

Coïie Giles, head cheerleader of the varsity football team was crowned 1966-1967 Homecoming Queen at Grimsley-North Forsyth game on Friday, October 21. She was sponsored by Johnny Sparrow, and her escort was Drew Anthony.

Giles Homecoming Queen; Turner Named Whirlbird

Homecoming Queen, Connie Giles, Lynn Rose and Susan Anthony the winners of the "Name the Whirlbird" contest, and the homecoming float contest were the main events of Grimsley's Homecoming this year.

Each year the different clubs at GHS, both service and academic clubs, build homecoming floats. They are displayed on the front lawn and are judged by teachers and YCCA members.

The winning float, built by the Exchangettes, was a viking ship enclosed in a giant bottle. The main theme of the float was "Jar the Vikings". It was estimated by Kathy Young, president of the Exchangettes, that it took approximately 20 hours to build the float.

The Junior Jayettes and the Seniorettes floats won second and third place in the contest.

Students in the various clubs came to school in the early hours of the morning to set up their homecoming display.

During homeroom, blanks were distributed for naming the Whirlbird, a contest sponsored by the Junior Jayees. Only members of the Junior Jayees were eligible to be the Whirlbird.

Prizes were given to the boy and girl who named the Whirlie mascot. They were a pair of boys tassel loafers and a girls Shetland sweater, both from Younts-De-Boe.

Entry blanks for the contest had to be turned in by half-time of the game. The winners were selected at the open house, which followed the game.

Connie, who was sponsored by Johnny Sparrow, was crowned homecoming queen. She was voted as the girl who displays the most school spirit.

Ruth Dance was the first runner-up for queen. All members of the court were shown.

Explorers Ball Scheduled Saturday

Annually, the Explorers, a division of the Boy Scouts of America, have an Explorers Ball for all registered members of an Explorers Post.

This year, Asheboro will be the host for the dance, which will be Saturday, November 5. The dance will occur at the Asheboro Senior High Student Lounge from 8 p.m. until 11 p.m.

"The Emphatics" the first place winners in the recent WCOG combo contest and "The Ambassadors" will provide the entertainment for the evening.

"Miss Explorer of 1967" will be crowned by Julia Ann Lane, "Miss Explorer of 1966." Refreshments, several contests and door-prizes will also be given at the dance.

The Explorers and their dates, plus a guest couple for each will comprise the total number attending the dance.

The price of the tickets for the dance, which will be sold by Cabinet representatives in each post, is $2.50 stag or drag.

Chartered buses for the event will be secured. Tickets for the bus will be $1.25 each.

This is the eighth annual Explorers Ball.

Distributive Education Members Attend Conferences and Meetings

Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA) members recently attended the 1966-1967 Officers' Training Workshop.

During the general meeting, a film was shown and Barry Hardeman, president of the Distributive Education (DE) club at Grimsley, welcomed the people. Afterwards, the students were divided into groups for separate meetings.

The groups consisted of all DE students in the city who held the same office. The offices discussed were president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, publicity committee chairman, and parliamentarian.

Each group included the students, a presiding officer, and one or more discussion leaders. Barry Hardeman presided in the group for presidents. William Hunter, DE Coordinator at Guilford High School, and Curtis Weaver, president of Grimley's student body were the discussion leaders.

Bob Edwards, senior, presided in the vice-presidents' group. Homer Harden, DE Coordinator at Ragsdale High School, and Lynn Rose, vice-president of Grimsley's student body led the discussion.

Ann Dungan, secretary of DE at Grimsley, was the presiding officer in the group for secretaries. The discussion leader was Mrs. Mary Thompson, a DE Coordinator at Smith High School.

Southeast Coordinator Led

The group for treasurers had for its presiding officer Rick Beaver, treasurer of Grimsley's DE program. J. Leroy Dawson, DE Coordinator at Southeast Guilford High School led the discussion.

Publicity chairman, Dolly Underwood, was the presiding officer in her group. The discussion leader was Mrs. Alene Hunter, DE Coordinator at Page High School.

The last discussion group was for parliamentarians. The presiding officer was John Patterson, parliamentarian of the DE program at Grimsley. The discussion leader in this group was Robert W. Morton, DE Coordinator at East Alamance High School.

Grimsley Serves As Host

After the group meetings, there was a "get acquainted hour," in which members of the DE program from Grimsley were hosts. Several other members were in charge of refreshments, including Charles Richardson, associate president of Grimsley's DE program.

Annual Inductions Occur In JCL

By Kathy Rees

With five glowing candles and six toga-clad J.C.L. members, the annual induction services of the Junior Classical League occurred recently for 59 new members.

After orchestral members Lyn Labell, Ken McArthur, M. J. Leonard, Mary Jeane Hildebrandt, and Dick McCaskill, all seniors, played a ceremonious introductory piece, president Anne Rubin as High Priest, pontifex maximus, welcomed the group.

Initiation rituals began with a solemn introduction to the Spirit of the Classics, symbolized by the kindled center candle, the fire of interest in the Latin Language. The Lord's Prayer was then read in Latin by Judy Edwards, senior.

Kathy Rees, Spirit of First Year Latin, Jody Turner, Spirit of Second Year Latin, Larry Allen, Spirit of Third Year Latin, and Karen Rubin, Spirit of Fourth Year Latin, lit the candles representing phases of Latin culture and history.

The new members were then called forth to affirm their membership into the Junior Classical League by passing their hands over the flame symbolizing the spirit of achievement for high school Latin scholars.

Induction ceremonies closed with the Creed of the Junior Classical League, pledging each member to acquaint himself with the ancient civilization of Greece and Rome so that he can better understand the world of today.

Library District Convention Elects Officers For New Year

The North Central District Convention of the North Carolina High School Library Association took place October 22. The meeting was at Western High School in Elon College.

The presiding officers of the 1966 convention were as follows: Brenda Dick of Grimsley, president; Ricky Price of Grimsley, vice-president; Linda McEntire of Wentworth; and Sara Jones of Wentworth, reporter.

Brenda Dick called the meeting to order. The welcome was given by the president of Western High School Library Club. News from the field was presented by Mrs. Willie Boone, Executive Secretary of the NCHSLA and Jimmy Wikle, state president of NCHSLA.

Grimsley's chapter of the Future Teachers of America (FTA), which is sponsored by the National Educators Association, met with approximately 5000 other FTA members at the annual state-wide convention on Saturday, October 29. The convention occurred at Catawba College in Salisbury. The main part of the program included electing state officers, hearing several speakers, and a skit.

GHS's FTA was responsible for producing the main skit. "Down Through the Ages" presented the teaching profession since 1900. The members characterized the different ages of teaching. Matt Gibson, although not a member of FTA, narrated the skit.

A chartered bus was secured to take both the GHS and Page FTA members to Salisbury. They left at 8 a.m.

One of the services which the members of the club do is to help teachers grade papers and do other small tasks. This work is done in the member's study hall.

The business session included the nomination and election of new district officers. They are as follows: Ann Chandler of Western High School, president; Linda Jones of Wentworth, vice-president; Janice Tuttle of Reidsville High School, secretary; and Ricky Price of Grimsley, reporter.

The highlights of the convention was the presentation of "A Visit to Israel" in pictures and words by Jerry Pinsker, a member of the Grimsley council to the convention.

The PTSA membership drive totaled 1475 members. Miss Meredith's homeroom won first place. In second place was Mrs. Moody's homeroom. Mrs. Hoffler's and Mrs. Hundley's homerooms tied for third place.

Students Apply For Membership In School Service Clubs

Approximately 200 students were voted into service clubs two weeks ago.

Each club accepted about four seniors, four juniors, and eight sophomores this year.

Students who were interested in being members of a service club filled out applications two weeks ago. They expressed which clubs they preferred by putting their first, second, and third choices.

The main projects of each club were explained to the sophomores and transfer students in the Junior Civitan handbook which was given to them at an earlier time.

After applications were completed, they were given to the presidents of the different clubs. Members then voted on the applicants. All areas of the student were considered, such as . . . character, interests, hobbies, and previous school and community activities.

After voting on new members, the lists were sent to the office, for each member of a club had to be approved by A. P. Routh, principal. Approval was not granted if the student had failed any courses during the first six weeks.

When different students were asked why they wanted to be in a service club, the main opinion was "to help civic organizations and any persons, and also to have a feeling of belonging."

Sophomores and transfer students were particularly urged to join a service club if interested.

All new members accepted into the clubs were notified last Wednesday.
