

Cecil Named Grimsley's Winner In Homemaker of Year Contest

Grimsley's winner in the Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of the Year was named recently as Anne Cecil.

Anne, a senior, is now eligible to compete for the North Carolina state winner or runner-up. She will receive a $1500 scholarship and an educational trip to Washington, D.C. and to historical Williamsburg, Virginia, if she is the state representative. With her she will take a school advisor or teacher. If Anne becomes the state winner, GHS will receive the Encyclopedia Britannica.

As runner-up she could receive a $500 scholarship.

May Compete In Nation

If Anne receives the state award, she will compete for national awards. The All-American award will be presented in Williamsburg. Scholarships will be given in amounts of $5000, $4000, $3000, and $2000 to the first, second, third, and fourth place winners.

The main objectives of this contest are "to inherit the dignity and prestige of the American home, to stimulate interest in homemaking, and to emphasize outstanding contributions to the home being made by high schools and high school teachers."

Exam Lasts 50 Minutes

The exam which the high school senior girls took was a 50 minute test of knowledge and aptitude. The tests were made by the Science Research Associates in

Hardeman, Huffman Win In DE Contest

Two Grimsley seniors recently won honors in the Distributive Education (DE) District Convention Contest.

The students were Barry Hardeman, president of Grimsley's DE, and Weddie Huffman. The contest occurred in Burlington at Walter Williams High School.

There were four areas of competition: speech, sales demonstration, advertising, and Boy and Girl Student of the Year. These areas were based on class and job instruction.

Barry was the first place winner in the Student of the Year area. He also won second place in the advertising category.

Weddie was the second place winner in the sales demonstration category.

Winners in the District Convention will now advance to the North Carolina Leadership Conference. This conference will be in Asheville on March 31 through April 1. Four delegates from Grimsley will attend this conference.

Students must meet certain requirements before they can enter the District Conference. These include grades, leadership, participation, and achievement of career and goal.

Mrs. Margaret G. Hadden, the DE coordinator, commented that she is interviewing interested students for next year at the request of several leading businesses.

Chicago, Illinois, and were also graded by them. General Mills is sponsoring this program.

This is the thirteenth year that the contest has occurred.

Anne Rates in Ten

Anne along with other GHS students, took the Home Economics test last December in the audio-visual room at school. The results from the exams were returned to the school at the first of February. Anne's test was rated with top ten in the state.

Anne also commented that she hadn't taken a course in Home Economics since entering high school

Annual GHS Twirp Dance To Occur Friday, March 10

By Kay Van Hecke

Girls, here's your chance! Friday, March 19, marks the date for the annual, much anticipated event of GHS—Twirp!

For many girls, it could be the beginning of something they have been waiting for; for others it may be just another date with their steady; either way, it is something definitely to be observed. Girls carrying boys' books, sharpening their pencils, and opening the doors for them are just a few of the common scenes one may witness on this traditional day.

Girls' Traffic Squad

There will also be a girl's traffic squad. Girls, start saving your money. The original meaning if this even is THE WOMAN IS REQUIRED TO PAY.

After many girls pick up their dates, which seems unusual and often embarrassing, but in White-robed Torchlight Honor Society members were challenged last Tuesday in assembly to go forth and seek those worthy of entering the Society.

Carol Crocker, president of Torchlight, explained the points that are considered for entering the Society. They are scholarship, leadership, service, and character. Carol explained that a 90 average or better was needed, and the service "in any capacity" was also necessary.

Carol further explained that the personality is never completely developed, but it is a growing concept.

After the juniors and seniors were tapped into the Society, they met backstage with their parents who had been called earlier that morning and invited to attend the ceremony.

Spring Torchlight Tappings Bring Seniors, Juniors In National Society

Spring induction for the Grimsley chapter of Torchlight, the national Honor Society, occurred last Tuesday, February 28.

Thirty students, both juniors and seniors, were tapped at this time.

Seniors who were tapped were: Barbara Ayers, Alan Bernard, Sharon Brooks, Tim Browder, Doug Crayton, Linda Sharon Cummings, Bill Dewey, Karen Filipiski, Nancy Foard, Susan Gibbs.

Michelle Hoyman, Linda King, Kathy Leubben, Tom Long, Bob McMillan, Kathy Rees, Linda Young, and Larry Young.

Those juniors who were tapped were: Carol Carruthers, Nancy

Foster, Linda Grimes, Jeannie Horney, Jerry Hornig, Barbara Israel, Carolyn Lyday, Ricky Price, Jody Turner, Charles Wilkins, and Robbie Wilson.

Carol Crocker, president of Torchlight, explained the aim of the Honor Society. "It is the aim . . . to develop a unified personality. We realize such a personality is never completely developed." She added that it was a growing concept.

The students are judged on four major ideals. They are scholarship, leadership, service, and character. An average of 90 or better is required. Service in "any capacity" is also necessary.

The four ideals were then explained by members of Torchlight. Scholarship was discussed by Karen Rubin, senior. She commented, "He who desires it must earn it . . . It has to do with the present as well as the past. Scholarship is the only true wealth."

Leadership was explained by Susan Odenwald, senior. She added that the need for leadership is greater than ever before.

Nancy Richbourg, senior, explained the service ideal. She said, "Service to others gives the highest form of happiness in the world."

Character was discussed by Jay Pringle, senior. "It must be built through hard work and tireless effort . . . Character is man's best capital . . . a higher ideal of life."

After all the new members had

At the end of the assembly, Mr. A. P. Routh, principal, added that the program was ". . . a highlight of the year."

Woodward Wins State Essay Contest

Gayle Woodward, a Grimsley senior, recently won first place for North Carolina in an essay contest sponsored nationally by the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped.

Gayle's 750 word essay was titled "Handicapped Workers: Community Assets."

Dan K. Moore, governor of North Carolina, will present Gayle with her $200 award, Thursday, March 16, in the House Chamber of the State House in Raleigh. The AFL-CIO will give her check for her expenses to Washington, D.C. Mrs. Genevieve Alexander, Gayle's English teacher, will also receive $150 for her expenses to Washington.

The contest is sponsored on the state level by the Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped, which has branches in almost all cities of the state. Ralph Cambron is the chairman of Greensboro's committee.

First prize on the national level is $1000. The awards range from $1000 to $200 for fifth place. The schools of the top five winners will receive a plaque. All the awards on the national level are presented directly by President Lyndon B. Johnson.

After the presentation at the State House, Mrs. Dan Moore, the governor's wife, will have a luncheon for Gayle and her parents, and Mrs. Alexander.
