GYC Teenage Carnival Slated For April 25-29; Booths, Rides, Contests

Exciting days and good times are here again as the final preparations for the annual Teenage Carnival are being completed.

April 25-29 are the dates set for the Carnival at K-Mart parking lot No. 2. Auctions, contests, Kiddie Days, and rides will highlight the spectacular Carnival week.

Booths of all kinds—Dunking, wheel of fortune, egg, pie, ring, ball, and dart throwing, pick a duck, and many other booths will draw thousands to the Midway. Every game gives a prize to every player—win or lose. All 40 booths are sponsored by religious, academic, and service groups.

Contests to be held at the carnival will include such events as pie eating, greasy pole climbing, and the battle of the bands, Friday night. Announcements will be made in the local radio stations concerning times of contests.

Auctions will be held Saturday. Used and slightly damaged articles will be sold at terrific reductions for the public.

A colorful part of any carnival is the clowns and this year GYC's clowns will add to the whole carnival. They have prepared to work in the carnival by attending a Saturday workshop where they learned the "tricks of the trade." The clowns will entertain with one minute skits and tricks. Also, the traditional barkers will collect tickets at the gates, which is a new policy.

Helium balloon, and refreshments will be sold. Professional rides will also be located on the lot. Come and have a great time at the Carnival — SEE YOU THERE.

News Briefs

According to YRC co-chairmen Angie Dixon and Ann McDaniel, the TWIRP dance held March 31 was a big success with over 100 people attending it. "Quagmyre" provided the music.

In the State Drama Festival held at Catawba College, Debbie Michaels and Susan Pearce captured acting awards for their performances. The play "Gloria Mundi" received a Distinguished rating and went into further competition in Charlotte where it received an Excellent rating and Debbie got another award.

The Grimsley orchestra, under the direction of Charles Jones received an excellent rating in the State F Contest at Burlington.

Watch for the students to take over the school! The first of May will mark the first annual Student-Faculty Relations week, the highlight of which will be Student Leadership Day.

GHS Marine Corps ROTC drilled their way to a strong second place out of 27 teams in state ROTC drill competition at Raleigh, March 24.

GYC Posts Busy Spring Schedule

Many of the biggest Youth Council projects of the year occur this spring. The spring projects include the annual Teen-Age Carnival, High I.Q. Bowl, Junior City Council, Who's Who Among Greensboro Youth, Call-In, and the spring elections and awards.

The Teen-Age Carnival, under the direction of GHS junior Bernard Carroll and Glenn Trent of Dudley is scheduled for April 26-29.

Grimsley's High I.Q. Bowl team remains undefeated after crushing cross-town rival Page.

Junior City Council held its government seminar April 14. Over 200 students from the four city high schools participated in the project. Candidates were elected from history classes and attended a workshop in which they learned about all facets of city government from government officials and experts in the political science field.

Following the workshop, candidates still interested in pursuing an office post took the Junior City Council Quiz which was based on workshop material and problem-solving sheets that served as tie-breakers. Highest scorers got their choice of municipal government positions.

A City Hall tour, recognition banquet, and the actual Junior City Council meeting are scheduled for early May. Special contests in the speech and essay categories were held in conjunction with the government workshop.

Spring elections for councilmen for 1973-74 are underway. Continued on Page Five

ICC Students Triumph, Win District Trophies

Grimsley Industrial Cooperative Training students brought home four trophies through participation in the District 5 Vocational Industrial Clubs of America Contest Meeting at Northwest Guilford High School on April 10.

Students in the contests represented schools throughout the district which is composed of 10 Piedmont counties. Grimsley VICA members captured more trophies in this contest than any of the other schools represented. This was also the most trophies that Grimsley VICA members had ever won in a previous year of competition.

Allen Odom, won first place in the Job Interview Contest, which had more contestants than any other contest. During the simulated job interview, Allen filled out a job application, was screened by a receptionist, and was interviewed by a professional interviewer. He was asked questions about his present work in a local orthodontist's laboratory and his plans to enter the field of dentistry after his college education.

Another 1st place trophy went to the Grimsley ICT students in the VICA Opening and Closing Ceremonies Team. Team members were as follows: Steve Rogers, president; Kim Freeman, vice-president; Laura Fry, secretary; Rebecca Reavis, treasurer; Teresa Williams, parliamentarian; Jimmy Brinsfield, editor and Litsa Varsamis, advisor. These students placed 1st out of five teams in competition.

Grimsley placed 2nd in the Chapter Display Contest. Many long hours of work went into this project which is shown in the picture above. The display was an original design featuring five gears moving simultaneously. The title of the Display was "VICA Is Geared to Youth" and illustrations depicting the purposes of the organization surrounded the moving gears.

Teresa Williams placed third in the Extemporaneous Speaking Contest. Frank Hassall was a contestant in the Prepared Speech Contest.

Laura Fry and Jimmy Brinsfield were presented gifts of appreciation for serving as District 5 VICA officers this year. Kim Freeman, a rising senior ICT student was elected Secretary of the District for the '73-'74 year. Mr. Charles R. Hill, advisor of the local organization, will serve as District Advisor next year also.

The Opening and Closing Ceremonies Team, The Job Interview Winner, and the Chapter Display will advance to the State Competition which will be held at the North Carolina VICA Convention at Wilmington on April 26-29. These students have high hopes of placing in this state-wide competition.

Torchlight Inducts 34 New Members

Spring inductions for the Grimsley chapter of the National Honor Society were chosen in a special session Wednesday, April 11 in our library.

Thirty four juniors and seniors were invited to become a member of Torchlight. These students were tapped during homeroom Monday. Members of the Honor Society are chosen in a special faculty meeting Friday. The teachers voted on the students, focusing their attention on a student's leadership abilities, academic achievement, character, service.

New senior members of Torchlight are Martha Allgood, Susan Barrier, Carol Burgess, Rodney Coleman, Randy Craven, Buffi Dame, Debbie Dawson, Carolyn Dearing, Laura Evans, Pam Foster and Patti Jacobs. Other seniors tapped this spring are Jane Johnson, Sharon Kronenfield, Stephanie Lanier, Gail Ledbetter, Barbara Loester, Kenneth Ries, Rick Spencer, Tesa Truitt, Jill Vanderfleet, and Rachel Watson.

Thirteen juniors were inducted into Torchlight: Joe Albright, Peter Byrd, Laura Clendenin, Denise Descouzis, Claudia Earle, Donna Gutterman and Alan Irvin. Also invited into membership were Susan Kellenberger, Edwina Ledwell, Glenn MacDonald, Steve Toben, and Wilhlemina Young.

This was one of the largest groups to be inducted into the National Honor Society.

The traditional induction ceremony is divided into sectors according to the qualities of a Torchlight member. The introduction was given by David Morrow, the President of the organization. Other portions of the ceremony were presented by Debby Severs, in the area of service; John Russell in the area of scholarship, John Glass spoke about leadership, and Katherine Oakley addressed the inductees concerning character.

The other Torchlight members clad in their traditional white gowns escorted the new members down the aisle to receive their membership, corsage, and congratulations.

Following the induction ceremony refreshments were served to guests. The faculty advisers for Torchlight are Miss Amy Moore and Mrs. Gail Manahan.
