

Painters Begin Healing Sad Dull Look of GHS

Recently new members of Grimsley High School have been added. Yes, four men in little white suits have joined our campus. No they haven't come to take anyone away, but they have come to take the dirt, the dullness, and sadness of GHS away, replacing it with a look of life! How is this miracle being performed? Hand strokes of brushes in paint of white, blue, pink, yellow, or green are the predominant healers.

What does this mean? It means that for the next year four workers

Value Of College Boards Questioned By Many

College Boards were taken by seniors Saturday, December 2, and will be given continuously throughout the year. During each student's junior or senior year, he will probably be confronted with this examination. Many of the students will also inquire, "Why do we have to take them? What good are they?" These are the same questions asked by everyone who is tested. However, now even some college professors are questioning the College Board's true significance.

College Boards can do either of two things for a pupil. They can help a student by showing the student's true capacity even though his grades do not indicate ability. Also the scores can drop down below a person's grades and school record, thus harming a person's chance for entering college. Usually it is imperative for a student to make a minimum of 800 on his board scores in order for a small college to accept him. This endangers a pupil who has relatively good grades but who falls down on the test.

Some people have difficulty taking an examination like the College Boards. If a person is emotionally upset or under much strain when he takes the test, this can affect his score. The scores from the tests are highly relative and can fluctuate. Therefore, the value should be questioned. Although there are many pro and con arguments concerning the subject, the final decision can only be made by educational specialists.

will be busily painting the walls and ceilings of Grimsley while the students attend their classes, so for all you clumsy students beware of wet paint! The first floor of the main building may have resembled an obstacle course two weeks ago with the never ending line of juniors purchasing their rings and the obstructions of the painters used for climbing to reach the ceiling. However, it will continue to be so with the workers' spotted rug covering the floor so that paint will not color any GHS spotless floor.

As of yet no accidents have been reported where a student walked pass the painters and found himself covered with paint. Students should remember, though, not to bother the workers and get in their way at any time. Also anyone who is allergic to paint should see his doctor for relief.

As time progresses and so do the painters, an extra effort should be put forth by each individual not to prop his feet on the wall or wipe his dirty hands on it, for after the entire school is painted, the paint job will have to last a long time. It can only do this with each student's cooperation. Newly painted rooms can help to brighten the looks and atmosphere of the school. With special care perhaps the painting can even help GHS win the School Beautiful trophy again.

Support Basketball Team By Attending All The Games

The Whirlies' basketball season has now begun, and this year's team needs everyone's support. Perhaps this will be harder than ever before for some this year. Why? Coach Bob Jamieson has explained that due to the large size of student bodies of the different high schools and due to the small capacity of the school gyms, some games will be played in the Greensboro Coliseum.

Although this location may not be as convenient to students, they should still support the team and do their best to attend most of the games, if not all of them. With more space, students who want to buy tickets at the last minute will

Did you notice something positively different about the Grimsley campus recently? Well if you didn't the big surprise is that the student parking lot was cleaned. Yes, members of all service clubs gathered Sunday afternoon, December 3, to sweep the lot and pick up the trash. This project was sponsored by Inter-club Council.

A large number of members from the clubs showed up to help with the job. This project began at 1:30 p.m. and continued for a few hours. People were asked to bring brooms to help clear trash and glass. After the paved area was rid of trash, students collected paper on the grass of the same area.

Because of the work of these students, the lot will be a safer place in which to drive, for glass will not endanger the existence of tires.

If a conscientious effort is put forward by all students, especially those who go out to lunch, then perhaps the parking lot can stay looking neat.

If people from lunch would not throw their trash on the ground, but instead used the trash cans, this would eliminate most of the needless paper.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Although it may be against popular belief, the 1967-1968 Key Club is printing a student directory.

It is true that they may seem late but if records were checked it could be found that last year's directory was not passed out until mid-December.

It might help if students knew that this year's directory has increased 40 pages and an additional 400 copies have been added since last year's printing. It might also interest students to know that the directory is compiled by the Key Club members and paid for by work done by club members.

The Key Club is not obligated to print the directory and could save $1,200 by not doing it or by charging 57 cents each to the students. Some students, who don't seem to appreciate something free, have made some very threatening remarks. They complain and seem to think that kidding about the directory is fun. Were they in the club and had to work for the money it takes to do not only the directory but the free basketball programs, honor code plaques, Pep Band music, and other club projects, then they might not be so quick to complain.

not be deprived of attending the game. Also basketball fans will have more room for moving around and yelling for their team. (If a student stands up to yell in our gym, he will lose his seat.) Another advantage of having the games in the coliseum is that the girls will not be continuously slipping as they attempt to climb the bleachers. Also there will be no danger of the girls dropping their coats, gloves, or pocketbooks on that far-away floor and having to climb between the bleachers in order to regain possessions.

Everyone remember to attend the games and bring their school spirit with them for a successful basketball season.

Student Parking Lot Cleared By Students of Service Clubs

Remember that the job required the help of many students who gave their time and energy in order to help clean this area. In the past, although the parking lot was cleaned, a student could not tell it after a few days. Let's not repeat the past but instead help keep the parking lot clean and ready for inspection at any time.

Dees' Debris

By Rig Dees

Scholastic Aptitude Tests, more commonly referred to as "College Boards," were recently taken by college-bound hopefuls of Grimsley High. A couple of the questions termed as "moderately easy" still are vivid in my mind. They are as follows:

(1) Two painters are painting a house. The house is on a square lot 326 ft. x 125 ft. The house itself appears to be green, but most people in the neighborhood think it is yellow. If one painter paints at eight strokes a minute what color is the painter's hair on the left? (a) 16.532°, (b) yes, (c) all of these, (d) false. Hint: "The angle of incidence is equal to the angle of reflection."

(2) imbibe: religion.
(a) 7.7, (b) 98.6, (c) 69.0 (d) 87. Hint: imbibe: religion.

As one can readily see, SAT's are quite an experience.

On the way to school the other day, I saw an elderly man attempting to cut his lawn with a pair of scissors. Even though I was running late, I could not resist stopping my car to observe his odd display of behavior. Finally I asked "Sir, why are you cutting your grass with a pair of scissors?" He simply replied, "That's all. There is no mower."

Activities are moving at a terrific pace thus far. Basketball season is here, and more open houses are in store for everyone. The parking lot has finally been swept. Jerry Hornig's sideburns are getting longer. Marc Ingber shaved his mustache. The student council is thinking about investing a bicycle rack for the sophomores. And I'm gonna drop out of school and become a garbage man. College Boards "blew my mind."
