

HOWLA

Again this year Spring has come to Grimsley. The campus is blooming and we have run out of picture ideas. This space is dedicated to all who have not noticed. Take a look.

Election Results Given For Junior, Senior Class Officers

Ed. Note—Partial elections have been reported at the time of going to press. The unusual circumstances have made it impossible for us to report full elections to you until our next issue.

Grimsley's election for junior and senior classes was completed and counted Friday, April 17. The results of the election were not contested. The following people will serve as officers, student council, and Youth Recreation Committee members for the year 1970-1971.

In the senior class the president will be Randy Hudson, the vice-president, Ansel Boiter; the secretary, Ginny Silkworth; and the treasurer, Steve Harris. The student council will have nine representatives from the senior class. They are Cam Brown, Robert Brough, Diane Dockery, Lisa Folk, Gaines Hunter, Larry Newlin, Debi Osborne, Gayle Pitts, and Connie Voight.

Junior class president will be Bobby Mendenhall. The other officers are Art Cameron, vice-president; Claudia Lane, secretary; Amry Stout, treasurer. Ten juniors will serve as student council representatives. They are Lucky Anderson, Hank Bullard, Betsy Carlton, Jodi Colchamira, Cy Johnson, Karen McLoud, Marcus Matthews, Tricia Monnett, John Shields, and Pat Wood.

The Youth Recreation committee of student council, has also elected representatives for next year. The seniors will be Becky Garrett, Susan Harris, Lyn Kaplan, Pat Lindsay, Bill McKinnon, Sue Robbins, Panny Sekadlo, Nancy Tallon, Susan Tanger. The juniors will be Melanie Gibson, Lou Hudson, Susan Lindsay, Simone McDonald, Jane Neese, Susan Pacifico, Susie Pruitt, Susan Stephens, Cobie Troutman, and Carol Williams.

The election for president and other executive officers took place on Friday, April 23. This was the second vote and was done on voting machines. The second ballot was needed because of a recount and check of registration books called for by Joe Frazer, a candidate for president. The count found 157 more ballots than people registered. Robert Mosely, attorney for the city school board, was called and asked about the legality of the matter. He said the election on executive board should be done again because of the wide discrepancy.

The sophomores will elect their officers after the first six weeks of school in the fall term. At that time they will join the juniors and seniors who will already be in student council and Y.R.C.

Seniors Hold Dance As Money-making Project

The Emphatics made the music as the seniors here at Grimsley held a dance on Saturday, April 25, at the girls' gym. It was their main money-making project for the year.

The senior class has been having difficulty all year with regard to making money. The ever-present ribbons, which usually succeed in bringing in a large share of the class's money didn't do as well as expected, so Mr. Glenn authorized a second project, the selling of parkas. Several large shipments of the parkas were ordered; the first of which was to be delivered at the school on December 15 of 1969. When this first shipment had not arrived by March 15th of this year, it was decided to make a quick change. Realizing the predicament, Mr. Glenn promptly authorized the dance as an alternate project. The profit from the dance and other projects will go toward the class gift for the school, and, as in years past, the seniors want to present as best a gift to their Alma Mater as they can.

There have been quite a few drawbacks, but hopefully, the money from this dance has proved to be enough to supplement the otherwise low amount on hand.

Orchestra To Hold Concerto Night

Concerto Night is at 8:00 in the GHS auditorium on May 5. At this annual concert, the senior orchestra members have to prove their musical talents by performing as soloists. The rest of the orchestra provides background.

Margaret Proctor will play Wieniawski's Violin Concerto No. 2, and Barbara Webster will play Mozart's Violin Concerto No. 2. Julia Barta will play Mozart's Violin Concerto No. 3. Vivaldi's Viola Concerto in D minor will be played by Tom Wilson. Shirley Lawrence will perform J. S. Bach's Concerto No. 1 in A minor with the violin, and Gwen Safrit, Bach's Concerto in C minor with the cello. Becky Daniel will play Mendelssohn's Piano Concerto No. 1.

Concerto Night solos are open to any capable senior orchestra member. Those playing choose their own music.

Tickets to the concert cost adults 50c and students 25c.

N. C. Library Convention Held

Several delegates from Grimsley went to the North Carolina High School Library Association Convention held at the Durham Hotel and Motel in Durham April 17th and 18th.

Martha Somers, Helen Ross, Anita Warwick, and Margie Gibbs went with Miss Herring to Durham. They left early Friday morning.

Discussion groups were held on the different aspects of library work, library careers, and making book reviews. One discussion group included a lecture by a Duke professor on ESP.

A program done by a modern dance group from Durham High School and a banquet Friday night were among the highlights of the convention.

News Releases From The Greensboro Youth Council

DeWitt McCarley, chairman of the Greensboro Youth Council, announced that Greensboro's official city-wide Youth Week for 1970 would be held from April 26-May 2. The first event of the Youth Week period will be the Youth Week art show and sale at Friendly Shopping Center on Saturday, April 25. Sunday is dedicated to letting the youth of the church take part in the services. On Monday, April 27, the Junior City Council will conduct its Youth Week meeting in the City Council chamber, at 4:15 p.m. The public is invited to this session. On Tuesday, April 28, the Greensboro Youth Plaza will be officially dedicated. The ceremony will take place at 4:15 at the Youth Plaza between Lindsay, Summit and Church streets, and the public is invited. On Wednesday, April 29, the Junior City Council banquet will be held. This banquet is given by the Jayees to honor the members of the Junior City Council program. On Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, the annual Teen-Age Carnival will be held at K-Mart parking lot No. 2.

In addition to the events listed above, local radio stations will be cooperating with Youth Week by recognizing outstanding youth or their stations daily as youth of the day during all the days of Youth Week. Many other civic groups and schools will also be cooperating in the production of events to recognize the youth in their area.

For any additional information on Youth Week events, contact the Greensboro Youth Council, 378-1815.

This year will be Cone Mills first year in the awards program. Contest awards will be presented at the hands conference on May 13.

Senior Exams Made Optional By Dr. House

Doctor House, superintendent of Greensboro Public schools, announced at the April 21 school board meeting that senior final exams will be optional this year.

This decision came after the faculties at the four senior high schools voted for the plan. The plan makes exams optional to a senior, instead, group seminars and other activities will be offered during exam time.

The plan was proposed by Freddy Robinson, Grimsley district director of the Greensboro Youth Council. It was then presented to Doctor House who took it to the four principals. He then decided to let the faculties vote on whether or not to have them.

The vote at Grimsley was taken after much debate. The plan after its initial presentation was put into a committee of five students and five teachers. They were to recommend on whether or not it was a feasible idea. The committee also brought up the proposed discussion and seminars. After its recommendation the whole faculty voted on it. It passed.

Final approval was made by Doctor House. It was announced in the Greensboro Record prior to the meeting on April 21.
