Carolyn Tucker Wins Scholarship

A year ago March two classrooms of students gathered to take the National Merit Scholarship qualifying test. When fall came, 18 Grimsley students were notified that they had become National Merit Semi-finalists. They are: Jane Garvey, Rie Davis, Cindy Johnson, Marcia Kennedy, Julie Inman, George Sharp, Sam Jacobs, Susan Cocklereese, Jo Tuska, Susan Gibson, Kathy Shields, Carolyn Tucker, Ben Bullen, Bob Jones, David Heinz, Carolyn Kornegay, Kathryn Jones, and Jeff Smith. The National Merit Board reviewed these people and decided who would be the finalists to receive scholarships. Carolyn Tucker, a senior at Grimsley, won a scholarship.

There are two types of scholarships available to the finalists. The first is the regular National Merit Scholarship which is $1,000 for one year at any college chosen by the student. The second type is a scholarship sponsored by a company for various amounts and is renewable for all four years. The Merit finalist, however, has no choice of which scholarship he or she will receive. This is all done by a National Merit Board.

Farewell Speeches Given In Assembly

Last Tuesday, May 6, the installation assembly took place, with the installation of the 1969-1970 officers and the retiring of the officers for 1968-69.

Gibbe Edwards, former YRC chairman, spoke first, saying that being YRC chairman has been a lot of work, yet "getting to know people in such an organization as YRC will help me when I leave Grimsley." She advised the class of '70 to "work with your leaders and understand them next year."

Ralph Voight, traffic chief, defended the squad against the criticism it has received this year. "The squad cannot operate successfully without the full cooperation of the student body," Ralph said, and in closing he praised "the most respected member of the faculty, Mr. Glenn for his willingness to discuss student complaints with any member of the student body".

Skip Holt, retiring Pep Board Chairman, opened his speech with words that he had said twelve months ago during his campaign for office: "Running for a school office is like dancing at a GHS Open House—no matter which way you turn you rub somebody the wrong way." Although he had praise for this year's Pep Board, Skip regretted the restrictions placed on the member's activities. "We speak so often now of the failure to communicate between the two generations. I have felt any one of a hundred different emotions this year because I could not communicate with the faculty.

I have tried to do things differently but I have wanted to communicate also. It may well have been my very nature that has caused the failure to do so. And because of my frustration, my disgust, and my complete exhaustion, I have given up. I am a good student now—I no longer make waves." Skip closed his speech with the words, "And it will all have been worth it, if the efforts I have made shall not be forgotten—if they have affected at least one of you."

Treasurer Don DeBragga gave the year's financial report, including the expenses for Homecoming, May Day, and school improvement. Don praised the achievement of Project Hope, and the fact that for the "first time in Whirlie history, the Pep chairman spent less than was designated for his use by the Council."

Secretary Carol Pleasants then gave the year-end Council report, naming such projects as Homecoming, elections, the Honor Challenge, and the upcoming student bill boards and book cases. Carol closed with the wish "that I had the chance to be on council next year."

Senior Class President Mark Morris declared that "this year has been disheartening, enlightening, and encouraging, all at the same time. I have seen that Grimsley students often do not really care about the things that they claim are important to them." He did mention certain people who "have carried a great deal of the responsibility of the
