Three one-act plays will be presented Tuesday, March 14, by the Playmasters and the dramatics class at Grimsley.

"Aria Da Capo", "Here We Are", and "Sunday Costs Five Pesos" are the plays.

Students in the plays are Paul Allen, Ramona Curtis, Matt Gibson, Cecie Gorrell, William Herndon, Cheryl Jones, Beverly Knight, Kathy Landrum, Tom McCrory, Linda McKee, and Randy Mims.

"Aria Da Capo" and "Here We Are" will be presented by Playmasters. Both plays received ratings in the District Festival at Catawba College.

"Sunday Costs Five Pesos" will be presented by members of the drama class.

Three One-Act Plays Presented By Playmasters, Drama Class

Three plays will be presented by Grimsley's Playmasters and dramatics class on Tuesday, March 14, at 7:30 p.m.

The plays will be given in Grimsley's auditorium. "Aria Da Capo" and "Here We Are" will be given by members of Playmasters "Sunday Costs Five Pesos" will be given by the dramatics class.

Two Receive Ratings

All three plays were presented at the District Festival on February 24 and 25. "Aria Da Capo" received an excellent rating. "Here We Are" received a distinguished rating and is now eligible for the state meet in Chapel Hill because of its rating.

The cast of "Aria Da Capo" includes Paul Allen, Matt Gibson, Tom McCrory, Linda McKee, and Randy Mims. The play is a fantasy written by Edna Saint Vincent Millay.

Cast members in "Here We Are" are Matt Gibson and Cheryl Jones. This play is about a newly married couple on their honeymoon.

Five Cast Members

"Sunday Costs Five Pesos" is the story of a Mexican love affair. One of the town's customs is that if a woman starts a fight on Sunday, she has to pay five pesos. The cast includes Ramona Curtis, Cecie Gorrell, William Herndon, Beverly Knight, and Kathy Landrum.

Miss Mozelle Causey is the director of the plays. Admission for the program will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

Campus Life Phases Presented In Assembly

Assembly Tuesday, March 7, was a combination of athletic acknowledgements, skits, songs, and slides of different phases of Grimsley campus life.

Coach Bob Jamieson, director of athletics, introduced the wrestling team. He explained that the group had won both sectional and state honors. Coaches of the team, George Robinson and Kent Umberger, named three qualities which the wrestling team had: experience, leadership, and hard work.

The 1967 state championship for swimming was won by the Whirlie team. These boys were introduced by their instructor, Coach Bob Sawyer.

Austin Lybrand, chairman of the Greensboro Youth Council (GYC), discussed the activities of the council. He named committees and sub-committees and their accomplishments.

Slides were shown of the activities which the council has participated in this year.

Austin urged that students, who were interested in running for GYC next year, sign up at the front bulletin board.

Business Conference Attended By Teachers

The ZETA CHAPTER of DELTA PI EPSILON, a fraternity for graduates in business education, recently celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro (UNCG).

Four Grimsley teachers attended the banquet meeting. They were Mr. Frank P. Bondanella, Mrs. Martha W. Hundley, Miss Ann Moore, and Mrs. Cordelia F. Walke. Before the banquet, there was an initiation only for the members. However, at the banquet, there were new members, conference guests, and other guests who were honored.

The following day, the Twenty-Sixth Annual Business Education Conference met at UNCG.

Mr. Lawrence W. Lynett, International President of the Administrative Management Society, addressed the group.

After a short intermission, Mr. Carl R. Newton, State Supervisor of Youth Services, also talked to the group. Mr. Newton has been employed by the North Carolina Employment Security Commission in the Research Division, the Community Services Division, and the Staff Services Division.

The theme of the 1967 Conference was "Office Occupations: Changing Opportunities and Requirements."

This Business Education Conference was sponsored by the Department of Business Education and Secretarial Administration, the Department of Commercial Studies, and the ZETA CHAPTER of DELTA PI EPSILON.

Greensboro Youth Council Members To Host Banquet, Convention Here

Greensboro Youth Council (GYC) will host a GYC Convention Friday and Saturday, March 17 and 18.

Beginning Friday night, GYC members from Greensboro, High Point, and Raleigh will attend a banquet at the Presbyterian Church. The purpose of the banquet is so that the members may become acquainted.

Campaign Speeches Made

Each council will provide two acts to entertain. Also, eight students who are running for four offices, Chairman, Vice-Chairman, Secretary, and Treasurer, will give short campaign speeches. This is to help council members decide for whom they want to vote.

'Late Winter' Midwinters To Come In March

"The second annual early-spring, late-winter Midwinters dance will take place Friday, March 17," remarked Bryant Holstenbeck, chairman of this year's dance.

The dance was originally scheduled for January but due to snowy weather, the event was postponed. This is the second year that the dance has had to be rescheduled.

"Viva Paris" is the main theme for the social event this year. The Tropics, the Showmen, and the Robinson Brothers will provide entertainment from 8 p.m. until 11:30 p.m.

For the first time, the Midwinters dance will occur in the boys' gym. It is usually in the girls' gym.

The dance is semi-formal and tickets are $1 per person.

Saturday morning registration will be required for others who are attending the convention. This will include mayors, Parks and Recreation managers, principals of schools, presidents of schools, presidents of the Junior Class, and two outstanding students from the Junior Class.

Heritage In Charge

Scott Heritage, who is in charge of the convention, remarked that it is hoped that by explaining how YC's work, these leaders of North Carolinian cities and schools will be able to form their own councils.

After registration, the opening assembly will include speeches by Mayor William Trotter and Program Director Mr. Clyde Ware of the Sears Foundation. Mr. Ware is representing Sears because it gave $1500 for the workshop.

Projects Displayed

From 10:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. the Program assembly will explain some of the projects of the Youth Council. Then the GYC will show miniature displays which they have made illustrating certain projects.

During lunch, Mr Richardson Preyer will be the guest speaker.

Workshops In Afternoon

In the afternoon, the main purpose of the workshops will be to tell people how to run a Youth Council. This program will be given to try to promote interest and enthusiasm.

How to start a council, how to obtain a charter, and the future youth council in this state will be discussed in the closing assembly.

Caucus Formed

Finally, the GYC, the High Point council, and the Raleigh council, will form a caucus to elect their officers. Each club will have three votes.

Students from each council will have already been selected to represent their council's vote. The GYC will have six students from the six high schools, who will each have one-half vote. At approximately 5 p.m. the election returns will be known.

The convention will take place in Elliott Hall at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, (UNC-G).

Construction Attracts Artists; Class Sketches New Library

Third year art students studied the constructors as they continued to work on the new library, Friday, March 3.

Most of the students were making pencil sketches of one part of the construction which particularly appealed to them. Miss Ruth Scarborough, art instructor, explained that "It doesn't make for good composition when they try to do so much."

The sketches were action shots of the men working with cement and the foundation. Each pupil chose a different angle from which to draw.

One student in the class glued colored tissue paper down. She then ripped it off, leaving the faded tissue colors on the paper. All the colors were printed over the sketch which she had already completed.

Miss Scarborough added that it was a pretty day and so much was going on outside that the class could better create.

Most of the students study art at least two periods a day. They use their study hall and any extra time in addition to their seventh period class.

Staff Members Attend Journalism Workshop

QUILL AND SCROLL, the Orange High School newspaper, sponsored a Journalism Workshop in which three HIGH LIFE staff members attended last Saturday.

The members were Jean Broadway, Franklin Stewart, and Marilyle Upchurch. The students were allowed to choose five seminars which they wanted to attend. Among the choices were editorial writing, news writing, feature writing, sports writing, typography, advertising, photography, the column, the art of interviewing, and business management.

Speakers of these seminars
