JCL EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETING HELD TO DISCUSS INDUCTIONS

An executive board meeting was held recently by the Grimsley Junior Classical League. The purpose of the meeting was for the officers to plan an induction ceremony for the new members.

Parker Norman, president, announced that the ceremony would take place October 31 in room 201 at 3:30 and that approximately sixty to seventy new members were expected to be inducted. During the induction an orchestral ensemble would provide the music as five officers acted the roles of high priest and the spirits of four years of Latin.

Membership in JCL is based on a student maintaining an eighty-five average in Latin; however, any member who not actively participating or misses two meetings is dropped from the roll.

At the executive board meeting Cynthia Wharton, North Carolina State Secretary for JCL, accompanied by her sponsor Mrs. Madlin; reported on the State JCL executive board meeting. Steve Hobbs, State president called the meeting and requested all officers with their local sponsors to attend.

The meeting was held October 5 in Chapel Hill and continued throughout the day. The purpose of the meeting was to plan the program for the JCL convention which was to be held in March at Chapel Hill. Some of the activities planned for were two general assemblies, Latin contest, the election of State officer, and workshops pertaining to the improvement and development of the Junior Classical League.

Also attending the executive board meeting from Greensboro was Joe Young, a senior at Page, who had been appointed Parliamentarian for the convention.

'Meet Me In St. Louis' Presented By Jr. Class

Grimsley's Junior Class play was presented last night at 7:30 in the GHS Auditorium. Chosen to be presented was Christopher Sergel's dramatization of Sally Benson's book, "Meet Me In St. Louis."

"Meet Me In St. Louis" was a situation comedy which took place in St. Louis about 1904. The farce dealt with the objection of a businessman's family against moving to New York. Their protests to his new promotion and their attempts to dissuade his boss from giving their father the job lead to hilarious results. These several incidents made the play a very warm and ridiculously funny play.

Characters

Worth Bawldin headed the cast of the Smith family in the role of Mr. Smith. Other members of the Smith family included Betsy Bourne as Mrs. Smith, Janet Turner as Rose, Linda Dunn as Ester, Candy Sauer as Agnes, Dena Scher as Tootie, Ken Bell as Lon, Bishop Byerly as Grandpa Propfather, and Pam Doss as Katie.

Other characters included Barbara Britten as Mrs. Waughop, Claudia McGill as Ida Boothby, Bill Russell as John Shephard, Bob Albright as Fred Gregory, Mary Ann Bule as Lucille Pentard, Barry Smith as Mr. Dorge, Gary Smith as Mr. Duffy, and Erwin Lewis as the conductor.

Linda Harville and Lynn Wentworth acted as prompters and substituted for the original cast when necessary.

A great number of juniors and faculty members have worked on many of the committees in order that the scenery, props, and costumes would be ready for the performance.

Direction

Miss Mozelle Causey directed the play and Mrs. Wales, the junior class advisor, co-ordinated many of the committees.

Following the performance, Miss Causey was presented with a bouquet of long-stem red roses from the cast. After the presentation, the players enjoyed a brief party back stage before returning to their homes.
