HIGH LIFE Receives First Place Rating

Columbia Scholastic Press Association (CPSA) recently gave HIGH LIFE a first place rating in the school newspaper judging contest.

Out of a possible 1000 points, HIGH LIFE received 920 points. In the Content section of the judging, the newspaper received 290 out of 300 points. This section was based on scope and timeliness.

In the Writing and Editing section two things were considered—general aspects and specific fields. Included in specific fields were news stories, sports stories, feature stories and interviews, editorial matter, headlines, copy-reading and editing, and proof-reading.

The two remaining sections on which the paper was judged were make-up and general considerations.

A booklet published by the CSPA, which revealed the HIGH LIFE rating by sections, explained the rating procedures.

"Previous standing in contests is not considered in judging the current issues. Each paper is judged on its own merits. However, . . . each paper is compared with the others in its own particular classification and is rated according to its relative standing with reference to the other entries in its class."

In the Comments and Suggestions section one judge remarked, "HIGH LIFE is doing a great service for the school." Further suggestions on how to improve the paper were then listed.

Judged in the contest were school newspapers, news-magazines, pages in daily papers and departmental publications.

Teenagers Take Responsibility During Youth Week, Carnival

Teen-agers throughout the city will be taking over the week of April 23-29 as Youth Week again is here.

Greensboro's youth will work in the city. They will serve as junior officials of Greensboro's government, and they will manage a teen-age carnival.

The 1967 Teen-age Carnival will be at the Friendly Shopping Center Thursday-Saturday, April 27-29. Grimsley, Page, and Smith high schools will man booths.

Grimsley, Page, and Smith Youth Recreation Committees, which are student groups of 25 members each, coordinate the carnival. School-affiliated clubs, if interested, each operate a booth.

Service clubs and other organizations from each of the three participating high schools will set up booths. A number of rides will also be present.

AN APOLOGY

Recently, a story appeared in HIGH LIFE telling about the trip to Atlanta, which the band had already made. Unfortunately, the information was incorrect and the members had not ventured on their journey.

Grimsley's band is now going to leave for Atlanta, Georgia, April 26, to attend the Southern Music Educators Conference.

The band will leave Wednesday and will return Saturday.

According to Nancy Duncan, president of Charioteers, the girls will have a Charioteer Cheese Cake. They will have pictures of can-can girls dancing. Members of the club will place their legs in respective holes where each attendant will try to throw rings on the girls' feet.

A Puritan scene will be set up at the Exchange Club's booth with a dunking machine as their attraction. Club members will sit on a platform, and tennis balls will be thrown at them. If the ball hits the lever, which controls the chair, the person will be thrown into a tub of water.

Water balloons will be thrown at the Exchangette booth. A girl will be sitting under a swinging pendulum. Contestants will try to hit a nail on the pendulum as it is under the girl, making her wet. The Inter-Act club will also run a booth which has water balloon throwing.

A side show of the wild man from Lower Slabovia, who eats snakes will have a booth where a contestant throws darts at balloons.

Tom Long, president of the Key Club, explained that "You always win a prize" in their booth. There will be a board with holes in it and balls are thrown into the holes, making a person a winner.

The O. Henry Juniors will have a dunking machine which is seven feet off the ground. When contestants hit the target, the trap door will open dropping a person into the water.

Philomathian Hi-Y will have an egg throwing booth. Senioresses will have dart thrown at a daisy wheel.

The GHS cheerleaders will have a water balloon throwing booth. This year marks the Fifth Annual Carnival for Greensboro.
