

College Bowl Provides Pattern For High I.Q.

Originally the High IQ Bowl was the idea of the Special Programs division of the "US" Program Committee. It was to be patterned after the "College Bowl" on television, all the way to the "scholarships" to be given to each winner.

In the preliminaries, the different schools battled for the privilege to continue the competition, the Grimsley team fought with a valor that shows that they do have quite a few brains.

Grimsley stayed in the competition up to the next to the last round then we were a beaten team. It was between High Point Central and Curry High School of Greensboro.

At the very first, many of the teams drew byes and they remained in the general assembly room until their turn came up. After the first eliminations, all the people behind the High IQ Bowl began to have a very good feeling of success.

If one could have seen behind the scenes, problems they would understand. The committee had to start with acquiring a sponsor, which Miss Joanne Taylor arranged for through her "connections." Then came a procession of planning meetings.

First the committee had to select an adult judge and an adult moderator, then the scorers and messengers who came from the Youth Council on Civic Affairs.

The final and official scores from each round, were recorded on the score cards, signed by the judge, moderator, and scorer. Then the score cards were given to the messenger who took them to the general assembly room, where the tallies were recorded.

When all the competing teams came back to the assembly hall, certificates of merit were awarded to the losing brain busters.

As far as the YCCA is concerned, The High IQ Bowl was a great success, but the real reward was the enthusiasm of the entrants and their suggestions to make this a yearly competition.

Teen Talent Featured In Second Revue

David Pegg, a student at Smith, won a $100 savings bond as the first prize in the second annual Teenage Talent Show sponsored cooperatively by the Knights of Columbus and the Youth Council on Civic Affairs.

The Musettes, a vocal group which features June Lawrence, Linda Hollifield, Carolyn Pack, Peggy Reece, and Lynn Oldham and Linda Craig all of Smith, captured second place with their rendition of "As Long As He Needs Me" from OLIVER, and "Morning Train".

Benjamin Bradham from Lincoln Junior High took third with his arrangement of Rachmanioff's Piant Concerto No. 5.

An honorable mention was given to the Rhythmic, a combo whose members are Lea Jane Berinate, C. H. Russell, Gene Tucker, Larry Seigler, Ken Lee, and Janey Walters. Susan Clark, a Pirate who performed the Lullaby of Birdland Dance, was also awarded an honorable mention.

Don Brockman, a local Knight emceed the three hour talent revue which was composed of 22 acts from throughout Guilford County. Each individual or group was presented with a trophy that represented the many auditions and work that had gone into the act before it was presented on February 27.

Kathy Sarra, and Bob Hanson, the YCCA and Knights of Columbus chairmen respectively worked through their various committees to sell a total of 1,000 tickets before the Saturday presentation.

GHS Club Briefs

JR. CIVINETTES

A group of girls from the Civinettes participated in the knights of Columbus Talent Show February 27. The Civinettes are having a Father's dinner. March 26.

CHARIOTEERS

The Charioteers will have a fashion show on March 18 at 8:00 p.m. at the Christ Methodist Church. This is their annual fund raising project. Tickets are 50c and can be bought from any Charioteer member.

HI-Y

Hi-Y is making plans for school beautiful for its assigned area. They are planning a fund raising project and a social.

INTERACT

Per Aren, foreign exchange student, is now staying at Bob Bal-lou's home. The Interact Club is having a workday March 13.

Phillips Elected

Continued from Page One was begun to determine the best way to form a National Association. They called the First National Convention which then proceeded to adopt its constitution and national criteria.

The objectives of the National Association of Youth Councils are "to provide a medium through which all Youth Councils throughout the entire nation might benefit from one another's experiences, activities, programs, and projects."

The Association will serve as a communications media, publishing a monthly magazine, and will host the Annual Meet. It will also serve as a Publicity agent and will aid the establishment of Youth Councils in any community desiring help.

JR. CIVITANS

The Civitans are making plans for school beautiful. They have the grove in front of the Home Ec Building where they are going to put benches, plants, and plant new grass.

JR. EXCHANGE

In a few weeks the Senior High key chains that the Jr. Exchange Club is selling will arrive. The Exchange Club also passed out "Go Whirlie" megaphones during the tournament. They are also making plans for school beautiful.

JR. EXCHANGETTES

The Jr. Exchangettes are making plans for their school beautiful project. They have the area on the corner of Benjamin and Campus Drive. They are also making plans for a fund raising project.

JR. JAYCEES

Placing letters over the gym giving its name is one of the projects the Jr. Jaycees are planning. They are also working with the Greensboro Jaycees in the GGO tournament.

O. HENRY JRS.

The O. Henry Jrs. are having a benefit bridge on March 19, at the Woman's Club House. The tickets are $1.00 each and can be bought from any club member.

SENIORETTES

Janet Bean, Pam Hoyer, Anita Jones, and Vonda West are the new members just taken into the Seniorettes. The Seniorettes are making kites for the retarded children's school and a bulletin board showing the special holidays in March.

Key Club Conference Assembles 900 Boys

Nine hundred members of Key Clubs in North and South Carolina along with their advisors, met March 12-14 in Charlotte, North Carolina, for the 19th annual Carolinas District Conference.

The convention headquarters was set at the Queen Charlotte Hotel where the Keyclubbers held their district election, banquets, workshops, and general sessions.

Henry Perry, a member of the GHS Key Club, who was elected to the post of district secretary at the convention held in Greensboro last spring reported that the local group sponsored Steve Desper for the position of lieutenant governor.

Accompanying Henry and Steve to Charlotte were: Bob Albright, Gene Clark, Curtis Weaver, David Martin, Skip McCartney, Tom Long, John Long, Kevin Norton, Tom Clark, Steve Blackwood, Jim Blackwood, Rick Ginger, Tom Booth, Max Wilson, and Scott Reed.

Tom entered the talent contest where he gave an organ performance, and Steve Blackwood presented a speech in the oratorical competition.

Leighton Ford, the number two man in evangelist Billy Graham's forces, delivered the main address in a Saturday morning session.

"Makes All
Foods
Taste Better"

HOLSUM BAKERY

104 EAST LEE STREET

GREENSBORO, N. C.