

High Life

Grimsley Senior High School
801 Westover Terrace
Greensboro, NC 27408

Thursday, February 12, 1981

Volume LV, Number 7

Twirp
Dance
Feb. 14

Auditions To Be Held

A twelve-county search is underway for talented teenagers in the Piedmont area to participate in auditions for the 18th annual Talent Awards Show.

The audition winners compete for $1,000 in prize money on March 21 at the 1981 Talent Awards Show held at the Carolina Theater. Registration and auditions will take place at the First Presbyterian Church on the day of the audition. Snow date will be March 7.

The 1981 Talent Awards Show is an annual project of the Greensboro Youth Council and the Knights of Columbus.

For further information on auditions of the show, contact GYC at 373-2173 any weekday afternoon.

Theme For Twirp To Be 'All The Queen's Men'

"All the Queen's Men" will be the theme this Saturday, February 14, for Grimsley's annual Twirp Dance.

* * *

The music of Ampway will be featured from 8:00 p.m. until 12:00 midnight in the auxiliary gym. Tickets are five dollars a couple and three dollars for single.

A dance of past tradition, Twirp's more contemporary title means "The woman is requested to pay." It gives every girl a chance to spend an evening with "the man of her dreams."

A more recent addition to Grimsley's version of the "Sadie Hawkins" idea is the Twirp Court. Ten Grimsley seniors, voted upon by senior homerooms, make up the court. One of the ten will be honored as Twirp King with two others serving as his Dukes.

"I hope this year's Twirp Court is taken more seriously," said Amy Anderson, student coordinator for this year's dance. "Last year it was not taken as seriously as anticipated. I hope it becomes as important as Homecoming Court," she continued.

Members of this year's Twirp Court are Marty Blackmon, Felandis Brunson, Diaz Chavis, Kevin Cooper, Teska Dillard, David Dockery, Doug Evans, Phil Foster, Glenn Gorham, and Joe Pagani.

Campus Happenings In Brief

All State

Six Grimsley students have been selected to participate in the 1981 N.C. Western Regional Honors Orchestra. The participants are Anne Marie Treadway, 1st violin; Hoyt Tong, 2nd violin; Barbi Prillaman and Paul Smith, cello; James Jones, bass; and Odell Shofner, percussion. These students will perform with the Honors Orchestra in early March.

In Full Flight

Today and tomorrow are the last two days to order a subscription to the 1980-81 edition of the literary magazine In Full Flight.

Copies can be ordered through English classes during these two days for a mere price of $1.00.

Weaver Fair

The third annual Educational Fair was held February 5 at Weaver Center.

Designed to inform the public about the facilities available at Weaver and their uses, the Educational Fair featured such exhibits as photography displays, mime shows, and demonstrations of Weaver's printing and welding facilities.

High IQ Team Places Fifth; Earns Berth In Finals

In an effort to repeat last year's championship performance, Grimsley again placed in the top eight teams to compete in the finals of the High IQ Bowl. The five-member team placed fifth in preliminaries held at A&T State University on February 6.

Qualifying for the finals was the culmination of weeks of work by Coach Bert Whisenant, attester Peter Hildebrandt, and the five member team: Craig Fleishman, Lisa Goldman, Mark Langston, Captain Bill Meyerhoffer, and Ira Sheldon. Grimsley's team scored 766 points Saturday, not quite equalling last year's effort. (The 1980 Grimsley team set a record for most points scored in preliminary competition.)

The reputation established by last year's first place team seems to have provided incentive rather than pressure for the team. Hildebrandt, comparing the team's progress with that last year before the preliminaries, said, "As far as we can tell, we're doing better than they were at this time last year."

The Grimsley team attended a mock round on Wednesday, February 11, to become acquainted with the procedure for televised competition. Competing in the mock round were ninth-and tenth-place finishers Dudley and Southeast Guilford. Grimsley's first competition will be against Ragsdale on February 25.

In order, according to point totals, the qualifying teams are Reynolds (Winston-Salem), North

Davidson (Lexington), Ashboro, Ragsdale, Grimsley, Western Guilford, Burlington Williams, and Page.

Members of the 1981 High IQ team take a break between practice sessions. l-r: Craig Fleishman, Ira Sheldon, Peter Hildebrandt, Lisa Goldman, Coach Burt Whisenant, Bill Meyerhoffer, and Mark Langston. (Sykes photo)

Shown above is the 1981 Twirp Court. Back row (l-r): Kevin Cooper, Felandis Brunson, Phil Foster, Teska Dillard. Front row (l-r): David Dockery, Glenn Gorham, Doug Evans, Marty Blackmon, and Joe Pagani. Not pictured is Diaz Chavis. (Sykes photo)

'King And I' Planned As City-Wide Presentation

According to participants, The King and I will be the most spectacular production that high school drama students in the Greensboro City School System have ever presented.

The idea for this extravaganza was proposed by Mr. Daniel Seaman, head of the Dudley Drama Department and teacher of Repertoire Theatre at Weaver Center.

This is the first production that is truly city-wide; although it is not the first time such a plan has been tried. The reason this production is expected to be so successful is that there will be five full-time faculty members participating, each having a certain job, with Mr. Mike Parrish, head of the Drama Department at Weaver, directing. Each will be working hard to achieve their goal of perfection in each separate aspect of the production.

The students will rehearse for ten weeks before opening night. Out of the 115 participating students, the largest number, 35, is contributed by Grimsley.