VOLUME XLIV

GRIMSLEY HIGH SCHOOL, GREENSBORO, N. C. 27 410, SEPTEMBER, 30, 1968

NUMBER 1

Members of executive board meet with landscape designer to make plans for future projects to beautify GHS.

School Beautiful Requires Work of All Students

As leaves and grades began to fall, students of Grimsley are given another chance to prove their ability to make good. This chance is School Beautiful. But only through team work and co-operation among all students can it succeed.

School Beautiful is composed of a general beautification, landscaping, and clean-up-competition, among the Greensboro senior high schools during the school year.

During the summer, Rebecca White, Grimsley's School Beautiful Chairman, met with Mr. Lewis, the city high school landscape architect to discuss new landscaping projects and improvements for the present campus.

On Saturday, September 7, the Executive Board was informed of its duties and subcommittees were appointed. The committees and their chairman's are:

The students of Grimsley have great potential and with conscientious effort should have no trouble winning the trophy back. This year Grimsley has already shown enthusiasm and eagerness to compete with a record breaking Work Day and 300 student volunteers. They combined fun, refreshments, and achievements.

Major emphasis of the contest

PAST

The behavior at the YRC Open House on September 13, was considered excellent. Also the attendance was high. YRC would like to thank the student body.

Saturday, the 14, approximately 300 students worked on School Beautiful.

Rate two up for the big "G".

is placed on over-all student participation. Other areas in which the contest is judged include: total school improvement, a scrapbook; and special projects. There are four Youth Judges, one from each school participating.

Throughout the school year, there will be special projects to emphasize certain parts of the School Beautiful Contest.

Although Greensboro Youth Council sponsors Anti-Litter Week, Christmas decorations, and America the Beautiful Week, Grimsley also has a share of originality. This year, committees have been organized to undertake bold new ideas. They will provide teachers with individual parking spaces, carry out Raiders' Week (Stay tuned for there's more to come), and most important, they will cultivate and extend our campus for a park-area.

Acting as a team the students of Grimsley can accomplish only the very best. With whole-hearted participation and co-operation, the team CAN be successful under the guidance of Rebecca White and Jimmy Palmer and the inspiration of Skip Holt's beautiful body, Grimsley's School Beautiful Team is a positive winner—(Won't you join?).

MATURITY

To be able to stick with a job until it is finished.

To be able to bear an injustice without wanting to get even.

To be able to carry money without spending it.

And to do one's duty without being supervised.

Homecoming Court Announced

The members of the 1968 Grimsley Homecoming Court are: Nancy Bass, Janie Bingham, Patty Bridges, Marie Busch, Debbie Clemmons, Marcia Cooper, Gibbie Edwards, Kathy Glenn, Susan Hill, Kathy Huff, Julie Inman, Lauree Jeanes, Pam King, Martha Monnett, Lyn Moore, Margaret Shelton, Cindy Shoemaker, Marti Venable, Rebecca White, and Carrie Zierath.

This year's court was chosen, for the first time, by a special homecoming selection committee. In the past the student council, which sponsors the annual event, has had each senior member of the football squad nominate a senior girl. The selection procedure change, which was suggested by the homecoming committee and approved by Coach Jamieson and the student council, came as part of a general redefinition by the committee of what the members of the homecoming court were intended to represent.

Exchange Student

Hailing from Regensburg, West Germany, Hans Emmet is known to most everyone as the German exchange student. He arrived at the Greensboro Airport on Friday, August 30. Hans was welcomed to the city by the members of the Interact Club, and is presently staying in the home of Henry Iler, president of the organization. Before boarding the plane for Greensboro, he spent two hours in New York. He has also been to several smaller towns surrounding the area with Mr. Iler, Henry's father.

"I find the United States very interesting and wonderful. The people are very nice at school ad everywhere else. And I would like to stay on." He will be going back home in March.

Hans added that a comparison between this country and Germany would be hard to make. "One reason it is so difficult," he says, "is because of the difference in their sizes."

To learn more about the states, the sixteen year-old is taking U.S. History. Among his other courses are English, Latin, French, and Introductory Analysis. "In Germany, one must take German, Latin, English, and French. The schools there are also very mathematical," Hans explained.

For the most part, the young German is enjoying his visit, immensely, and some day, perhaps, he might return.

"In the past," said student body president Tye Hunter, "the members of the court were chosen for school spirit only in the narrow context of supporting and cheering for the team. The homecoming committee, however, believed that school spirit involves far more than just team support, and that enthusiasm shown in YRC, Pep Board, School Beautiful, and other service organizations should deserve equal recognition. The change in election procedures was made so that the court might more fairly represent all aspects of school spirit among our senior girls."

The selection committee included the senior members of the student council executive board. (Tye Hunter, Jim Walters, Mark Morris, Ralph Voight, and Skip Holt); interclub council president, Bill Buckley; Mr. Glenn, Miss Moody and Miss Hundley.

The twenty members of the court were chosen from a list of all girls in the senior class.

The entire court will be presented to the student body, with their escorts, at a future assembly. The student body will vote for the Homecoming Queen during homeroom period on October 17.

The homecoming pageant will be held on Friday night October 18 during the half-time ceremonies of the Grimsley-Asheville game. When the 1968 homecoming queen is announced, she will be crowned by student body president Tye Hunter.

After game, the YRC will sponsor the traditional Homecoming dance to honor the queen and her court.

Another Grimsley homecoming tradition will return this year with homecoming displays again being planned. The displays will be built by service clubs and will be erected on the front lawn of the school Friday morning before the game. The different displays will be judged and a prize will be presented at halftime to the president of the club with the winning display.

Campaign '68

Campaign '68 will make a brief stop at Grimsley this year when Congressional candidates L. Richardson Preyer and Bill Osteen come to speak to the GHS student body during the month of October. The two sixth district hopefuls, whose appearances were arranged by Mr. Routh, will speak to assemblies on October sixth and thirteenth.

In conjunction with the two speeches, a preferential election has been planned to be taken within the school sometime after the speeches are given. The poll will include the Congressional, presidential, and gubernatorial contests and the results of the balloting will be announced in High Life on the Monday before election day.

Mr. Osteen will speak at the first of the two assemblies, which has been planned for first period, Tuesday, October 8. His speech will be followed a week later when Mr. Preyer will be given his chance with the Whirlies.

Both candidates have been encouraged to speak on the issues, and not deliver the "sermon" that Grimsley assembly-goers are so used to. The candidates have also agreed to give over half their 20 minute speaking time for "question and answer" periods.

PRESENT

YRC will have the Whirlbird in the main hall this year to publicize the open houses and other YRC events. A ticket booth will also be near the desk in the main hall for students wishing to purchase open house tickets.

Seniors Change Class Project

For the first time in many years, Grimsley's senior class has a new money-making project, and hopes are that the new project will help make this year's class the richest ever to graduate and leave the school a gift. No longer will seniors be peddling the traditional blue and white ribbons, this year they're selling tee-shirts, and are very happy with the change. The shirts, which will sell for two dollars a piece, will be white with blue trim and will have an emblem with "GHS" and the graduating class of the student. If all goes as senior class president Mark Morris, and vice-president David Heinz are hoping, at least one thousand of the tee-shirts will be sold at a profit of seventy-five cents a piece.

The old blue and white ribbons, however, have not been forsaken. Heinz, who also serves as president of the Exchange Club, arranged for the ribbon sales to be taken over by the Exchange and Exchangette clubs. For the past weeks these two clubs have split the work, along with the profit, of seeing that spirit-minded Whirlies have their ribbons.

The reason for the change, as explained by Heinz, supervisor of the tee-shirt sales, was to give the dynamically creative class of '69 a new project that would reflect that originality. The project will also make the class a lot of money, as well as make it necessary for the class of '70 to find itself still another project.

The tee-shirts should be on sale sometime after Monday, September 30. The first shipment will contain a few samples, and students wishing to buy tee-shirts will have to make a one dollar down payment and pay the balance on arrival of the shirts from the factory.
