Olsen, Newton Lead Whirlies To High IQ Bowl Championship

"Time" was called at the seventeenth annual High IQ competition, and the Grimsley High IQ team, with very strong play by Conrad Newton and Steve Olson, captured first place for the first time since 1971, by defeating Jamestown Ragsdale 259 to 127.

"It got to the point where we could do no wrong," commented Coach Bert Whisenant about his team's victory. Conrad Newton answered nine toss-ups correctly, while Steve Olson contributed four correct toss-up answers to set a new competition record of most points scored in a single match.

Math Contest

Simpson First In District

Grimsley's math team, outdistancing the Chapel Hill team's 87 points, in the competition sponsored by the State Department and the N.C. Council of Teachers of Mathematics.

The team, consisting of Brian Simpson, Mark Indermaur, Conrad Newton, and Steve Olson, got 101 points of a possible 140, easily

The test was made up of 35 questions in geometry, algebra, logic, and other math areas. Simpson took first in the individual contest Olson took third, and Indermaur captured fourth.

Spring Brings GGO

The color and the liveliness of Spring brought with them one of Greensboro's most popular annual events, the Greater Greensboro Open golf tournament.

This year during the week of March 31 - April 6, approximately 144 golfers teed off in the 1980 GGO held at Forest Oaks Country Club. As in the past, the favorite attraction for most students is the beginning pro-am day. Wednesday, after the first two practice rounds were completed, a few pros and celebrities alike played for fun and a little money before the real work began on Thursday. GGO officials count on the pro-am day for a large part of the tournament profit, and so far they have not been disappointed by the crowds. Among the fifty-two celebrities participating Wednesday day were Evil Knievel, Ernest Borgnine, Archie Campbell, Fred MacMurray, Jimmy Dean, George "Goober" Lindsay, and many more.

However, there is more work involved than just the golfers' tensions. For the caddies, this tournament holds more work than fun. That is, unless the golfer you caddy for happens to be your husband! Jane and Bob Betley are the PGA's only husband/wife team at the present. Golfing does not usually rely on team work, but in this case it is a must. As Mrs. Betley said, normally a caddy gets five percent and the golfer gets the rest of the profit, but they avoid that split by keeping it all in the family.

Such pros as George Burns, Andy Bean, Miller Barber, Danny Edwards, Bill Kratzert, Sandy Lyle, Tom Purtzer, Curtis Strange, Craig Stadler, and Fuzzy Zoeller competed in final rounds for the overall winnings of $250,000. For these golfers, work it was; but with the beautiful weather this year's GGO may have been the most successful ever.

Moreover, for the winner Craig Stadler, the 1980 GGO tournament proved to be a success.

GHS Students Visit Other Schools

Students from each of the four Greensboro high schools switched places for a day during Student Exchange Day, April 15.

Three Grimsley students from each grade level attended each school, either Page, Dudley, or Smith.

Sophomores attending Dudley were Devon Spaulding, Robin White, and Vera Zvyrtch. Shelly Barker, Karen Tourtellot, and Rob Midget went to Page while Susan Hanhan, Lynn LaRoche, and Trena Burns went to Smith. Sophomore hosts were Larry Schneiderman, David Prago, Nancy Rickards, Karen Coppage, John Suh, Allyson Essa, John Garlock, Theresa West and Ronald Spruill.

Cedric Cokely, Carolyn Gratale, and Eddie Morrah were juniors attending Dudley, while Marcie Louza, Sandy Sillmon, and Beth Byrd went to Smith, and Carol Essa, Mary Fahy, and Tony Turner attended Page. Lee Wlazlo, Katy Clapp, Kelley Ferrell, Barbra Atkinson, Nancy Prudente, Mereth McCreedy, Tommy Grant, Su Ellen Russo, and Amy Derick were hosts.

Senior hosts were Regina Newell, Eugenia Hunt, Jeff Gilbert, Martin Miller, Lee Coyle, Jo Ann Engle, Ken Anderson, Carl Winfield, and Phyllis Tutterow. Amanda Stang, Steve Alston, and Cameron Clegg went to Dudley. Seniors going to Smith and Page were Karen Graham, Jim Kobos, and Debbie Cross, Kim Paul, Lucy Linton, and Tommy Newton.

This year's Exchange Day was organized by the Student School Board Action Group (SSBAG).
