With Hearts In Her Eyes

By Cameron Reece

With hearts in her eyes each girl walks down the hall,
Wrapped up in a dream of someone dark, handsome, and tall.
The guys nonchalant pretend not to know.
It's the day when ol' cupid sets out with his bow.
His arrow will glide down the hall through the rush
And capture two hearts heaving them with a crush.
This day he has chosen to remind us of love,
A time to share with that someone we think the most of.
The passion he's spreading is not just for this day,
It's found in every heart, every mind, everyday.
But ol' cupid, so sly with his bow as he's striking,
chooses this day to tell every "him" who she's liking.
So he sends her candy when she really wants roses,
And she gives it to her brother While she loved it, he supposes.
Still it's the thought that counts in any gift of love,
Whether it's Valentines or not, it's always them you think of.

Emily: Bench! Thanks for always being there when I needed you! You helped me through RS's class and I finally made it! Good luck with the older men and I'll help you all I can! HUD! Love, Mecia.

To Judy, Kelly, Amy, and Nancy: Thanks for being there! To Jennifer: I'd rather be in Chapel Hill and to future family get-togethers? To ES: Thanks for being a friend! AMI.

GAP: If I could say "I Love You" to anyone in the world, then it would surely be you. But, not knowing its meaning, I'd rather say "I'd Love To Love You, Baby!" HVD. and. . .thanks for walking back into my life. LMB.

To Skinny Dippers, Emily, Bonnie, Catherine, & rollin'

LOVE YOU!
