DECA Club District Competition To Be Held

This year's sixth district DECA club competition will be held a week from today on February 11 at Central High School in High Point. Among those competing will be representatives of Grimsley's 50 member organization. They will be competing for one, two, and three star awards in categories including: Job Interview, Sales Demonstration, Public Speaking and Copy Writing. Also to be determined will be the winner of the sixth district DECA "student of the year". This award is based on scholarship, leadership, job preference and participation in club activities. A DECA "sweetheart" contest will also be held.

DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America) is a national organization with approximately 100,000 members. It is a professional organization on a high school level with clubs in every state and in Puerto Rico. North Carolina DECA is one of the charter members of this organization which was chartered in 1942.

Sam Scott, a Grimsley student, is president of the sixth district which includes schools in Guilford, Alamance and Rockingham counties. Officers in the Grimsley club include: Laura Bridges, assoc. Pres.; Bobbi Gibson, vice-president; Patricia Self, secretary; and Billy Davis, treasurer.

The results of the district competition will determine who is eligible to compete at the state convention which will be in Raleigh March 3. In past years Grimsley has done very well in convention competition and has, for the last eleven years, received the three star award for total club achievement. The award has only been given for eleven years.

New Honor Code Plans Are Laid

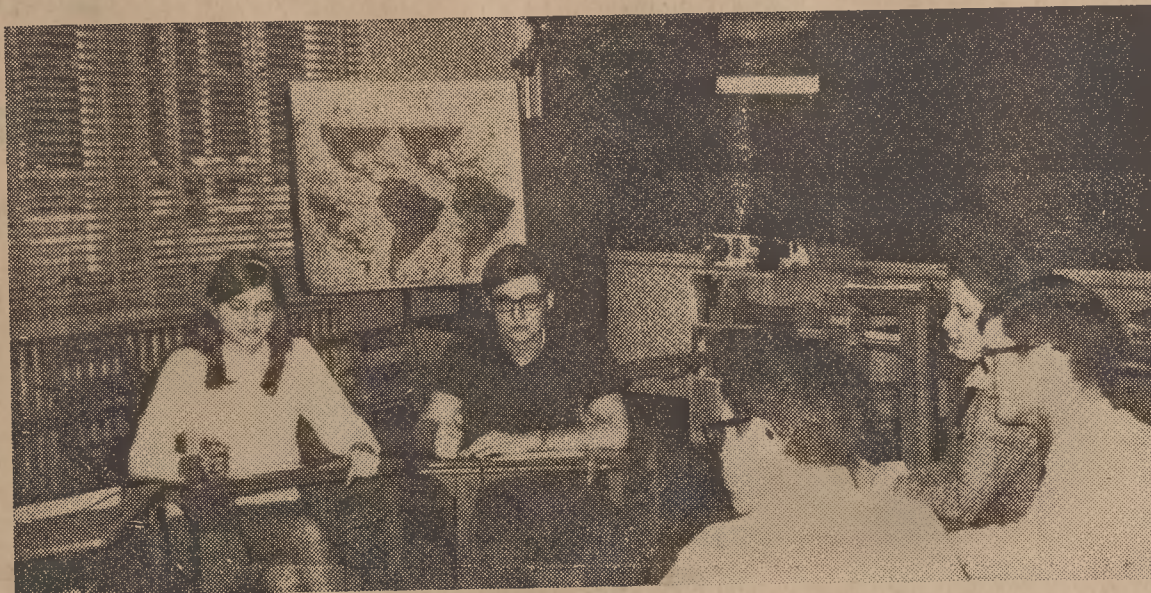

Thursday, January twenty-third, the committee formed for the discussion of a new honor code met in the auditorium. Suggestions and discussion of the new honor code were thoroughly covered in this meeting open to the student body. Of the seventeen who attended, six were members of the committee.

The new honor code will stress the individual as he is important to the group. It will be something that each person can interpret for himself and, ideally will aid in the development of one's personal honor code. It will try to help develop self respect and self reliance.

Discussion about a new honor code began a few months ago during an assembly concerning our present code. The drive for a new code began. Speakers at that assembly were Albert S. Lineberry, who spoke on honor in general, and Tye Hunter, who spoke on honor to oneself. Bill Buckley discussed how our honor code should be revised. A committee was set up by the student council to take a look at our present code. It found the code to be out of date and began the task of writing a new one.

Proposed for the future will be a report of the committee to the student council. If approved, assemblies explaining the meaning of the new code will be in future plans. The new code must also be ratified by a two thirds majority vote of the student body.

The new code will be written in the form of a paragraph. The idea of listing to some appears to be more like a set of laws than an honor code. The paragraph structure will be an idea to read and think about rather than a list of items to be ignored or skimmed over quickly.

Grimsley High IQ Bowl team members Kathy Shields, George Sharp, Jane Garvey, Bob Jones and alternate Rick Ballou practice their quick-recall skills for approaching interscholastic competition.

Grimsley Competes In Bowl

Again this year, a team of Grimsley students is competing in the Greensboro Youth Council sponsored Hi IQ Bowl. Members of the team are: Jane Garvey, Bob Jones, George Sharp and Kathy Shields. Rick Ballou is the team alternate.

The first round of the contest, which brings together teams from thirty two high schools within the WFMY-TV viewing area, was held on Saturday, Feb. 1. The second round will be held on Feb. 8 and the final championship round will be televised on WFMY sometime near the end of February. The bowl is a double elimination tournament, patterned closely after the GE College Bowl, in which four-member teams compete against one another in rounds of twenty minutes where they receive points for answering quick-recall, objective questions.

At stake in the competition are scholarships of $250 for each member of the winning team and $100 for each member of the runner-up team. Smaller scholarships will also be given to the alternate members of the winning and runner-up teams. The money for these scholarships was provided by North Carolina National Bank who, along with the Jaycees and WFMY, help to sponsor the event.

In addition to the scholarships, a revolving trophy will also be awarded to the winning team to be kept by their school. For the last two years this trophy has been kept at Page Senior High. Should Page win again this year the trophy will be retired and kept in their possession.

Dewitt McCarley, a Grimsley student, is chairman of the GYC committee in charge of the event.

The Grimsley team was chosen from among nearly twenty Grimsley seniors who had expressed an interest in competing in the Hi IQ Bowl. They were picked by a random committee of faculty members who chose the group on the basis of certain test scores, class standing and an effort to have a team that was balanced in all areas of learning.

Talent Show Tryouts Planned

For the fifth straight year the Teen-Age Talent Show will be presented by the Greensboro Youth Council and the Knights of Columbus. The show will be held at the War Memorial Auditorium on March 8th at 8 p.m.

Those participating in the final show will have a chance to win an appearance on the Ted Mack Amateur Hour with an all-expense paid trip to New York. The winning combo will receive a chance to have a recording session at a recording studio.

Various auditions will be held to choose the acts for the final show. On February 8th, from 9:30 to 12:30, the vocal auditions will be held at the First Presbyterian Church. Each vocalist must prepare two songs not lasting longer than five minutes. A piano will be available, but each person must bring his own accompanist.

The auditions for the Combos and instrumental groups will be held on the 9th from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Lewis Community Center. The presentation of each group can be no longer than 8 minutes. There will be no Public Address system available so each group, if needed, must provide their own equipment.

All auditions for instrumental solos, dance, dramatics, comedy, acts, novelty acts and all others will be held on the 15th from 9:30 to 12:30 at the First Presbyterian Church. Each act must not last over 5 minutes. A record player will be available, but other equipment must be provided by the contestants.

The winners from these auditions will appear on the Good Morning Show the week of Feb. 24th to March 7th before the show.

Other awards will include cash prizes for the best individual and group acts. Certificates will be given to all those who audition to appear in the show.

TWIRP DANCE

Girls, your chance has finally come to get that "DREAMBOAT" guy you've been waiting for all year! Yes, that's right! TWIRP is on it's way to Grimsley! For anyone who doesn't already know—TWIRP means; The Woman Is Required to Pay! This year the annual TWIRP dance, sponsored by YRC, will be held on SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 15th. The theme of the dance will be based on VALENTINE'S DAY. Once again, the ritual of a TWIRP king will be held! Also, you boys look out for the invasion of the TWIRP TRAFFIC SQUAD! All you girls out there grab a fellow and invite him to this year's TWIRP Dance, which is going to be the best one yet! Remember that date SATURDAY FEBRUARY 15th. More information in the next issue of HIGH LIFE.

Concert Given

On January 30th at 8 p.m. the symphony and concert bands of Grimsley presented their midwinter concert in the School Auditorium.

The Concert Band was conducted by Edgar Rooker. They performed three modern chorales, scored for band by Phillip Gordon. These were "Die Meistersingers" by Wagner, "Alto Rhapsody, Opus 53" by Brahms, and "Chorale" by Franck. "Brighton Beach" by Latham was played as well as highlights from "Fiddler on the Roof."

Herbert Hazelman led the symphony band as they presented several numbers. Among these were adagio and allegro from "Concerto Grosso in D Minor" and "Opus 2, No. 11" by Vivaldi. A collection of numbers for brass instruments entitled "Bass Menagerie", "Fortinbras March" from "Hamlet" by Shostakovich, and "Anatolia" by Creston were also performed along with selections from "My Fair Lady."

Thoughts From The Editorial Page

During the past months since the last School Beautiful Workday, tons of trash have appeared on the grounds of our school. Since we have to live with this gigantic mess, we hope enough people receive inspiration to come to the next School Beautiful Workday and help clean up this dump.

According to reports, and a notice on a bulletin board, there is a new non-service club at Grimsley. We don't know if it is approved by the administration yet or how many members it has. Its main philosophy is dedicated to "a naturally depraved human mind".

Apathy is still apparent in the school even after exams. Another Honor Code Committee meeting was held. The number was greater than that of the first meeting, but we had hope more people would take an interest in the process that governs them.
