All-State Orchestra tryouts yielded three first chair winners from Grimsley. They are (left to right) Rie Davis, flute; Gail Knieriem, string bass; and Mary Jeane Hildebrandt, cello. Tryouts were given November 2 in Charlotte, November 4 in Greensboro, and November 6 in Chapel Hill. Tryouts included those for All-State Workshop as well as the Orchestra.

American Education Week Studies School Systems

American Education Week, which was November 5-11 this year, focuses attention on the needs and accomplishments of our country's school systems. Miss Mozelle Causey was chairman of the observance at Grimsley.

The theme for the special week was "How Good Are Your Schools At _____". Talks were given daily concerning this topic over the public address system and during assembly.

Monday morning at the beginning of second period, Tina Debs gave a talk discussing "Learning Opportunities For All."

FTA Provides Speaker

Lee Strange gave a short speech during assembly Tuesday, on "Shaping the Character of Youth." The Future Teachers of America provided the guest speaker, Dr. Amos Abrams. Dr. Abrams gave an amusing talk in connection with American Education Week. Also, at the beginning of sixth period, Skip Holt delivered a rousing discourse on "Meeting the Challenge of Change".

Bob Salvin gave an interesting speech on Wednesday, continuing the series, on "Proving Quality Teaching".

Tom Boone provided a talk about "Stimulating Life Long Learning", on Thursday. In addition to this, a luncheon was given for American Education Week guests in the Grimsley cafeteria.

Dees, Wilkins Chosen As Scholarship Finalists

Finalists in the John Motley Morehead Scholarship competition at Grimsley are Rig Dees and Charles Wilkins, both seniors.

These two boys are among eleven high school seniors from Guilford County who have succeeded in making the finals.

District competition will be held in Winston-Salem. Six students from each of the state's ten districts will continue in the competition.

Application for the original competition was submitted by October 15. Included in the requirements were a transcript of high school grades, Scholastic Aptitude test scores, the entire high school record, references as to the character of the applicant, and an interview.

Interviews from Guilford County were conducted by Dr. Thomas A. Henson and Bill Zuckerman, both of Greensboro.

Scholarship, participation in athletics, religious activities, extra-curricular school life, and education plans are all subject to consideration.

Southern Bell Employment Office Sponsors 'Career for a Day' Again

"Career for a Day" sponsored by the Greensboro Southern Bell Employment Office was projected Wednesday, November 8, as students from nearby high schools participated in the program.

Students were given a chance to sign up for the program through the guidance center. After applications were submitted, students were later notified that they had been chosen to take part in the day "Career for a Day" gave high school pupils a chance to work in the various areas of Southern Bell.

Five students from Grimsley helped to coordinate this day. They were Richard Lay, John Mackley, Judy Rhudy, Joy Smith and Sarah Ward. They worked in one of the following departments; Commercial, Engineering, Marketing, Personnel, Plant, Public Relations, and Traffic.

Banquet Given

After working all day, a banquet was given in honor of these students where they were awarded certificates for working from each department head.

Terry P. Morgan, general personnel manager from Charlotte, N. C., was the speaker for the banquet. He explained what he thought the goals of life should be. Mr. Morgan stated that curiosity was an important goal. Asking questions should be done more often so that a person will know what he is doing.

"To be thorough" was the second goal for a person to strive to achieve. Mr. Morgan stated, "Do whatever job you do well." Paying attention to details is an important part of this, for a person should dig into his job and find out what it is.

Continue To Learn

The continuance of learning was explained as an aspect of life which presents many opportunities to be nourished. A person should acquaint himself with people who know different things and have different ideas. Mr. Morgan said, "Stretching your brain" is the key to knowledge.

Mr. Morgan stressed the im-

16 GHS Musicians Selected To Join All-State Groups

Sixteen musicians from the Grimsley full orchestra have been selected to perform in the North Carolina All-State and Workshop Orchestras. These are comprised of the best players in the state.

Three Grimsley students took top positions. Mary Jeane Hildebrandt, a junior, was judged to be the best cello player in the state; Gail Knieriem, a senior, won first chair in the string bass section; and Rie Davis, a junior, is first flutist in the All-State Orchestra.

Others placed in the All-State Orchestra are Vicki Anne McKinney, Craig Pyron, Sharon Rhoades, Craig Fredrickson, and Margaret Proctor in the violin section. Suzanne McFayden received second chair in the violas. Gwen Safrit and Ann Fredrickson placed under Mary Jeane in the cello section, and Laura Truitt will play flute and piccolo.

Grimsley had four students win seats in the Workshop Orchestra. Karen Harris and Barbara Webster, both violinists, were chosen for this orchestra, as well as Louise McCaskill, a cellist.

Auditions for the two orchestras were held on November 2, 4, and 6. Results were announced the following week. Rehearsals and performance will take place in January at UNC-G.

Books Collected, Sent To Soldiers Overseas

Grimsley's Student Council collected paperback books and sent them to Viet Nam for distribution to American soldiers as the Christmas project for this year.

Collection of the books took place November 8-11 in a box set up at the desk in the main hall. Friday afternoon the books were taken to the Greensboro Red Cross for shipment.

Rebecca White was in charge of the collection. Allison Albright, Billy Hall, Mark Morris, and Sue Wyatt were also members of the informal committee which organized and ran the project.

Goal for the three-day project was 500 books. Eight hundred and three was the total, the most books being brought in by students on Friday. The figures were as follows; Wednesday, 83 books; Thursday, 175 books; and Friday, 545 books.

Send Something To Soldiers

The idea first arose when someone suggested that the council do something for "our boys in Viet Nam". The council's first idea was sending Christmas cards, but later a desire to do "more than that" prompted Rebecca's consultation with Mrs. Campbell, youth director of the Red Cross in Greensboro.

From the large list given to them by Mrs. Campbell, the student council narrowed their project down to one thing to avoid confusion and to aid collection. "We thought if it were a long list, students would either not bring anything or bring things not on the list. Everybody has paperback books," Rebecca stated.

Cost Stated

Mrs. Campbell also told the council how much it would cost to mail the books. They were shipped by the Red Cross for the student council and will be distributed by them in Viet Nam.
