

High Life

VOLUME XLI GRIMSLEY SENIOR HIGH, GREENSBORO, N. C., MAR. 29, 1965 NUMBER 11

World Affairs Conference Stresses United States' Role

Revolving around the theme "The United States In World Affairs", the fifteenth annual Conference on World Affairs hosted a ten member delegation from Grimsley at yearly meeting.

Serving as GHS representatives were: Martha Bennet, Marilyn Cahoon, Mary Jane Boren, Robyn Ellwood, Tim Frye, Bill Gordon, Tom Mitchell, Evelyn Mordecai, Carol Nussbaum, Bill Parker, Jerry Stanley, and Mescal Tyson. Mrs. Edna Hutton accompanied the group as its official chaperone.

Hill Hall on the campus of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill provided the location for this year's conference. Beginning at 9:30 on March 11 with a film on foreign affairs, the theme was maintained through various speeches and a panel discussion.

Dr. Harlan Cleveland, assistant Secretary of State for International Organization Affairs, delivered the first address, highlighting the role of the United States in World Affairs.

PANEL DISCUSSION

Following Dr. Cleveland's speech was a luncheon which featured Mrs. Elizabeth Koontz, president of the National Association of Classroom Teachers, and a panel discussion on the United States citizen and United States foreign policy.

Panel members—Jack Lashley, Director of the Institute for International Studies; Sam R. Levering, Chairman of the Executive Council for the Friends Committee on National Legislation; Dr. Anne Scott, Assistant Professor of History at Duke University; and Chancellor Paul F. Sharp of University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill—discussed their views on the topic and answered questions from the audience.

FOREIGN AID

To complete the day's program, William S. Gaud, Deputy Administrator for the Agency for International Development, delivered an address on the "United States Foreign Aid: Political or Moral Issue".

Delegates to the conference included many interested men and women along with the high school students. These participating representatives are invited by the North Carolina Council on World Affairs.

Grimes Competes For Honor Society Scholarship Award

Dave Grimes, a member of Torchlight National Honor Society among many other activities, has been selected to enter the final competition for a National Honor Society Scholarship.

The scholarships are honors to be awarded entirely on the basis of merit. Individual stipends, between a minimum four-year award of $500 and a maximum four-year award of $6,000, are determined on the basis of financial need only after the scholarship winners have been chosen.

The stipend setting is based on the difference between estimated college expenses and computed resources available to the student. If the student feels that he needs no financial assistance for college, he may still be considered for an honorary award which carries no stipend.

In order to be still considered eligible for the scholarship award, Dave must send additional information to the National Honor Scholarship Program, consisting of a Biographical Questionnaire and a College Notification Form.

The purpose of the biographical questionnaire is to tell about the

Continued on Page Five

Speech Contest Winner Will Tour New England

Touring New York, the New England states, and Washington, D. C. —all expenses paid—will highlight Matt Gibson's summer of '65. The GHS sophomore was named one of the two city winners to receive the trip in the United Nations speech contest held March 16.

In early June, Matt and Carol Regan, the Smith High School junior who was named first place winner in the girl's division, will join other winners from cities throughout North Carolina and begin their two week journey, stopping first in New York.

In addition to seeing the sights New York has to offer, they will tour the United Nations building and will hopefully meet some of its leaders.

From there, the group of speakers will head north for a trip through the New England states. As the two weeks draw to a close, they will head home, stopping in Washington, D. C. for a memorable tour of the nation's capitol.

It started as a challenge for the 19 contestants entering the annual contest, which is sponsored by the Odd Fellows of America. Yet even after the two winners were named, 17 "winners" remained, for all who spoke on the topic, "What the UN Means to Me," learned much about the vital peace-keeping headquarters.

Also representing Grimsley were Joe Coleman, Jan Petrehn, and Penny Warner.

Two boys and two girls representing each of Greensboro's immediate high schools, including Curry, Grimsley, Notre Dame, Page, and Smith, attended the dinner and contest staged in the Odd Fellows Lodge.

Four alternates were also named, including two from Smith, one from Notre Dame, and one from Curry.

Federal Education Funds Available To Many Academic Departments

Grimsley High School will be included among those schools receiving aid under the National Defense Education Act.

Miss Sarah Mims, head of the English Department, will attend an NDEA meeting in Raleigh. There she will submit plans for the acquisition of equipment and materials for the English and Reading departments.

The NDEA is a federal act which provides for the improvement of instruction in science, mathematics, and modern languages. Under this act, state, county, and city educational administrations are reimbursed for one half of the total cost for equipment and teaching materials acquired through NDEA.

Money is reimbursed for instruction in "critical subjects" only. Critical subjects are science, history, civics, geography, modern, foreign languages, English, and reading.

There is not any equipment or material which cannot be acquired, provided that the need is justified.

Schools desiring financial aid in acquiring teaching equipment submit a projects proposal to the State Department of Public Instruction in Raleigh. They must include an itemized copy of the proposal containing the quantity to be purchased, a description of items and equipment, the unit cost, and the total cost. Also included, must be a description of the project and its teaching methods along with what is hoped to be accomplished.

NDEA PAYS HALF

Once the schools have convinced the Superintendent of Public Instruction that the equipment is necessary, they may then make the purchase with NDEA paying one half of the cost.

The English and Reading Departments at GHS are considering acquiring additional teaching facilities to aid in the instruction of students.

PROPOSED PURCHASES

Equipment being considered

Continued on Page Three

Pirates Invade GHS In Co-Rec Preparations

Pirates, their crimes and adventures, provide the theme for the third Co-Rec night scheduled for April 16. Games, relays, and an entertainment period are being planned to fill the evening's schedule.

Co-Rec night is an evening of co-educational recreation in which teams compete for a total points score. Each of the thirteen service clubs, working within the framework of the Interclub Council, have taken part of the arrangements as one of their projects.

Under the leadership of the Junior Jayettes and the Sub-Junior Woman's Club, the theme has been set. One of the other clubs will provide paper pirate hats for all who attend. Others will arrange the games and help in the general arrangements.

One of the main events is a Treasure Hunt. Each service club will provide a two member team that will compete for first prize.

Larry Dempsey, crowned Twirp King, Friday night, March 12, following the Twirp game, was sponsored by Jane Daniel.

GHS Orchestra Sets Georgia As Destination

On Thursday afternoon, April 8th, the GHS Orchestra will leave Grimsley by chartered buses to play concerts in Athens Georgia.

The group has been invited to play four concerts for the elementary, junior high and high school students in the Athens schools, and an evening concert in the Fine Arts Auditorium at the University of Georgia.

On Saturday morning the orchestra will be the demonstration orchestra for a seminar on Orchestra Development planned for music educators from the state.

The invitation to perform was extended by the public schools in Athens, the Department of Continuing Education of Georgia, and the School of Music of the University of Georgia. Accompanying the group will be: Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Routh, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Rooker, Mr. Robert Fredrickson, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Labella, and Miss Leonard, conductor of the orchestra.

Music for the concerts include works by Vivaldi, Bach, Couperin, Khatchaturian, Prokofieff, Copeland, Sibelius, Anderson, Wagner. Mr. Edgar Rooker will be guest soloist for the Wagner, Adagio for Clarinet and Strings.

G. H. Sharp, Lyn Labell, Nancy Coble, and Gail Sadler star in the Concerto Grosso, Op. 3, No. 10, for four violin soloists, string orchestra, and keyboard. Another special string setting will be the Vivaldi, Concerto Grosso, Op. 3, No. 11, arranged for four cello by Jim Holesovsky, a student at The Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia.

Clint Cheshire will be the soloist for the Anderson, Trumpeter's Lullaby. Mr. J. Kimball Harri-man will be guest conductor for one of the compositions.

The orchestra will begin its journey home late Saturday afternoon after sightseeing in Athens and Atlanta.

scheduled for general participation.

The Interact Club, Charioteers, Sub-Junior Woman's Club are in charge of the publicity for Co-Rec night. The task of choosing the entertainment has been delegated to the Key Club and the Jaycees.

Concluding the club assignments are the Jayettes, O. Henry Juniors, and Hi-Y providing the arrangements and the clean-up group composed of the Civitans and the Exchange Club.