos for the parts of Ping, Pang, and Pong were sung by Ray Kutos, Spencer Sullivan, and Richard Sain.

Kutos Claims First Place In Torchlight Talent Show

Ray Kutos, John Meeks and David Hamilton, and Jo Thompson were presented prizes by Jim Freedman, moderator of the Torchlight Variety Show last Tuesday.

Ray, accompanied by Barbara Alley, received first place prize of $10 for his song "Unchained Melody." John Meeks and David Hamilton, playing a drum duet called "The Battle of the Drums," won second prize of $5. Honorable mention went to Jo Thompson for her acrobatic dance.

Cheryl Hopkins sang "Romance", a vocal solo from the "Desert Song". She was accompanied by Susan Monroe. Monette Weaver played Franz Liszt's piano solo "Etude in D-flat Major," while Dick Tontz followed with a monologue. Arthur Eisenband, prompted by David Hamilton on the drums, gave a piano solo.

Then a new student at GHS, Carole Blackmon sang "Everybody Loves a Lover" accompanied by Barbara Alley. Sandra Martinez clacked her castinets to the Spanish tune of "La Jota", Sherry Bundy followed with a monologue, "The Little Outcast's Plea". A violin solo, "Praeludium and Allegro" by Pugnani-Kreisler, was given by Dan Richman with Mrs. Trexler at the piano. Since Dan is a Torchlight member, he could not compete for a prize.

While the judges consulted, the

Andrew, Pierce Win Trip Through North

Mike Andrew, junior, and Betty Jo Pearce, sophomore, recently won a two-week all-expense paid trip to New York and New England in July.

Mike and Betty Jo defeated six contestants from Page, Senior, and one from Curry School, and three other students from Senior High in a speech contest sponsored by the Greensboro Order of Odd Fellows. The choice of topics was "What the U.N. Means to Me" or "My Community and World Affairs".

Alternates for the contest were Jim Bell, sophomore, at Senior High and Sherry Bundy, junior. Also participating in the contest was Kelly Hunter, junior.

Phyllis Winston To Head 1962-1963 WHIRLIGIG

Phyllis Winston will succeed Dale Stansbury in the top year-book position, Miss Virginia Powell, WHIRLIGIG adviser, announced.

Phyllis will be assisted in her work as editor-in-chief by Kelly Hunter, business manager, and Susie Newby, literary editor.

Kelly, the new business manager, besides being on the honor roll and a home room officer, is an active member of the Medical Club, Playmasters Club, and the debating team.

Editor-in-chief Phyllis Winston is also in the Playmasters Club, the Civinettes, and Torchlight. She is an honor roll student, too.

Susie Newby, as literary editor, is starting her second year on the WHIRLIGIG staff.

Actual planning of the book for next year has already begun. A dummy is drawn for each page showing that pictures will be used, what size and shape must be taken, how much copy to be written, and where the various pages will be located.

Pictures of the spring sports, May Day, Awards Day, and other commencements events, including the Senior Tea and the Prom are taken for next year's WHIRLIGIG. The business manager starts collecting ads and sponsorships in the spring.

1962 Yearbook Arrival

Dale Stansbury, 1961-1962 editor, expects the yearbook some time in early May, judging by most other years. The staff is never given an exact date to expect delivery and is notified only a few days beforehand.

Junior Class Tops List Of 95, Above Averages

New Members Welcomed; Talent Show Planned

Members of the Torchlight Honor Society recently met to welcome new members and to make the final plans for the Talent Show.

Tickets were given to each person to sell to his assigned home-rooms. The tickets cost $.25 each, and the proceeds go toward a Torchlight scholarship to be given to some deserving student at Senior High.

Delegates were elected to attend the state Naional Honor Society convention April 27 and 28 in Chapel Hill. Pete Bondanella and Jim Freedman, seniors, and Phyllis Winston and Mike Andrew, juniors, will be the representatives from Senior.

New members met in the conference room of the library with Jim Freedman last week to order Torchlight jewelry.
