

Merit Scholarship Semifinalists Selected For 1974

Ten Grimsley students have been selected as Semifinalists in the 1974 National Merit Scholarship Program.

The Semifinalists, Rick Blinkhorn, Dotty Hardee, Steve Herr, Newell Highsmith, Kasey Klemer, Rich Lleyellyn, Jane Martinelli, Margaret Parham, Steve Toben, and Nancy Williams are all seniors.

These students are part of a field of approximately 15,000 Semifinalists. These ten students were the highest scorers on the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT), administered last October.

Individually, they constitute the top one-half of one percent of graduating seniors in the United States and compete for various scholarships available through the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

However, Semifinalists must qualify as finalists in order to be considered for scholarships. To become a Finalist, each Semifinalist must fulfill requirements that include receiving the endorsement of Mr. Glenn, confirming their high PSAT/NMSQT scores on a second examination, and by providing evidence of their academic and other accomplishments.

Every Finalist will be considered for the 1,000 National Merit $1,000 Scholarships, which are allocated on a state basis.

In addition, many of the Finalists will also be considered for renewable four-year Merit Scholarships supported by some 450 corporations, foundations, professional associations, colleges, unions, trusts, and individuals.

Winners of the above scholarships will be announced in April and early May.

Attendance Low, Success Big

Mayor's First Annual Youth Council Held At UNC-G

On Saturday, September 29, at UNC-G's Elliott Center, the first annual Mayor's Youth Council was attended by 205 people.

At most conferences, only the delegates speak and vote. For this conference, the delegates had a much different assignment. In teams of up to six each, they decided on one issue that they felt was of importance to most of the 8,000 senior high youth in Greensboro; then they decided on a survey-type of questions related to the issue, such as "I am in favor of . . ." or "I am against . . ." Afterwards delegates made a display about their statement showing both sides of the issue.

The results of their team work was determined by Greensboro senior high school age youth. Each youth was invited to come to Elliott Center, register at his school's table, receive a ballot listing the issues, tour the display area, mark his ballot—thus casting his or her vote. Many of these booths presented their issue so convincingly that some voters were swayed to the team's opinion.

Music Scholarships Are Offered At Peace College

RALEIGH—Peace College will hold interviews for Peace Honors Scholarships and Peace Music Scholarships this fall. The interviews are open to all qualified senior girls who may be interested in attending Peace College.

Interviews for the Peace Honors Scholarships will be held Saturday, November 17, from 10:00 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. The scholarships are awarded each year to incoming college freshmen on the basis of academic excellence, citizenship and leadership potential.

Scholarships are granted ranging in amount from $400 to

Since the results of the voting were tabulated for City use, the more people that voted, the more accurate the results were. It was also a great opportunity to demonstrate to the City and its citizens that when given an opportunity to express their opinions, Greensboro youth will take advantage of it.

Out of the twenty-two issues, thirteen received 70% or better agreement from the voters. The top vote getter was a booth which proposed that the city government appropriate money to build and operate a plant to recycle aluminum cans and glass bottles.

A proposal to set up a College Counseling Service, which would assist students in choosing the college they should attend, a plan to establish bicycle paths in Greensboro, and a proposal to open some school libraries and gymnasiums during the summer, were also top vote getters.

As a special incentive, a Mayor's Youth Conference Trophy was awarded to the senior high school with the most representation—Page, with 72 students.

$1000. The grants are renewable. For more information about the Honors Scholarship Program or on how to request an application, please write: Miss Carole Tyler, Director of Financial Aid, Peace College, Raleigh, N.C. 27604.

Scholastic Test For Juniors Taken In October

The Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT) is offered this year on Saturday, October 27, at a cost of $3.00 per student, by the College Entrance Examination Board and the National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC).

If he is unfamiliar with timed tests composed of multiple choice questions, the PSAT/NMSQT will give him experience with such tests. It will also give him a good idea of what to expect when he takes the College Board Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), which many colleges and universities require of some or all of their applicants.

Furthermore, taking the PSAT/NMSQT is the first step necessary

"Rent-a-Teen" Free Employment By Youth Council

"Call In," a project of The Greensboro Youth Council, has been renamed "Rent-a-Teen."

"Rent-a-Teen" is a free employment service offered by GYC to make it possible for citizens to have domestic work or odd jobs done by securing the help of local teenagers.

Any teenager, 14-18 years old, who has a telephone number where he can be reached, is eligible for "Rent-a-Teen" jobs.

There is no special training for these jobs, with one exception. On alternate years, the youth council operates a babysitting clinic and a lawn care clinic. All "Rent-a-Teen" workers are notified of these clinics and asked to attend. They are credited for their experience on their registrations cards and are given top priority on calls from citizens.

In order to apply for "Rent-a-Teen" work, teens must come to the GYC office, 419 Bagley Street (Curb Market Building) to fill out an application form and have an interview with the coordinator. Office hours are 4-6 p.m. on Thursday and Friday.
