National Honor Society Inducts New Members

The Torchlight Chapter of the National Honor Society inducted forty-two new members this past Tuesday, April 30, in the Grimsley Media Center.

Juniors were Cindy Bray, Alice Browder, Kiran Chopra, Ann Colvard, Neil Dunnavant, Amy Fickling, Clif Flynn, Greg Hall, Mike Hyman, Amy Leung, Doug Newbould, Cindy Osborne, Carol Pearce, Ann Pendergraph, Bill Silkworth, Andy Sink, Beverly Sizemore, Kevin Spangler, and Marty Steele.

In order to be eligible for membership in Torchlight, a student must have a 3.4 grade average and be recommended by members of the faculty.

The ceremony began with Steve Toben's giving an explanation of the National Honor Society. Then, Denise Descouzis read the charter of the Torchlight Chapter. Rich Llewellyn, accompanied by Susan Overton, sang a solo of "Ave Maria." Special guests were then introduced by V. P. Peter Byrd. The guests included Miss Sara Mims and Mrs. Mary Madlin, former advisors of Torchlight; Mr. Charles W. Phillips, principal from 1925 to 1933; Dr. E. J. McSwain, principal from 1933 to 1934; Mr. A. P. Routh, principal from 1934 to 1969; and R. L. Glenn, principal since 1969.

The five qualities of the National Honor Society were then discussed — knowledge, scholarship, service, leadership, and character.

Steve Toben talked on the importance of knowledge and lit the candle symbolizing it. Other National Honor Society members lit their candles symbolizing the other qualities from the knowledge candle—Peter Byrd, Scholarship; Jane Martinelli, Service; Dorothy Hardee, Leadership; and Jim Osborne, Character.

The Grimsley's Girls' Madrigals, under the leadership of Marta Force, provided the background music as the new members received their official member cards.

UNC-G Offers Summer School Courses

Rising juniors and seniors in high school can get an early start on their college degree at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro again this summer.

Dr. Joseph E. Johnson, director of Summer Session at UNC-G, said rising high school juniors and seniors recommended by their principal or school counselor will be admitted to the UNC-G Summer Session as visiting students.

"Any course credits they earn will be put in a bank, in a sense," explained Dr. Johnson. "These credits can later be applied toward their degree requirements if they subsequently decide to enroll at UNC-G on a

NEWS BRIEFS

The 1974 Junior-Senior Prom will be held on May 18, 1974, from 8:00 until 12:00 in the boys' gym. Sponsored by the Junior Class, the prom will cost $5 per couple. Tickets are being sold in the school store before school and at both lunch periods. Photographers will be present at the prom to take pictures. Working with the theme of "Moonlight and Roses," Jerry Swartzburg heads the committee consisting of Janice Brown, Carol Brown, Hunter Dockery, Leigh Williams, Lisa Brown, and Holly Jeffus.

The last opportunity to take the SAT's for the 1974 school year will be Saturday, June 22. Application blanks can be picked-up in the guidance office. The next test late is November so this is the Seniors' last chance.

Congratulations to Wes Payne for placing second in the State Math Contest. Also, congratulations to Terry Reitzel for earning the National Scholastic Art Award.

Senior Awards Assembly will be at 11:00 on May 31 (Class Day). After the assembly, where caps and gowns are required, Seniors will be excused for the remainder of the day.

Recently, HIGH LIFE was awarded a Second Class Rating in the National Scholastic Press Association Competition.

full-time basis after graduating from high school."

UNC-G's first term of summer school will open May 28 and continue through July 3. The second term will open July 8 and run through Aug. 9. Registration dates are May 27 and July 3, respectively.

Rising juniors and seniors in high school who are interested in the program can obtain further information by contacting the Summer Session Office at UNC-G. To register, students need to make application to the UNC-G Summer Session Office prior to the registration date. Such students will need a transcript of their grades and a letter from their high school principal or school counselor.

The tuition and academic fee for each term is $59 for residents of North Carolina and $372 for non-residents. In addition to the tuition and academic fee, all students are required to pay a health service fee of $6.50 and a Student Union Building fee of $4. This would run the total for in-state students to $69.50 and the total for out-of-state students to $382.50 per term.

While the first term of summer school may be starting a few days before some public school systems complete their year, it should be noted that evening courses provide another option for the young students. During the second term of summer school, rising juniors and seniors in high school will be permitted to register for selected courses in the following areas: art, anthropology, chemistry, drama, economics, English, French, geography, German, history, math, philosophy physics, political science, psychology, sociology, and Spanish.

Sophomore Reigns As Mr. Grimsley: Kennett Crowned

"There he is—Mr. Grimsley!" Competing against other Grimsley males, sophomore David Kennett received the honor of being crowned "Mr. Grimsley for 1974." David was sponsored by the Sophomore Council and won the competition by dancing on spring shoes to "Sixteen Going on Seventeen." Along with the Mr. Grimsley title, David was also voted "Mr. Congeniality" for his attitude throughout the pageant.

The nine other Grimsley men in competition were Wes Payne, John Bandy, Ken Schmalenberger, Mike Shaver, Jim Jones, Jeff Silvers, Hunter Dockery, Andrew Sutton, and Dubby Evans.

The competition consisted of first introducing the contestants. Then, came the bathing suit competition where all the men got to show off their muscles. After that the participants displayed their talents to the judges and audience.

Wes "Pickin'" Payne, accompanied by the Buffalo Creek Boys, played his banjo; "Lucky John Bandy and "Shy" Ken Schmalenberger sang and acted out the song "Rubber Ducky."

Grimsley Students Chosen For Jr. City Council

On May 14, the 1974 Junior City Council held its annual "mock" city council meeting.

This educational experience began when city high school social studies classes were asked to send two representatives to a Saturday workshop, which was held on April 27.

From among eighty students who attended the workshop, thirty-one received positions in the program.

The students with the highest quiz scores on city government at the end of the workshop became the Junior City Council for 1974. Of those persons receiving a position, eighteen came from Grimsley.

This year's Mayor and Mayor Pro-tem were both from Page, but the remainder of the positions went to Grimsley students. The actual council positions were held by senior Wallace Fox, a repeat of last year, and juniors David Adams, Chuck Alston, Belinda Folk, and Susan Sparks.

Relations Week Sponsored By Student Affairs

April 29 through May 4 was a week of concentrated effort towards improved student-teacher relations at Grimsley. Student-Teacher Relations Week was laced with activities sponsored by the Student Affairs Committee and aimed at this improvement.

Among the activities was a student-volleyball game on Wednesday, which was won by the students. On Monday, students and teachers were invited to relate to one another while eating their lunch on the school lawn.

On Thursday there was a Student Leadership Day. Jeff Silvers filled Mr. Glenn's position as principal and Ginny Shimer "was" Mr. Ballance, while Carol Shelton "was" Mr. Gwynn. For the other office jobs the regular student-help replaced the staff since they already knew the jobs from working with them. In most classes, a student was either selected by the teacher or elected by the class to act as a teacher. Throughout the week, some teachers also held open class discussions.

Mr. Gwynn and Dana Melvin, the chairman for the Student Affairs Committee, expressed similar feelings on the project. Mr. Gwynn explained that the success of this week could not be measured in terms of the school as a whole, but rather it must be looked at in terms of individual relationships.

Jeff Silver, Ginny Shimer, and Carol Shelton serve roles during Student-Teacher Relations Week.
