Summer School, Jobs Provide Outlets For Student Interest

With summer upon us some have to take "Summer School." The schedule is registration on June 12, at 8:30 in the auditorium. First day of class is June 13. Classes will be held six days a week for six weeks, making the last class day July 14. The cost is $25 per subject.

If you're not taking "Summer School," then you'll possibly consider a job. The Voluntary Action Center has an answer to your problem. If you like children or are athletic, artistic, or clerically inclined, then you can have something to do this summer. For more information, you can pick up a sheet in the Guidance Office or call or write The Voluntary Action Center, 1301 N. Elm St., Phone 273-3691.

Grimsley Students Participate In State Choral Festival

On May 9 and 10 at the Aycock Auditorium 16 Grimsley students participated in the State Choral Festival and Concert. Sopranos were Carolyn Jack, Susie McDaid, Kim Westergaard, Ginger Steel, and Pat Chappel. Altos were Lois Lann, Ann Creech, Joan Wooten, and Brenda Ennis. Tenors were Tom Ralls, Nathan Sikes, Greg Shoffner, Rich Llewellyn, Rod Stilwell. Bases were Edwin Battle, and Peter Byrd. Grimsley's director was Miss Force.

Dr. Clair T. McElfresh was the guest conductor and accompanist was Smith's High School Director, David Pegg.

The program consisted of a number of selections including "O Jesus Christ," "My Life and Light," "Kyrie Eleison," "May God Smile On You," "Now I Lay Me Down To Sleep," "Swing Low Sweet Chariot," "Healin' River," and "It's My Day."

Any choral director in the state who teaches on the senior high level and who is a member of the NCMEA could apply for an allotment of the students to be selected for participation in this annual event. The Chorus was limited to 500 singers.

New Program To Be Enacted At Grimsley High

"A new way of expressing the old ideas in a way to make learning a more profitable experience" is one idea of a new teaching method to be tried at Grimsley next year.

The new program, which as yet has no name, incorporates ideas from Glasser and other similar programs.

"We don't have an exact idea of what the program is like, but it has several new ideas, which should help the students learn," remarked Miss Tamblyn. "It probably will not have a pass-fail system, though."

All students and teachers will be involved in the new program, and it is hoped that this will prove a precedent for the future, not just a one-year program.

Meetings for the development of this program are to be held this summer. Students are invited to attend but only for actual planning. "These (the meetings) are not walk-in, walk-out affairs. But, if anyone is serious about helping, by all means come."

Areas to be discussed at the meetings concern the most effective techniques and how to use these ideas best.

The materials to be covered are identical to the ones used now; however, the teaching methods might be changed.

"We hope the students will benefit from this and that this will be a worthwhile endeavor," reported Miss Tamblyn.

Cheerleaders Chosen To Boost School Spirit For 1974-'75 Season

On May 25, tryouts were held for the 1974-1975 cheerleading squad. There were thirty people to try out, among whom were five guys.

The girls did a required cheer, two dances, an optional cheer, various jumps, a cartwheel, split, and two stunts with the guys.

The guys performed stunts with their partner, a tumbling routine and a cheer. They will also have uniforms and will be considered a regular part of the squad. School spirit should really pick up next year with the addition of males to the GHS cheering squad.

There will also be tryouts for the junior varsity cheerleaders who will be picked from incoming sophomores. All of the present junior varsity cheerleaders tried out for the varsity squad
