Crouch Winner Of Scholarship

Perry Crouch, a senior at GHS has just won the first twelve hundred dollar college scholarship to be awarded by the Greensboro Daily News and Greensboro Record.

Selected from a list of applicants, he was chosen by a committee for his "outstanding community citizenship, route work and performance in school." Perry is a Daily News carrier and has been since January 1, 1967. He has also delivered the Record before, because he enjoys the work immensely.

band and participating in track events.

The money Perry has earned from being a carrier has gone into a savings account to help pay for his college expenses. He feels, "the most rewarding part of experience as a carrier is my having the opportunity to associate with the many, many types of people on my route"

Women Sell Insurance At School

On Wednesday, the 13th, the Insurance Women of Greater Greensboro sold insurance at the school. The insurance was not for an individual's protection but the ladies were selling it as a potential career for young people.

This selling of insurance coincided with American Education Week which is directed toward the students.

Mrs. W. J. Moody, a guidance counselor here at GHS, arranged for the appearance in co-operation with the group's chairman, Mrs. Lucille M. Langston.

The women met with four different groups of students during the day. They showed a film concerning careers dealing with insurance and answered any questions the students had.

Last year, the group brought this program to 700 students. Later this year, the women will present it to students at Dudley and Smith.

The group spent two years developing this presentation for high school career day programs.

See Yourself

A visitor to the Severn Wildfowl Trust complex in England is confronted with a large mirror above which is written:

You are looking at a specimen of the most dangerous and destructive animal the world has ever known . . .

When the viewer has pondered this, together with his own image in the mirror, he can read this:

He is also the most imaginative and creative animal . . . and he has evolved a conscience.

New Advisor For Hi-Y

The Grimsley Hi-Y club has a new advisor. Mr. Saunders, a new Math teacher here at GHS, has accepted the job due to the unfortunate illness of Julius Hayworth.

Mr. Hayworth has been with the Hi-Y club quite a few years and has kept the club up in fine shape. The Hi-Y club is the oldest service club at GHS and maintaining a fine record. All feel that Mr. Saunders' imagination and vigor will aid him in doing an excellent job as the new advisor.

GOOD LUCK!

Bands Perform Concert

The Symphony and Concert Bands gave a concert of selected music on November 14 at 8:00 p.m.

A French composition entitled "Sete Dieu A Seville" by Albeny was performed by the Symphony Band. A march, "Cherrio," by Goldman, was next presented. Part of this selection was voice and the audience was asked to join in with the words. "Tannhauser" was the finale of the program. Various music was also provided by the Concert Band.

On Saturday, November 16, a similar program was played for the North Carolina and Virginia Band Masters Society. Both the Concert and Symphony Bands performed. In addition, bands from High Point, Raleigh, Lynchburg, and Kiser were there.

Cheerleaders Receive Megaphones

The Varsity Cheerleaders, after years of hard work, have finally received their megaphones.

A sturdy, thirty-six inches tall, the eleven megaphones were donated by various clubs at GHS. Each organization donated ten dollars, through the Interclub Council. The following eleven clubs contributed: Key Club, O. Henry Juniors, Exchange Club, Exchange ettes, Jaycees, Jaycettes, Sub-Jrs., Civitans, Civinettes, Charioteers, and Seniorettes.

Colored in the school colors, blue and white, the megaphones will be passed on each year to the new group of cheerleaders. This marks their first year of use. The cheerleaders are thrilled at the idea of getting them and would like to thank the clubs who made them possible

Choir To Present Concert

On Wednesday evening, November 20, the Grimsley High School Choir will present its annual choral concert at 8:00 p.m. in the school auditorium.

The choir, along with the singing group, the Madrigals chosen from the choir members will sing an array of musical numbers, including a few Christmas selections. The program will be started with the choir singing "Gloria," under the direction of Dr. Richard Cox, a member of the music department at UNC-G. Their next two selections will be "The Road Not Taken" and "Goodnight My Someone."

The Madrigals will next deck the stage as they present four numbers. These selections will be "Weep, O Mine Eyes," "Farewell

My Love," "Lo How a Rose," and "The Holly and the Ivy."

After the completion of their performance, the choir will again provide the music with the selections "While By My Sheep," "Still Still Still," "Do You Hear What I Hear," and "Hymn for Mankind."

Members of the choir and Madrigals will be dressed in their new uniforms of blue and white. The girls will wear simple white dresses with their own navy blue monograms. Navy Blue suits, light blue or white shirts, and white or navy blue ties will complete the boys' attire.

Tickets are still on sale by students and members of the music department for fifty cents.

JCL Holds Induction Service

The annual induction service of the Junior Classical League was held Wednesday, October 30. Thirty-six new members were inducted.

The service was opened with a welcome by JCL president Bob Jones. Then the Lord's Prayer was delivered in Latin by Trish Kellett, first vice-president.

The traditional candlelight induction ritual was then performed by officers of the club. Bob Jones presided as High Priest. The Spirit of First Year Latin was portrayed by Martha Gabriel. The Spirits of second, third, and fourth year Latin were portrayed by Patti Howell, Cindy Johnson, and Rie Davis.

Hans Emert, Grimsley's German exchange student, and a member of the Vergil class, was inducted as an honorary member.

At the conclusion of the induction ritual, the members repeated the creed of JCL. Music was provided for the service by the Grimsley Singing Strings.
