Drill Team Takes Third

To Grimsley's Marine Junior ROTC members, their drill team is one of the best in the state. This fact was proven in strict competition against other units from across North Carolina recently, where "The Grimsley Marines" placed third.

The top three teams were only 99 competitive points apart out of a possible 2700 points.

S.C. State University was the location for the 1972 Junior ROTC drill competition. Other drill teams from schools elsewhere were present for the competition. The meet started at nine a.m. on the morning of April 8.

Inclement weather conditions made it difficult to drill, but all the units present did a good job.

Grimsley's unit was the only Marine unit represented.

There was an abundance of Army, Air Force, and Navy ROTC units at the meet. Judging was very tough. The judges' panel was made up of six judges from all four branches of the armed forces.

Grimsley's unit entered in the precision drill category. This category consisted of drilling movements in a marked-off area. Each team was graded on the basis of mistakes made, and a certain number of points was subtracted for each error.

First Lt. Carter Pate led Grimsley's unit to a third place win in the state competition.

News Briefs

MAYDAY festivities will commence on Wednesday, May 3 at 5:00 p.m. on Grimsley's front lawn. During the pageant the 1972 GHS May Court will be presented and the Queen crowned. Admission will be free.

All library books and other materials must be returned by 4:30 p.m. on May 19, 1972. Effective Monday, May 22, a penalty of 25c per day per book will be charged.

District elections for the Greensboro Youth Council were held yesterday in the sophomore and junior homerooms. The executive board elections for GYC will be May 11.

The girl Madrigals and mixed Madrigals sang for the GHS PTSA on Monday, April 24. Mike Hogewood sang "This Guy's In Love With You."

Grimsley sponsored an area concert Tuesday, April 18, featuring the choral department and junior highs.

"Superstar" will be featured in the final band concert May 18 in our auditorium.

Fashion Show Very Profitable

The Charioteer's fashion show (April 13) sponsored by Laurie's and Tom Boone Tailors ended very successfully. More than 200 people attended the program at Christ Methodist Church. Twelve girls from the club modeled a variety of clothes, including bathing suits, tennis outfits, skirts, dresses, sleepwear, and pant suits.

During intermission, Doris Perry from Smith and Jeff Krueck, a GHS student, sang ballads.

After intermission, some girls modeled formals and were escorted by several boys from Grimsley wearing Tom Boone's newest prom outfits.

The show ended with door prizes, mostly from Roy Rogers, Potpourri, and The Pizza Hut.

Mary Norelius, president of the Charioteers, reports that the club received about $120.00 profit. Her thanks go to members of Interact for ushering, Fleet-Plummer Hardware for their cash donation, and Holiday Magis Cosmetics.

Sugarloaf To Perform May 7 At Aycock Aud.

On May 7 at 3:00 p.m. in the Aycock Auditorium, the Greensboro Youth Council will present Sugarloaf and The Majors.

The Majors from A&T are a top soul band in this area. They have played in Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia, and Tennessee.

Sugarloaf, popular for "Green Eyed Lady," is a national group from Denver, Colorado. They have played at the Blue Max and received a standing ovation at Festival I.

Last year 1800 people showed up to hear the Grass Roots and Force. The age range in the audience was from junior high to thirty or forty year olds.

According to Dave Earnhardt, this year's performance is expected to be a sellout. Tickets will be on sale until May 6 at the Greensboro Record Centers, The Record Bar, and Elliot Hall at UNC-G. Advance tickets are $2.00 but they can be purchased for $3.00 at the door.

Environmental Careers Studied

All senior high school students, teachers, and any other interested persons were invited to an "Environmental Careers Day" on April 29. The purpose of this seminar was to direct and inform students into possible careers of environmental protection and related fields.

The meeting was held from 11:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. on April 29, 1972. The Environmental Protection Agency at the Research Triangle Park in Raleigh provided the setting for this informative day. Films, exhibits, and governmental speakers were presented.

Also present were government representatives from Washington, D.C., who spoke about student participation in "The President's Environmental Merit Awards Program."

Summers Named HIGH LIFE Editor

HIGH LIFE staff for 1972-1973 will be dominated by amateurs. All seven editorial staff members this year are seniors and will leave some big gaps for next year.

However, the staff, though not completely formed, is already getting under way.

Donna Summers, recently named editor-in-chief, and Tim Spangler, junior editor, both have Journalism I experience to back them up, while Donna has also been a full-fledged staff member all year.

The new HIGH LIFE staff will be made up of this year's Journalism I students and staff members. The class members are already getting experience in meeting deadlines. They are planning and publishing the next issue of HIGH LIFE—Issue No. 14—entirely by themselves, while the newspaper staff is working on a special senior edition to be published at the end of the school year.

Ben Sells, a senior, has been elected the editor for this one issue by the other Journalism I students.

The upcoming staff plans to keep busy over the summer. Donna and Mrs. Morton, adviser, hope to attend the annual North Carolina Scholastic Press Institute in Chapel Hill the last of June.

In addition, the ad staff and all available staff members will be getting together in August to solicit advertisers for the year.

An issue of HIGH LIFE is anticipated for the first full school day next fall.

The complete staff will be announced as soon as all applications are handed in and considered by Mrs. Morton.

lotte when they attended a luncheon at the Luau Restaurant as guests of their printing representative, Mr. Frank Fleming. The staff was also treated to a tour of the Delman Printing Company where the WHIRLIGIG is printed and bound.

Review of GYC Carnival

Russ Livingston of Grimsley and Nancy Snavely from Page were in charge of this year's Greensboro Youth Council Carnival. The dates were April 27-30. There were combo contests as well as pizza and pie-eating contests. One group from Dudley was in charge of a basketball booth. They gave prizes away to contestants who got three baskets. Many other service clubs, youth groups, or church groups participated. A rental fee was required for each booth, but the rest of the profit went to the clubs.

The activities were held at the K-Mart parking lot. Prices ranged from 10c for children to 25c for students and adults.

Plans For '73 Whirligig

The 1973 WHIRLIGIG staff will be led by Debbie Dawson and Beverly Leonard, both of whom were named co-editors-in-chief. Managing Editor will be Barbara Daniel, and the Business Editor's seat will be filled by Barbara Vard.

Plans for the 1973 WHIRLIGIG have been in progress since the '72 WHIRLIGIG went to press. The design, theme, and page-by-page content have already been decided. Drawings for the page layouts are presently being created. The contracts for portrait photography and for printing and binding have already been signed.

On April 27, eight WHIRLIGIG staff members, Miss Powell, advisor, and Mr. Ballance, assistant principal, spent the day in Char-
